Don and Linda Carter

DONALD CARTER
Owner/President

In 1980, when investors were dropping out of Norm Sonju's expansion team ownership group, Donald Carter stepped in to provide the financial support needed to make the Dallas Mavericks a reality.

In August 1991, Carter saved the Dallas Sidekicks and perhaps the Major Soccer League, after reading of the team's imminent demise in a newspaper while on business in Fayetteville, N.C.

"I got back in with the Sidekicks because of my feelings for people and my support of (Sidekicks coach and managing general partner) Gordon Jago," said Carter, who owned the Sidekicks from 1984-86. "Just like with Norm 12 years ago, it was pure emotion, not a business decision. Plus, it would be great for the city of Dallas to get World Cup soccer games in 1994 and what kind of message would we be sending if our team folded?"

No wonder a local sportscaster recently described Carter as having, "deep pockets and a big heart." Put the emphasis on the big heart.

Donald J. Carter is the president of Home Interiors & Gifts, Inc., which owns HI Service Enterprises, Inc., the parent company of the Dallas Mavericks. Carter has long said, "The club belongs to the people who fill the seats, read the papers, watch TV, buy the advertising. They're all part of the Mavericks family."

And the Carter family, which includes Linda, his wife of over 31 years, their children and five grandchildren. The 39,000 Home Interiors & Gifts employees and displayers are also part of the family.

Sonju, who as the club's chief operating officer/general manager has worked with Carter since 1979, offers insight into the Carters by relating the following story: "After lots of probing I found out that last year during the Christmas season, Don took the $39,000 which had been allocated by Home Interiors & Gifts for employee and displayer Christmas cards, and used the money to purchase toys and gifts for thousands of disadvantaged children and orphans in Costa Rica and Nicaragua. Don, accompanied by his sons Joey and Ronnie, piloted his own plane down to Central America to build a school and personally deliver the gifts. It's not just that he provides support, he's there.

"There are lots of stories like that one, many of them involving disadvantaged people and groups Don has helped in Dallas, but you never hear about them firsthand from Don.

"And no matter where he is, he's always vitally interested in the Mavericks. Even while in Central America, he was able to catch one of our games on TV by going many miles down river in a dug-out canoe to a fishing camp which happened to have a satellite dish. I continually am amazed at the varied number of business and philanthropic interests that Mr. C. pursues. But as busy as Don is, he keeps his priorities in order."

Born July 5, 1933 in Fayetteville, Ark., Carter was raised in Dallas.

In a way, it makes perfect sense that Carter would one day own a pro sports franchise. After all, he got his first lessons in free enterprise by selling peanuts and programs at the Cotton Bowl and SMU's Moody Coliseum.

Carter's interest in basketball started when he met Linda, a former high school basketball player. "To get a second date I had to go to a basketball tournament in Duncanville (Texas)," Carter recalls. "I married her six weeks later and that was over 31 glorious years ago. Today, she's a very successful banker." Linda Carter is chairman of the board of 1st Coppell Bank of Coppell, one of the fastest-growing and most profitable banks of its size in Dallas/Fort Worth.

Carter, who as a boy was a "Little Brother" in the Dallas Big Brothers program, is committed to helping young people. He credits much of his success to the positive influence and discipline he received through the Boys Club and Big Brothers.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes, the Lena Pope Home, the Youth for Tomorrow Foundation, the YMCA and the Boy Scouts of America are among the many organizations he supports.

The Carters are fans of all of Dallas' pro sports teams. When the Mavericks season ends, Don and his family may be found enjoying the action at the Mesquite Championship Rodeo on many weekends. They also enjoy spending time on their 60-foot motor yacht, "The Lady C."

NORM SONJU
Chief Operating Officer/ General Manager

Norm Sonju

Norm Sonju, who in 1979 directed the Mavericks expansion drive, is responsible for the overall operation of the club.

"This year we're faced with a double challenge," Sonju begins. "The first challenge is to get the team back to where we felt it should have been last year prior to the injuries. We're looking forward to the addition of Doug Smith to shore up our frontcourt, plus the return of Fat Lever to the backcourt. The second challenge is to stay focused on the big picture and not let setbacks keep us from pursuing our goals."

After adding a $5 million Sony Jumbotron scoreboard and upgrading the message boards throughout the arena in 1990, more improvements were made for the '91-92 season.

"We're pleased to continue to work with the City of Dallas to make Reunion Arena a fun place to see basketball games," Sonju said. "The concourse has been refurbished, the sound system upgraded, and we've been able to add 495 seats on the lower level where demand has been great."

The Mavericks have averaged better than 98 percent of Reunion Arena's capacity in each of the last seven seasons. Dallas ranked seventh in NBA attendance last year, and each of the six teams ahead of the Mavericks play in larger arenas. Consistent with Sonju's policy of making Mavericks games available to all fans, season ticket sales are cut off at 14,000 seats and a block of tickets is placed on sale one week in advance of each home game. The Mavericks continue to price some upper end tickets at $5, the same price as the club's first season.

Sonju served on the NBA expansion committee and was regularly consulted by the four expansion teams which entered the NBA in 1988 and 1989. In October 1988 the Charlotte Hornets presented Sonju with a personalized Hornets game jersey at their first home preseason game in recognition for his support of their efforts to bring the NBA to Charlotte.

In February 1989 Sonju was presented with the Drug Enforcement Agency's local Administrator of the Year Award for his support of drug awareness programs. Sonju also was a recipient of the 1988 Father of the Year award, a prestigious local honor.

"My three priorities are my faith in Jesus Christ, my family and the Mavericks," Sonju explains. "That's where my emphasis is."

On the job one of Sonju's main focuses is with serving Mavericks fans. "We ask ourselves, 'How can we make coming to a game more enjoyable?' 'How can we make the team better?' Once the game begins, we really can't control what happens on the court, but we can control what happens off it. We can give our customers a nice show in a clean, wholesome environment. This is a goal we continually strive for."

Sonju was president/general manager of the Buffalo Braves from 1976-78. When that team moved to San Diego as the Clippers, Sonju supervised the start-up of the new operation, then began his quest for an expansion team in Dallas.

Prior to entering the NBA, Sonju was an executive with ServiceMaster Industries, in Downers Grove, Ill. Sonju earned a bachelor's degree at Grinnell (Iowa) College in 1960. In 1967, after a stint in the Air Force, Sonju received a master of business administration degree from the University of Chicago.

For the 28th year last July, Sonju directed the Camp of the Woods basketball clinic in upstate New York's Adirondack Mountains. He founded the clinic in 1963.

Sonju serves on the board of Correct Craft, a Florida boat manufacturing company. He's also involved with several civic and Christian concerns, including the Dallas International Sports Commission, which is chaired by Tom Landry; and Urban Alternative, a weekly Christian radio ministry headed up by Dr. Tony Evans, the Mavericks' chaplain/counselor. Sonju also chairs the annual Christian Leadership Classic, a golf tournament which has raised over $1 million since 1983.

Sonju was born September 30, 1938 in Chicago. He and his wife Carole reside in Dallas with their children, Lynne (5/19/69), a 1991 graduate of Texas A&M, Scott (1/31/72), a sophomore at Texas A&M and David (2/11/77), a ninth-grade student at Shepton H.S. in Plano.

Rick Sund

RICK SUND

Vice President/Basketball Operations

Rick Sund is in his 12th year with the Mavericks and 17th in the NBA. In November 1979, as Norm Sonju's first hire, Sund began preparing for the May 1980 dispersal draft. Today Sund is responsible for the club's basketball administration and is the club's point man on player personnel matters. Sund also spends a significant amount of time on the road evaluating college talent.

"Don (Carter) and I have a lot of confidence in Rick," said Mavericks Chief Operating Officer/General Manager Norm Sonju. "We know that he continues to work hard to get our team back to where we know it should be. With the devastating injuries we had last season, the team was not able to come close to reaching our expectations. Last year was tough, but Rick is resilient. He also has a great gift of being able to communicate."

Sund, 40, spent five years on the Milwaukee Bucks staff after earning a master's degree in sports administration from Ohio U. in 1974. In 1973 he received a bachelor's degree in political science from Northwestern, where he averaged double figures as a 6-4 guard. The '71 Wildcats MVP twice made the Big Ten all-academic team, and as a senior saw some action as tight end on the NU football squad.

Richard Walker Sund was born on June 4, 1951 in Elgin, Ill. He is a member of that Chicago suburb's Hall of Fame. Sund represents the Mavericks on the NBA Rules & Competition Committee and serves as spokesman for Jeep/Eagle. Sund has completed the Dallas White Rock Marathon in each of the last two years and last June completed his first triathlon.

Sund, who is also an avid golfer, and his wife Lea reside in Dallas with their children Hali (4/10/83) and Patrick (6/27/86).

Doug Adkins

DOUG ADKINS

Vice President/Counsel

Vice President/Counsel Doug Adkins has been practicing law in Dallas since 1963 and has served as the Mavericks' VP/Counsel since the club's inception in 1980.

He's a partner in the law firm of Gardere & Wynne, where he has served on the management committee and as chairman of the private business section. His practice emphasizes the representation of entrepreneurs, direct sales companies, professional sports organizations, and FDIC/RTC related financial institutions.

Adkins advises the club on all legal matters, including the drafting of advertising, television and league agreements as well as player contracts.

"Doug continues to be invaluable as a support to me personally as well as to the Mavericks in so many areas," says Sonju. "He's a good sounding board and counselor as well as a very competent attorney. We feel blessed to have his support during so many of the tricky situations we have faced. I appreciate his ability to take very complicated matters and make them such that we laymen get a good grasp as well. It's a rare trait and Doug is a real pro at it."

Adkins is one of the founders of Pro Basketball Fellowship, an NBA-wide chapel organization. He's a member of the board of directors of Home Interiors & Gifts, Inc., 1st Coppell Bank and several other client-related corporations. Adkins also serves on the board of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes in Dallas. He previously served as chairman of the board of trustees of Dallas Baptist University and continues to serve on the boards of several non-profit corporations.

A native of Shreveport, La., Adkins graduated with highest honors from the University of Southwestern Louisiana in 1960 with a degree in geology. He earned his law degree with highest honors from the Tulane School of Law three years later.

A deacon at First Baptist Church, Adkins and his wife Carole reside in Dallas. They have two children: daughter Mindy, who is married to former SMU basketball standout David Piehler; and son Greg, a college student.

Richie Adubato

RICHIE ADUBATO

Head Coach

The third head coach in Mavericks history, Richie Adubato joined the club on July 25, 1986 as an assistant coach under Dick Motta. He was elevated to his current position following the dismissal of John MacLeod on Nov. 29, 1989. Adubato was named head coach on a permanent basis on April 22, 1990. The 1991-92 season will be Adubato's sixth in Dallas and 14th in the NBA.

After guiding the Mavericks to a 42-29 (.592) finish in 1989-90, Adubato spent his first full season as Mavericks head coach battling a rash of injuries that resulted in Dallas losing a club-record 199 player-games to injury and illness (197 of those player-games were lost to members of what would have been Dallas' top nine player rotation). As a result, for the first time since Adubato joined the Mavericks, Dallas last season failed to better its defensive average of the season before, allowing 104.5 ppg (12th in the NBA). Prior to last season, the Mavericks had broken the club defense record three-straight seasons (culminating in a club record-low 102.2 ppg in 1989-90, fourth-lowest in the NBA). In 1985-86, the year before Adubato came aboard, the Mavericks ranked 21st among 23 teams, allowing 114.2 ppg.

"We're looking forward to Richie having the opportunity to coach the full Mavericks team for an entire season," said Mavericks Chief Operating Officer/General Manager Norm Sonju. "It's tough trying to adjust without so many of the important ingredients. We believe that with the return of Fat Lever and the addition of Doug Smith to our team, it should make for a much more enjoyable season."

Then-Pistons Head Coach Dick Vitale brought Adubato into the NBA as his top aide in 1978. When Vitale was dismissed 12 games into the 1979-80 season, Adubato was named interim coach.

The next two years Adubato served as a Northeast scout for the Atlanta Hawks before joining the New York Knicks in 1982 as assistant coach under Hubie Brown. Adubato spent four seasons with the Knicks before being hired by the Mavericks in 1986.

In 18 seasons as a head coach at the high school and college levels, Adubato compiled a record of 290-85 (.773). He began his coaching career at the jayvee level in 1960. Adubato, who earned $8 a game as a high school referee in his first three years as a coach, went on to become one of New Jersey's most successful high school coaches. He posted a 76-14 record at Our Lady of the Valley H.S. in Orange, N.J., winning three-straight parochial school titles and the 1964 state championship. From there he was hired as frosh coach at Upsala College in his hometown of East Orange, N.J. After three years at that post (42-8) he was promoted to head coach and recorded a 100-53 mark from 1972-78. His 1976 team won the ECAC Division III title and his '78 club went 19-9, earning the school's first NCAA bid in 20 years.

It was in the New Jersey high school and college ranks that Adubato began his long associations with future college and NBA head coaches Vitale, Brown, Rollie Massimino, Mike Fratello, Jerry Tarkanian, Rick Pitino, Lou Campanelli, Herman Kull, Bob Zuffelato and Ron Rothstein. Current NBA assistant coaches Brendan Suhr (Detroit) and Brian Hill (Orlando) were also part of that circle.

"Ronnie Rothstein (former head coach of the Miami Heat) was my assistant at Upsala," Adubato recalls. "When we were washing uniforms at a laundromat in the middle of the night during a snowstorm in Pennsylvania, I said to him, 'Do you think John Wooden has to do this?' The NBA was the farthest thing from our minds. I'm glad things turned out the way they did."

Said Sonju: "Richie somehow knows every player in the NBA, not only from college, but also from junior high, usually somewhere in New Jersey. I'm convinced that any player who's played east of the Mississippi at any time in his life, has come across Richie in a basketball setting. Seriously, Richie does have a great basketball pedigree."

Richard Adam Adubato was born on November 23, 1937. He earned both undergraduate and graduate degrees as well as some doctoral credits in administration from William Paterson (N.J.) College where he captained both the baseball and basketball teams. Adubato, who was recently inducted into the William Paterson Hall of Fame, was a standout first baseman on the 1959 team which won the NAIA world series. Stan Musial was Adubato's boyhood idol.

On July 25, 1989 Adubato married the former Carol Begerow in Italy, Texas. Richie suggested the location after he and Carole were unsuccessful in their attempts to get married in Rome, Italy while they were there for one of Richie's basketball clinics.

Unlike many of his coaching brethren, Adubato does not enjoy golf. "I got stung by a bee the first time I played," Adubato says. "But I used to be great at miniature golf. I can't putt unless there's a windmill in front of the hole." Adubato does enjoy tennis, Broadway shows and shopping for neckties.

Adubato has three children: Beth (4/13/61), Scott (3/11/64) and Adam (12/27/90). Adubato became a grandfather in the summer of 1990 when Beth and her husband, Eric Hoffmaster, became the parents of a daughter, Alegra Susan. Scott, a former standout at Upsala, was the Sacramento Kings' seventh-round draft choice in 1987. Scott, who was an assistant coach at Old Dominion in 1990-91, spent this past summer as head coach of the Suncoast Sunblasters of the USBL.

GAR HEARD
Assistant Coach

Gar Heard

Gar Heard, a veteran of 11 NBA seasons as a player, is in his fifth year as a Mavericks assistant coach. Heard joined the Mavericks as an aide to John MacLeod on August 21, 1987. Heard worked alongside Richie Adubato for two seasons before Adubato was promoted to head coach on Nov. 29, 1989.

"After four years on our staff, Gar has certainly developed an understanding of our program," said Mavericks Head Coach Richie Adubato. "He has improved his understanding of defense. He does an excellent job recognizing the opponents' substitution patterns and match-ups."

Heard served as a volunteer assistant coach under Bob Weinhauer at Arizona State in 1982-83. Also on that staff was former Chicago Bulls Head Coach Doug Collins. After his year at ASU, Heard went into the commercial real estate business in the Phoenix area. "After my year at ASU I knew I wanted to get back into coaching," Heard said.

Heard came into the NBA as Seattle's third-round draft choice out of Oklahoma in 1970. He played on seven playoff teams in his 11 seasons while making NBA stops in Chicago ('72-73), Buffalo ('73-75), Phoenix ('76-79) and San Diego ('80-81). Heard played for four of the NBA's nine winningest all-time coaches: Lenny Wilkens, Dick Motta, Jack Ramsay and John MacLeod. A 6-6, 219-pound forward, Heard compiled lifetime averages of 8.7 ppg and 7.5 rpg. His best season was 1973-74 in Buffalo when he averaged 15.3 ppg and 11.7 rebounds (9th in NBA). He was known for his high-arcing jumper and his long-armed defensive abilities.

With 36 games left in the 1975-76 season, the last place Suns traded John Shumate to Buffalo for Heard, who went on to lead the Suns to a playoff berth. In the conference finals against Golden State, Heard preserved the Suns' 105-104 Game Six victory by blocking a Jamaal Wilkes shot at the buzzer. In the classic Game Five at Boston in the Finals, Heard sent the game into its third overtime with the "shot Heard 'round the world" — an 18-foot jumper with one second left. Boston won in triple overtime, 128-126, as Heard played 61 of the 63 minutes.

Heard, who is a cousin of veteran NBA guard Derek Smith, was born May 3, 1948 at Hogansville, Ga. He has two children: daughter Yaasmeen (1/21/78) and son Gyasi (8/16/79).

BOB ZUFFELATO
Assistant Coach

Bob Zuffelato

Bob Zuffelato, in his second season as a member of the Mavericks coaching staff, joined the club on June 18, 1990 after serving as an assistant coach with the Minnesota Timberwolves in 1989-90.

Zuffelato, born Nov. 26, 1937, joined the Timberwolves as an assistant under Bill Musselman in September 1989 after two seasons as director of player personnel for the Milwaukee Bucks. His 28-year basketball career includes seven NBA seasons: one in Minnesota, two with the Bucks and three as an assistant coach to John Bach with the Golden State Warriors from 1983-1986. After leaving the Warriors, Zuffelato spent a year as an associate of Boston-based sports attorney Bob Wolff, working in the area of client relations.

"Bob is a highly organized and experienced coach and a good teacher," said Mavericks Head Coach Richie Adubato. "He does a good job teaching in practice. He is excellent at reviewing films and preparing an offense and defense."

Prior to beginning his NBA career, Zuffelato compiled a 160-121 (.569) record in 10 years as a college head coach at Boston College (six seasons) and Marshall University (four seasons).

In 1969 he accepted the assistant coach position at Boston College under Chuck Daly. He succeeded Daly as head coach in 1971, going 89-80 in six seasons. In 1977 he joined Marshall as associate head coach before taking over the program in 1979, posting a 71-41 record in four years.

A native of Torrington, Conn., Zuffelato played college ball at Central Connecticut State. He began his coaching career in 1959 as the assistant freshman coach at Michigan. From there he coached at the high school level until 1966. After two seasons as an assistant coach at Hofstra and one at Central Connecticut State, Zuffelato joined Daly's staff at Boston College.

Zuffelato and his wife Donna reside in Carrollton. They have three sons: Scott (12/11/61), who is the athletic marketing director at the University of Connecticut, Glen (1/1/66), a sales representative for a wire manufacturer, and Greg (7/26/70), a junior basketball scholarship player at Fresno Pacific College.

Clifford Ray

CLIFFORD RAY

Special Assignment Coach

Clifford Ray, a 10-year NBA veteran, works with the Mavericks centers and forwards in his part-time role as special assignment coach. Ray initially joined the Mavericks staff to work with the club's big men in the 1987 training camp. Ray has a full-time position at the Service Industries Gym, the Mavericks' practice facility.

Ray averaged 7.4 ppg and 8.9 rpg in 10 seasons with Chicago and Golden State. He turned in his best season in 1973-74 with Chicago, averaging 9.3 ppg and 12.2 rpg. Ray, who completed his career in 1980-81, played on four 50-plus win teams and was the starting center on the Warriors' 1974-75 championship team. He played college ball at Oklahoma under former Mavericks head coach John MacLeod.

Ray was born January 21, 1949 at Union, S.C. He enjoys fishing ("I hope to be on the pro bass tour by the time I'm 55.") and cooking. He has played in the Schick Legends Classic on All-Star Saturday each of the last four years. Single, Ray resides in Dallas.

Keith Grant

KEITH GRANT

Director of Scouting

RINGTHEBELL.ZI on Archive.org

Keith Grant, who scouts college talent as well as upcoming opponents for the Mavericks, is in his 12th year with the club. In 1990, Grant's responsibilities were expanded to include coordinating all scouting assignments. Regional scouts Richie O'Connor (east), Dick Baker (west), Ron Ekker (midwest) and Tom Netzel (midwest) report to Grant.

"Keith is a well respected scout in the NBA, not only as an evaluator of college players, but also for his advance pro scouting," said Vice President/Basketball Operations Rick Sund. "He's one of the hardest working executives in the NBA."

Grant, who in 1980 was hired as the Mavericks' first equipment manager, is the perfect example of Norm Sonju's business philosophy of promoting from within. Grant was elevated to the position of administrative assistant/scout in 1984. After two years as a college scout, his duties were expanded to include advance pro scouting prior to 1986-87. He contributes to the coaches' pre-game scouting reports and is responsible for assembling the Mavericks vast videotape library.

Grant began his career in sports at the age of 12 as a bat boy for the Oklahoma City 89ers AAA baseball team. He spent 12 years with the 89ers manning various positions.

Grant, who was born on January 3, 1958, earned his bachelor's degree in business from Oklahoma City University in 1980. He played four years of varsity baseball there and also spent three years in various capacities with the basketball staff.

Grant, who served as the Arlington Stadium organist from 1982-84, is an avid baseball fan and golfer. He and his wife Nancy live in Carrollton with their daughters, Jennifer (11/17/87) and Melissa (6/16/88).

DID YOU KNOW?

Richie Adubato's father, Adam Adubato, was a scout for the Cincinnati Reds in the 1950s. "He's a big baseball man," says Richie. "He's learned a little bit about basketball watching my teams all these years, but my mother is a basketball authority. She watches a lot of basketball on TV." Adam rates Joe DiMaggio as "the best player I ever saw." . . . each day James Donaldson takes 100 vitamins or supplements . . . Philadelphia GM Gene Shue played and coached in 2,460 NBA games, a record.

Trainer

Doug Atkinson

Doug Atkinson, the only trainer the Mavericks have ever had, returns for his 12th year as the man responsible for the health and fitness of the Mavericks. The 1991-92 season is Atkinson's 21st in professional sports. Atkinson's emphasis on cardiovascular conditioning and pre- and post-practice stretching is at least partly responsible for the club's lack of nagging muscle pulls and strains over the years. Atkinson was named trainer of the West All-Stars in 1981 and 1986.

Before coming to Dallas, Atkinson spent five years as Chicago Bulls trainer and had previous experience with baseball's Dodgers and Angels.

He has never missed a game in 16 NBA seasons - that's 1,312 games and counting entering '91-92. Atkinson is responsible for making the club's travel arrangements and also worked closely in the designing of the Mavericks first-class locker room and training facilities.

Born Feb. 17, 1949 at Vicksburg, Miss., Atkinson grew up in Longview, Texas. He earned a bachelor's degree and two advanced degrees from Texas-El Paso. While with the Bulls, Atkinson was an instructor at Northwestern University Medical School's Sports Medicine Center. Atkinson, an avid reader, is a fan of western novels, especially those of the late Louis L'Amour. He's also a rodeo fan and avid fisherman.

A registered Hereford cattle and quarter-horse rancher, Atkinson's home is his ranch in Athens, Texas. He and wife Elizabeth have a son, Tommy Oron (born 8/29/87), and a daughter, Holley Royan (2/11/89).

BOB KING

Strength & Conditioning Coach

Bob King

Bob King joined the Mavericks in July 1989 as the club's first strength & conditioning coach. King, a certified strength & conditioning specialist, has new goals for his third season working with the Mavericks.

"In the last two years we've improved the overall strength and conditioning of the team," King said. "As the team matures so does the program. Our training is designed to take care of the athlete, even to the point of extending his career by a year or two. Brad Davis is a good example of that. Derek Harper is now running as well as he ever has. We try to delay the aging process.

"We also show the athlete that what he does off the court translates into what he does on the court. We do very basketball-specific workouts."

King's responsibilities include supervising post-game aerobic workouts for players who see less than 20 minutes of playing time at home games.

In addition to his duties with the Mavericks, King also serves as head track coach and football defensive coordinator at Trinity Christian Academy in Addison. He also runs a private one-on-one training business, Coach King's Conditioning Camp.

King, who was born on August 20, 1954 in Norman, Okla., was raised in Dallas. He played football at Texas Tech, where he earned a bachelor's degree in history in 1976. He later added a MSBS degree from Dallas Theological Seminary.

King and his wife Heidi reside in Plano. They have three sons: Aaron (1/30/85) and twins Brady and Curtis (6/15/87).

RICHIE ADUBATO'S DEFENSIVE GOALS

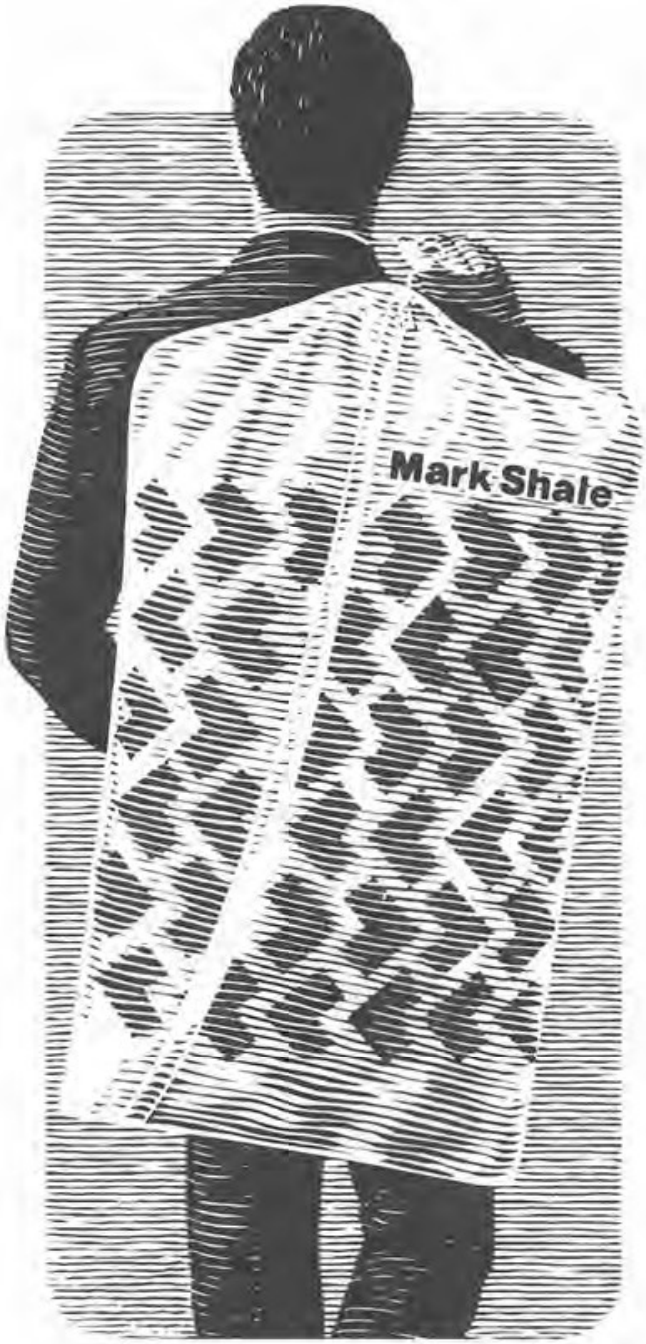
After 32 years in coaching, Richie Adubato believes that defense wins games. He also understands the psychology involved in getting his team to believe that defense wins games. Adubato established this checklist of defensive goals to motivate and evaluate:

Allow no more than:
- 100 points
- 25 points in any period
- 5 uncontested layups
- 3 uncontested jump shots

Chalk up at least:
- 30 deflections
- 10 steals
- 5 blocks
- 17 forced turnovers
- 2 charges
- 2 24-second violations

Why would a man who built his life in Los Angeles prefer to build his wardrobe in Dallas?

RING THE BELL
on Archive.org



One of our best customers in Dallas actually lives some 1300 miles west. Yet even with all the shops and tailors of Los Angeles at his convenience, his annual flight to Mark Shale is not without good reason.

Our selections strike a rare and delicate balance, combining the timeless style of the classics with influences from today's most forward thinking designers. Then there is the Mark Shale salesperson. An individual who will not only take your measurements, but also, if needed, take charge of your entire wardrobe. Coordinating each distinct element in a manner that makes purchasing and (more important) wearing clothes the enjoyable experiences they should be.

So plan your own trip. After all, if some people consider us worth a plane ticket, we're surely worth a drive.

ROLANDO BLACKMAN

Pronunciation: Roll-ON-doe

NBA Experience: In 11th season

Drafted: By Dallas on the first round in 1981 (9th overall) with a pick acquired from Denver in the 12/10/80 Kiki Vandeweghe trade; on 4/8/89 signed a contract to play through the 1993-94 season with the possibility of an additional season, 1994-95; on 9/8/90 signed an addendum to that contract, reworking the pay schedule.

1990-91 Capsule: Finished the season as Dallas' leading scorer (19.9 ppg) for the third-straight season ... was his highest scoring average since 21 ppg in 1986-87 ... Nov. 29 vs. the Clippers passed Mark Aguirre (13,930 points as a Maverick) to become the Mavericks' all-time leading scorer ... enters '91-92 with 15,269 career points ... March 22 vs. the Knicks scored his 15,000th career point, becoming just the 57th player in NBA history to achieve that milestone ... is one of just five NBA players with active runs of 10 or more seasons of 1,000-plus points ... here's the rundown: Robert Parish (14 years), Blackman (10), Tom Chambers (10), Magic Johnson (10) and Kevin McHale (10) ... became the 19th player in NBA history to score 1,000-plus points in each of his first 10 seasons ... was 40-of-114 (.351) from behind the three-point stripe, breaking his career highs for three-pointers made and attempted (was 30-of-85 in '88-89) ... recorded 301 assists (3.8 apg) – breaking his career-high of 289 in 1989-90 and 1984-85 ... led Dallas in scoring a team-best 34 times ... had 10 games of 30-plus points (his most since 12 in 1986-87) ... accounted for Dallas' four highest scoring games of the season: 37 pts vs. San Antonio 2/16/91, 36 pts at Orlando 11/13/90, 35 pts vs. Boston 12/7/90 and 34 pts vs. Orlando 11/9/90 ... missed just two games all season - April 12 at Phoenix and April 13 at Golden State — both due to a bruised right kneecap suffered April 10 at Utah ... those misses ended Blackman's streak of 119-straight games started (the ninth-longest active streak in the NBA at the time) ... was selected the Sony Tape Mavericks Player of the Month in November after averaging 22.2 ppg on .519 shooting in the 11 games during the month ... best stretch of the season was a three-game run Feb. 13-16 when he averaged 31 ppg on .684 shooting ... scored in double-figures 75 times ... his 2,965 minutes (37.1 mpg) were his most since 3,025 (37.3 mpg) in '83-84 ... ranked 18th in the NBA in FT% (.865).

Pro Capsule: A four-time NBA All-Star (1985-86-87-90), Blackman, in addition to being the club's all-time scoring leader, is Dallas' all-time leader in starts (707), field goals made (5,952), field goals attempted (11,900), free throws made (3,262), free throws attempted (3,900) and minutes

RO'S LATE GAME HEROICS

Once again in 1990-91 Rolando Blackman proved to be the Mavericks "go-to guy" late in the game. Here's a rundown of some of Blackman's late game heroics from '90-91:

- Jan. 7 — In Dallas' 88-87 overtime win at New Jersey, Blackman hits game winning free throws with 1.8 seconds remaining.
- Feb. 7 — In the Mavericks' 102-101 home win vs. Golden State, Blackman hits game winning free throws with 8.6 seconds remaining.
- Feb. 13 — In Dallas' 95-93 loss at Cleveland, Blackman scores 20 of his 28 points and shoots 10-of-13 in the second half.
- Feb. 16 — In the Mavericks' 96-94 home win over San Antonio, Blackman scores 14 of his game-high 37 points in the fourth period.
- March 4 — In the Mavericks' 102-100 win over the Nets, Blackman hits a pair of free throws with no time remaining on the clock to give Dallas the win. Blackman scores 14 of his 21 points in the fourth period, including Dallas' final 12 points in the last 3:37.
- March 22 — In Dallas' 104-102 overtime home win over the Knicks, Blackman scores 16 of his 25 points on six-of-eight shooting in the fourth period and overtime combined.

(27,157) ... joins Detroit's Isiah Thomas as the only remaining members of the class of '81 to still play for the teams which drafted them ... has never fouled out in 790 games — only Wilt Chamberlain, who never fouled out in 1,045 career games, has played longer without ever picking up a DQ ... a starter since '82-83 (after coming off the bench behind Elston Turner as a rookie in '81-82), Blackman and Derek Harper have started together since January 1986 ... only the Lakers' tandem of Magic Johnson and Byron Scott, who've started together since 1984, has been in place longer ... won three consecutive Favorite Maverick Awards, based on fan balloting, from 1987-89 ... all-time in the regular season Dallas is 53-21 (.716) when Blackman scores 30-plus points (plus 3-2 in the postseason) ... is the only Maverick ever to score 40-plus points in a playoff game, which he did in Games One (43) and Two (41) of the '85 Portland series...averaged an NBA-high 32.8 ppg in the playoffs that year...career playoff FT% of .872 is fourth-highest among active players and ninth-highest all-time ... only player to start each of the Mavericks' 48 all-time playoff games.

"You just can't find the words to describe Ro. There are very few players in this league that want the ball in the clutch every time. But Ro's one of them, and he usually responds. He's sensational."

BRAD DAVIS

NBA Experience: In 15th season

Drafted: By the L.A. Lakers on the first round in 1977 (15th overall).

Waiver History: Waived by L.A. Lakers 10/27/78; signed by Montana (WBA); signed by Indiana 2/14/79; waived 10/22/79; signed by Anchorage (CBA); signed by Utah 2/29/80; completed contract and signed with Detroit in 7/80; waived 10/9/80; re-signed by Anchorage; signed by Dallas 12/2/80.

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent on 12/2/80; most recently signed a one-year contract on 8/2/91.

1990-91 Capsule: Completed his 11th season with the Mavericks last season, and enters '91-92 as the club's all-time leader in games (850), personal fouls (1,984) and assists (4,458)...began last season as the fourth guard in the rotation (behind Blackman, Harper and Lever), totalling eight points (2 ppg) in 36 minutes (9 mpg) in the first four games...when Lever went down with a right knee injury, Davis averaged 5.7 ppg on .427 shooting in 18.3 minutes over the final 76 games...March 13 vs. Seattle, Davis hit an off-balance, driving layup at the buzzer to lift Dallas to a 98-96 home win...started six games, averaging 9.8 ppg on .396 shooting in 36 minutes per game in those starts...Jan. 7 at the Nets started in place of the injured Harper (strained right groin) and scored 13 points on five-of-nine shooting with a career-high-tying eight rebounds in a season-high 45 minutes in the Mavericks' 88-87 overtime win...missed just two games all season (Feb. 15 vs. Washington and Feb. 16 vs. the Spurs), both due to a strained right groin...played in 80 games — his most since playing all 82 in '86-87...scored a season-high 15 points on five-of-six shooting at Detroit on Jan. 25...scored in double-figures 13 times...led in assists seven times...Jan. 12 vs. Orlando was ejected with 9:59 to play in the fourth period — his first career ejection...FG% dipped to .429 — its lowest mark since .417 (when he was just 30-of-72 from the field) in his rookie season of '77-78.

Pro Capsule: After signing a one-year contract in August, Davis announced that he plans on retiring at the end of '91-92..."This is definitely it," said Davis, who originally intended to retire after '90-91...enters this season as one of just six NBA players who have been on the same team since at least '80-81: also Larry Bird, Magic Johnson, Darrell Griffith, Kevin McHale and Robert Parish...is the club's only remaining holdover from the 15-67 charter season team of '80-81...among active players only Moses Malone (16 seasons) and 15-year veterans Adrian Dantley, Parish and Alex English have played longer than Davis' 14 seasons...among NBA guards only Rickey Green, Walter Davis and Robert Reid are older than Davis...in addition to those three, only seven other active players are older than Davis: Parish, English, Mychal Thompson, Malone, Tree Rollins, Jack Sikma and James Edwards...is the second-oldest player in Mavericks history — only English (who was 37 years, 3 months and 16 days when he played his final game with the Mavericks on 4/21/91) is older...enters '91-92 eighth among active NBA players in assists with 4,643...in '89-90 suffered a severe pull of his right hamstring while driving to the basket in the second period of Dallas' regular season finale vs. Charlotte on 4/22/90, and was unable to play in Dallas' playoff series vs. Portland...missed eight games (4/3/90 through 4/17/90) after suffering a torn quadriceps tendon in his right knee during a non-contact shooting drill in practice on 4/2/90...prior to that, Davis had missed just 11 games in 10 seasons with Dallas...made a club record 10-straight 3-pointers from 1/23/88 through 2/3/88...played in a club record 246 consecutive games from 10/27/84 through 4/18/87 before missing the first six games of '87-88 with a sprained ankle...in the 1986 Game Four first round playoff win at Utah, Davis scored a career playoff high 26 points on 8-of-8 shooting, including 5-of-5 3-pointers, an NBA playoff record for most 3-pointers without a miss...won five consecutive Favorite Maverick Awards from 1982-86...signed with Dallas on Dec. 2, 1980 off the Anchorage Northern

Knights (CBA) roster...had to be persuaded to sign by then-assistant coach Bob Weiss, himself a former minor leaguer who went on to have a long career...soured after four NBA stops and stints in minor league outposts Anchorage and Montana, Davis had planned to play for the Knights until the spring term began at Cal State - Northridge...Davis found a home in Dallas and averaged 17.4 ppg, 9.3 assists and shot .593 while starting the final 26 games of 1980-81 ...he was the starting point guard until giving way to Derek Harper in January 1986.

College Capsule: Declared for the draft following his junior year at Maryland...helped the Terrapins to a 65-19 record (.774) during his three years...averaged 12.2 points and shot 54 percent.

Personal Capsule: Davis is very active in the community, most notably with the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation...wife Michele organizes an annual fashion show to raise money for CF...Davis was honored at the 1990 Dallas All Sports Association banquet with a special achievement award for his work in the community...two days after the end of last season, Davis, a golf fanatic, flew to Ireland with his buddy, Jim

"I'm excited going into this season. Playing 12 years for the Mavericks has been a lot of fun and I've met a lot of nice people. Being a Maverick holds a special place in my heart, especially since I was here in that first year and have watched the team grow for 12 years. It's been fun."

TERRY DAVIS

NBA Experience: In third season

Drafted: Not Drafted

How Acquired: Signed as an unrestricted free agent to a two-year contract on 8/6/91.

1991 Summer Capsule: Played on the Mavericks entry in the Southern California Summer Pro Basketball League and averaged 15.5 ppg on .492 shooting with 9.5 rebounds in 35.3 minutes in six games...participated in the Mavericks' rookie/free agent camp, which ran from July 23-26 in Dallas.

1990-91 Capsule: Played 55 games for the Heat last season and averaged 5.5 points on .487 shooting with 4.8 rebounds in 18.1 minutes — all improvements over his rookie season of '89-90...spent most of the first half of the season rotating from the bench to the starting lineup...in that stretch, started 17 games and averaged 4.3 points and 5.4 rebounds...started seven-straight in place of the injured Rony Seikaly from 12/29/90 through 1/11/91 and averaged 7.1 points and 5.6 rebounds...missed 15 games (1/12/91 through 2/14/91) with a big toe injury...came off the bench the remainder of the season, averaging 5.3 points and 3.4 rebounds in 23 games...finished the season strong, scoring in double-figures in five of his last 11 games (6.5 ppg in that stretch)...had back-to-back season highs in scoring with 12 points vs. Houston on 3/31/91 and 13 points at Sacramento on 4/2/91...also scored 13 points at the Lakers 4/5/91...following the season Miami Heat partner Billy Cunningham said, "Before Terry got hurt in the middle of the year, he was playing very good basketball. He brought a physical presence to the game, was rebounding well and was playing solid defense. He seems to have grown a great deal just with his understanding of the game."

Pro Capsule: Appeared in 63 games as a rookie, averaging 4.7 points and 3.6 rebounds in 14.0 minutes...started nine games, averaging 8.6 points...notched his second career double-double vs. Dallas on 3/23/90 with career-highs in points (18) and rebounds (16)...first double-double came 3/20/90 when he scored 15 points with 10 rebounds vs. Indiana...started five-straight (in place of the injured Seikaly) 3/21/90 through 3/30/90, averaging 11.0 points on .605 shooting with 8.8 rebounds.

College Capsule: Was named the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association Player of the Year for both 1988 and 1989...as a senior at Virginia Union averaged 22.3 ppg on .615 shooting with 11.9 rebounds...was third team Division II All-America in 1988...shot .624 from the field as a senior...was First Team All-South Atlantic Region selection and three time All-CIAA selection.

Personal Capsule: Likes to travel in the offseason, but chooses to drive rather than fly. "You see more scenery that way," he says...says his mother is the person who has influenced him the most...hobbies include swimming and fishing - "Whenever I go home my father and I always try to find a pond to go fishing."...likes rap music, particularly LL Cool J and Run DMC...best friend in the NBA is fellow Virginia Union alum Charles Oakley...idol growing up was Dr. J...said Miami Heat Strength and Conditioning Coach Bill Foran: "Physically, (Davis) looks like a specimen. Very strong upper body, and he's got the real big legs."...last season body fat was measured at nine percent...single...full name is Terry Raymond Davis.

JAMES DONALDSON

NBA Experience: In12th season

Drafted: By Seattle on the fourth round in 1979 (73rd overall).

Trade History: Traded by Seattle with Greg Kelser, Mark Radford, a 1984 first-round choice and a 1985 second-round choice to San Diego for Tom Chambers, Al Wood, a 1987 second-round choice and a 1984 third-round choice on 8/18/83; traded by the Clippers to Dallas for Kurt Nimphius on 11/25/85.

How Acquired: From the L.A. Clippers in exchange for Kurt Nimphius on 11/25/85; signed a five-year contract on 3/14/87.

1990-91 Capsule: Was the only NBA center to start all 82 games...this comes two years after suffering a season-ending knee injury, which some believed could be career-threatening...was the seventh time in Donaldson's career to play every game and the second time to make 82 starts (also '86-87)...only Blackman and Harper played more minutes than Donaldson's 2,800 (34.1 mpg), his most playing time since '86-87...Dec. 21 vs. Milwaukee, Donaldson overtook Sam Perkins to become the Mavericks' all-time leading rebounder (enters '91-92 with 4,319 boards as a Maverick)...grabbed a team-leading 727 rebounds (8.9 rpg, 15th in the NBA), the third time he's pulled down 700 rebounds as a Maverick (had 755 boards in '87-88 and a club record 973 in '86-87)...Roy Tarpley (955 in '87-88) and Jay Vincent (704 in '84-85) are the only other Mavericks to ever have topped the 700-rebound mark...had a team-leading 25 double-doubles and led in rebounding a team-best 31 times...grabbed double figures boards 32 times and recorded nine of Dallas' 12 games of 15-plus rebounds...was selected by the media as the Sony Tape Mavericks Player of the Month for January after averaging 11.9 ppg on .500 shooting with 10.1 rebounds in 14 games...Jan. 18 vs. the Clippers scored a season-high 25 points (his most since a career-high 29 points while with Seattle at Golden State April 16, 1983) with a season-high 18 rebounds...had four games of 20-plus points...his 10 ppg is his highest scoring average since 10.8 ppg in '86-87...his free throws made and attempted (165-229) were also personal highs since '86-87...his .532 field goal percentage was good enough for 15th best in the NBA, but was Donaldson's career low...led the Mavericks with 93 blocks, nearly doubling his '89-90 total of 47.

Pro Capsule: His career field goal percentage of .576 is the third-highest in NBA history, trailing Artis Gilmore (.599) and Charles Barkley (.580)...played in the 1988 NBA All-Star Game at Chicago...was playing perhaps the best basketball of his career when he suffered a season-ending knee injury 3/10/89 at Houston...Donaldson ruptured the patellar tendon in his right knee just 3:41 into the game...before leaving that game, Donaldson was scoreless with two rebounds - breaking his club record streak of 10-straight points-rebounds double-doubles (15.8 ppg on .685 shooting with 15.7 rebounds per game) and his club record streak of 12-straight games with double-figures rebounds (15.6 rpg)...in his last six games prior to the injury, Donaldson averaged 17.3 ppg on .661 shooting with 18.5 rebounds and 2.83 blocked shots...in that six-game run were three games of 20-plus rebounds, including a then-career high-tying 22 rebounds twice (Feb. 16 vs. Miami and March 6 vs. New Jersey)...underwent successful surgery to repair the knee on 3/13/89...including the game in which he was injured, the Mavericks were 7-17 after the knee injury and 9-21 in all games without him...shocked the medical experts by rehabilitating the knee in time to take part in the first workout of 1989 training camp...a myriad of nagging injuries limited Donaldson to 73 games in '89-90 and late in the season he rarely practiced...had minor surgery after the season to correct a right little toe problem...scored 19 points and added a career-high/club record 27 rebounds vs. Portland in triple-OT on 12/29/89...the 27 rebounds were the most by an NBA player in a single game in '89-90...during the '87-88 season, he saw his regular season consecutive games played streak end at 586 when he was suspended by the NBA for the 4/8/88 Utah game after fighting with Phoenix's Mark West on 4/6/88...lifetime has 20-plus rebounds 13 times, including once in the playoffs...has two "20-20" games: 20 points and 22 boards on 12/19/86 vs. Denver and 20 points and 22 rebounds on 3/6/89 vs. New Jersey...needs four FGMs in the playoffs to have the 150 needed to qualify for the all-time leaders — his .621 postseason FG% would be the best in NBA history...in 1986-87 was fourth in NBA rebounding with a club record 11.9 per game...then was hampered in the playoffs by a stress reaction in his lower right leg...that ailment sidelined him for Game Four at Seattle...it was Donaldson's first "DNP" due to injury since February 1981...in 1984-85 led the NBA with a .637 FG%, a figure surpassed in NBA history by only Wilt Chamberlain and Artis Gilmore...was the sixth-highest percentage ever...once again last season Donaldson failed to attempt a three-point field goal - no other NBA player has played as many as Donaldson's 11 seasons without attempting a three-pointer...Donaldson intended to play the '79-80 season in Italy...returned to the U.S. after a brief stay and made the Sonics in the '80 camp.

Drafted: By Dallas on the first-round in 1983 (11th overall); pick, which originally belonged to Atlanta, was acquired from Cleveland in Whitehead/Washington deal on 10/30/80. On 4/8/89 signed a contract to play through the 1995-96 season; on 9/8/90 signed an amendment to that contract, reworking the payment schedule.

1990-91 Capsule: Last season Harper averaged 19.7 ppg (second on the team behind Rolando Blackman) to top his career-best of 18 ppg in '89-90...that means Harper becomes the first player in NBA history to increase his scoring average in each of his first eight NBA seasons...Alex English and Kevin McHale are the only other players to increase their scoring averages in each of their first seven NBA seasons...among NBA point guards only Michael Adams (26.5 ppg), Tim Hardaway (22.9 ppg) and Kevin Johnson (22.2 ppg) averaged more points than Harper...totalled 1,519 points to top his career-best point total of 1,473 set in '89-90...for the second-straight season was voted by the fans as the winner of the Favorite Maverick Award...totalled 147 steals for the season — the seventh-straight season he's topped the 100 steals mark...is one of just seven NBA players with active runs of seven-plus consecutive seasons of 100-plus steals...here's the rundown: Maurice Cheeks (13-straight), Magic Johnson (12), Dominique Wilkins (8), Clyde Drexler (8), Harper (7), Alvin Robertson (7) and John Stockton(7)...failed to break his club record for steals (187 in '89-90) — breaking a run of six-straight seasons he had broken the team steals mark...made just 177 turnovers (2.3 per game) in 37.4 minutes - his low since 138 TOs in '86-87...missed five games to injury (two games due to a strained right groin Jan. 6-7, and three games due to a sprained right ankle March 6-10) — entering the season Harper had missed a total of nine games to injury in his first seven NBA seasons...led in scoring a career-best 32 times (second behind Blackman's 34)...scored in double-figures in 75-of-77 games...scored 20-plus points 36 times, including six games of 30-plus points...scored a season-high 34 points at Utah on April 10...recorded his first career four-point play on Feb. 13 at Cleveland...recorded all 14 of Dallas' games of 10-plus assists, including a season-high 14 twice (at Cleveland Feb. 13 and vs. Washington Feb. 15)...averaged a career-best 37.4 minutes per game (was 37 mpg in '87-88)...finished 16th in NBA three-point accuracy (.362), 10th in NBA three-point makes, 12th in NBA three-point attempts, 16th in NBA assists (7.1 apg) and 15th in NBA steals (1.91 spg)...was selected the Sony Tape Mavericks Player of the Month for April after averaging 20.6 ppg on .455 shooting in 12 games.

ON THE SUBJECT OF HARPER'S DEFENSE

- "Most guys can score, but not many force turnovers. There is just something about 'ripping' your opponent. It's like eating Haagen-Dazs." – Derek Harper
- "(Derek Harper is) the best guard defending the ball." – Basketball Digest
- "(Derek Harper) is one of the few point guards in the league who can disrupt an offense." – Houston Rockets Head Coach Don Chaney
- "Derek Harper is not only a great defensive player, but his offense has really come on. He's playing well on offense because he's always up there in steals. You always have to be aware of him." – Magic Johnson
- "Harper is an outstanding defensive guard. He makes a lot of things happen and most of those things are bad for the player he's going against." – New Jersey Nets Head Coach Bill Fitch
- "Derek has done a tremendous job in the clutch. I want to know if there's a better defensive point guard in the league. I don't think you can find one. His energy level and tenacity are absolutely unbelievable." – Mavericks Head Coach Richie Adubato
- "Derek Harper is the best defender in the league on the ball, bar none." – Former Indiana Pacers Head Coach Dick Versace

DONALD HODGE

NBA Experience: In first season

Drafted: By Dallas on the second round in 1991 (33rd overall).

1991 Summer Capsule: As an unsigned draft choice, Hodge took part in the Mavericks' rookie/free agent camp July 23-26 in Dallas...played on the Mavericks entry in the Southern California Summer Pro Basketball League, averaging 8.2 ppg with 8.3 rebounds in 28.7 minutes per game in six games. "Donald Hodge showed he will eventually be able to play in this league," said Head Coach Richie Adubato...moved to Dallas in September to begin working out informally with Mavericks players.

College Capsule: A college junior, Hodge became the first undergraduate drafted by the Mavericks since Derek Harper was taken in the first round in 1983...Hodge sat out his freshman year in order to become academically eligible, so he played just two seasons at Temple...last season averaged 11.6 ppg and 6.9 rebounds on his way to second-team All-Atlantic 10 Conference and All-Big 5 honors...scored in double figures in 23 of 34 games with a high of 22 points vs. Georgia Tech on 12/15/90...made at least half his shots in 12 of the final 13 games...had double figures in both points and rebounds a team-best seven times...in four NCAA tournament games, Hodge averaged 9.8 ppg on .633 shooting with 5.5 rebounds...was consistently double-teamed (and often triple-teamed) in the low post — as a result his numbers dipped from 15.0 ppg and 8.2 rebounds in '89-90...started all 31 games as a sophomore in '89-90...scored a career high 31 points on national television vs. eventual NCAA champion UNLV on 1/13/90...on 1/24/90 had 28 points and a career-high 19 rebounds vs. Rhode Island...had 25 points and 14 rebounds while playing all 55 minutes of a triple-overtime win over Massachusetts on 2/11/90.

Personal Capsule: Was a McDonald's All-American at Coolidge H.S. in Washington, D.C....played in Japan in the summer of '90 on Temple's goodwill tour there...worked out last summer with Sacramento Kings center and former Temple teammate Duane Causwell...was a business/marketing major at Temple...favorite leisure time activity is watching TV...favorite show is The Simpsons...a fan of adventure films, Hodge named Terminator 2 as the best movie of the summer...first dunked the ball in seventh grade ("I was playing basketball with the guys on the playground one morning before school and I thought I'd try something new. I surprised myself.")...single...given name is Donald Jerome Hodge.

MIKE IUZZOLINO

Pronunciation: Izz-a-LEE-no

NBA Experience: In first season

Drafted: By Dallas on the second round in 1991 (35th overall); pick, originally Washington property, was obtained from Sacramento in the Rodney McCray trade on 6/21/90.

1991 Summer Capsule: Played six games for the Mavericks entry in the Southern California Summer Pro Basketball League, averaging 9.3 ppg and 5.5 assists in 27.7 mpg.

College Capsule: As a senior, Iuzzolino averaged 24.1 ppg (20th-best in NCAA) on .542 shooting with 4.0 assists per game to lead the St. Francis Red Flash to a 24-8 record and the school's first berth in the NCAA tournament (Arizona eliminated St. Francis in the first round despite 20 points and six assists from Iuzzolino)...shot 103-of-195 (.528, third-best in NCAA) from three-point distance and .885 at the line, making him the only player in America to average 20 ppg and shoot better than 80 percent at the foul line and 50 percent from 3-point range...named Northeast Conference player of the year in 1991...broke Maurice Stokes' school record for points in a season with 772...scored a career-high 41 points vs. Robert Morris 2/16/91...his .885 free throw percentage was sixth-best in the NCAA...as a junior averaged 21.3 ppg while shooting .552, including 79-of-153 (.516, second-best in NCAA) from three-point range...led the Red Flash to a 17-11 record as a junior, its first winning season since 1981...scored in double figures in all 59 games at St. Francis...played his first two seasons at Penn State, averaging 2.8 ppg in 10.6 minutes per game ("My grade point average was higher than my scoring average," Iuzzolino said).

Personal Capsule: After choosing the No. 55, explained, "I've got a big man's mentality."...last season was selected National Association of Basketball Coaches scholar-athlete of the year, carrying a 3.8 GPA in political science/secondary education...in three years at St. Francis, Iuzzolino had four Bs - the rest of his grades were As...named to academic All-America first team last two years...was the only junior named in '89-90...won a $20,000 post-graduate scholarship as the Mercedes Benz Scholar-Athlete of the year..."I came to the conclusion I wasn't going to be able to play basketball forever," Iuzzolino says. "I knew I had to make my education a priority. I've made a lot of sacrifices, but it's a small price to pay to be prepared for the rest of your life."...Iuzzolino's brother Bob, a former 6-3 guard at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, is a police officer in Washington, D.C....Altoona Area H.S. also produced former Spurs and University of Texas point guard Johnny Moore and Minnesota Timberwolves guard Doug West...named to the 1986 Converse All-America team, honoring the national top 75 high school players...would be the second sub-six-footer ever to play for Dallas (5-10 Mark Wade played one game in '89-90)...favorite TV show is The Simpsons...favorite leisure time activity is weight lifting and Iuzzolino often worked out with local body builders in Altoona...given name is Michael Alan Iuzzolino.

FAT LEVER

NBA Experience: In 10th season

Drafted: By Portland on the first round in 1982 (11th overall).

Trade History: Traded by Portland with Calvin Natt, Wayne Cooper, a 1984 second-round draft choice and a 1985 first-round draft choice to Denver for Kiki Vandeweghe on 6/7/84; Traded by Denver to Dallas in exchange for the ninth selection in the first round of the draft (a pick which Dallas acquired from Washington in exchange for Jay Vincent on 9/3/86) and Detroit's 1991 first-round selection (acquired from the Pistons on 2/15/89 along with Adrian Dantley in exchange for Mark Aguirre) on 6/21/90.

How Acquired: From Denver in exchange for two first-round draft choices (see above) on 6/21/90; under contract through 1993-94.

1991 Summer Capsule: Tested his knee at the Southern California Summer Pro League in Los Angeles, scoring 6 points on three-of-10 shooting with five rebounds in 27 minutes on July 30 vs. the Timberwolves...after the game, Lever experienced no swelling in the knee and said he was pleased with his progress...Lever began working at full speed on the basketball court in July.

1990-91 Capsule: Last season, Lever's right knee became inflamed during training camp and in an attempt to get him ready for the regular season, he was held out of the Mavericks' final three preseason games...Lever, who had started the last 329 games in which he played, came off the bench in the Mavericks' first four games—his first action as a reserve since March 14, 1986...the knee continued to hamper him and in those four games he averaged 7.3 ppg on nine-of-23 (.391) shooting in 21.5 minutes...Lever's best game was the Mavericks' Nov. 3 home opener vs. Denver, when he scored 13 points with seven rebounds in 26 minutes...on Nov. 9, prior to the Mavericks' home game vs. Orlando, the Mavericks—who were off to a 4-1 start with road wins at New York and Philadelphia—announced that Lever would undergo arthroscopic surgery on the right knee...later that night, forward Roy Tarpley suffered a season-ending injury to his right knee...on Nov. 13, team physician J. Pat Evans performed back-to-back surgeries on Lever and Tarpley at Baylor Medical Center...while Lever was expected to miss just 4-6 weeks, the irritation persisted and he spent the duration of the '90-91 season diligently rehabilitating the knee...his routine included weight lifting and running in a pool...had missed just 20 games due to injury in his first eight years prior to missing 77 last season..."The knee is in good shape," Lever said upon the conclusion of the regular season. "It hasn't felt this good in a long time. In fact it hasn't felt this good since before I got to Dallas."...last season marked the first time in Lever's nine-year career that he did not participate in the playoffs.

COLLEGE:
Louisville '83

NBA Experience: In ninth season

Drafted: By Houston on the first round in 1983 (third overall).

Trade History: Traded by Houston with Jim Petersen to Sacramento for Otis Thorpe on 10/11/88; traded by Sacramento with a 1990 second-round draft choice (Phil Henderson) and Washington's 1991 second-round draft choice (Mike Iuzzolino) to Dallas for Bill Wennington and the 14th (Travis Mays) and 18th (Duane Causwell) selections in the first round of the 1990 draft on 6/26/90.

How Acquired: From Sacramento with two second-round draft choices for Bill Wennington and two 1990 first-round draft choices (see above); under contract through 1992-93.

1990-91 Capsule: Early in the season McCray was directly involved in three dramatic wins: On Nov. 6 at New York, McCray made the key play—a bullet pass inside to Rolando Blackman for a layup with 37 seconds left—which gave Dallas its first lead of the game, 92-91 (the Mavericks won 96-91)...the next night at Philadelphia, McCray knocked in a three-pointer with 33 seconds remaining and the shot clock about to expire, to give the Mavericks a 101-94 lead and the game, which Dallas won 104-101...on Dec. 12 at the Lakers, McCray's fall-away jumper from the top of the key at the buzzer sent the game, won by Dallas 112-97, into OT...McCray showed his versatility in the Mavericks' 119-110 win at Denver on Dec. 22 by producing 14 points, a team-leading 13 rebounds, seven assists, two steals and two blocked shots...on Jan. 29 in the Mavericks' 117-112 win vs. Seattle, McCray had a season-high 23 points, 10 rebounds and nine assists, narrowly missing his seventh career triple-double...on March 18 vs. the Kings, McCray scored six points and grabbed a career-high-tying 18 rebounds, matching James Donaldson's 18 boards on Jan. 18 vs. the Clippers as the most by a Maverick in '90-91...McCray grabbed 15 of those 18 rebounds in 20 first half minutes—tying James Donaldson's club record for rebounds in a half...missed seven-straight games April 5-15 after suffering a strained right quadricep muscle during the April 5 morning walk-through...also missed the Feb. 27 game at Indiana with a sprained right ankle...Dallas was 1-7 in games McCray missed...shot 13-of-39 (.333) from three-point range, setting a career high for three-pointers (was 11-of-42 in '89-90)...led the Mavericks in rebounding 23 times, eight fewer than team leader Donaldson...entered last season as a career .762 foul shooter, then made a career-best 80.3 percent of his free throws, surpassing his '87-88 mark of .785...reached double-figures in points 48 times, including three games of 20-plus points...reached double figures points in a season-best 14 consecutive games from Jan. 16 through Feb. 16, averaging 14.6 ppg on .547 shooting with 7.9 rebounds per game during that stretch...grabbed 10 or more rebounds 19 times...McCray's 129 TOs (1.74 per game while averaging 34.6 minutes) are the fewest of his career...underwent surgery Sept. 14 to repair a hernia on his right side...began light workouts Oct. 9 and rejoined the team Oct. 15.

Pro Capsule: Was a first-team All-NBA Defensive selection in 1987-88...In 1986-87 was selected to the NBA's second-team All-Defensive

RANDY WHITE

NBA Experience: In third season

Drafted: By Dallas on the first round in 1989 (eighth overall); signed a five-year contract on 8/23/89.

1991 Summer Capsule: White averaged 13.6 ppg on .403 shooting with 11.6 rebounds (second in the league) in 29.5 minutes per game in the Southern California Summer Pro Basketball League.

1990-91 Capsule: Surpassed his rookie year totals in every category, nearly tripling his scoring and rebounding figures ... by Jan. 12 had surpassed his rookie scoring and rebounding totals ... DNPed (Coach's Decision) in three of the first four games prior to Roy Tarpley's right knee injury ... played in each of the final 78 games ... started 29 games (10.1 ppg on .411 shooting with 7.7 rebounds in 29.2 minutes) ... in 50 games off the bench, White averaged 8 ppg on .389 shooting with 5.9 rebounds in 21.3 minutes ... played the fifth-most minutes on the team (his 24.1 minutes were the seventh-highest average on the club), yet ranked fourth in free throw attempts and fourth in blocked shots ... accounted for six of the team's total of 14 foul-outs ... scored 10 or more points 34 times, including three games of 20-plus points ... scored a career-high/team-leading 24 points on 11-of-17 shooting in the Mavericks' 117-112 home win vs. Seattle on 1/29/91 ... scored 20 points in the Mavericks' 103-89 home win over Milwaukee on 12/21/90 ... also scored 20 points in the 110-99 home loss to Utah on 1/11/91 ... grabbed double-figures rebounds 15 times, including four times in the last nine games ... collected a career-high 15 boards on 2/16/91 vs. San Antonio ... led the Mavericks in rebounding 16 times, including three times in the last five games ... had 13 points-rebounds double-doubles ... had 12.8 points and 9.3 rebounds per 35 minutes played ... among the top 10 picks of the 1989 draft, only Pervis Ellison's 10.5 rebounds per 35 minutes played surpassed White's rebounding figure ... White improved his foul shooting from .562 as a rookie to .707 last season, and shot 82-of-105 (.781) from the line in the last 30 games ... twice had career-best streaks of four-straight games of double figures scoring: 12.3 ppg over four games from Nov. 14-23 and 14.3 ppg from Jan. 9-14.

Pro Capsule: As a rookie in 1989-90, played in 26 of the first 27 games (4.5 ppg on .379 shooting with 3.3 rpg in 13.1 minutes per game) before "DNPing" 26 times in the final 55 games ... scored a season-high 18 points on 8-of-12 shooting with nine rebounds in 21 minutes on Nov. 17 vs. the Clippers ... scored 10-plus points nine times (won six) ... led in rebounding five times ... had 10-plus rebounds three times ... had two double-doubles: 11 points, 10 rebounds at New Jersey on Dec. 20 and 10 points, 10 rebounds when he started for Adrian Dantley (neck injury) at Denver on Jan. 15 ... made one other start, March 2 vs. Phoenix (for Roy Tarpley, who had the flu), scoring six points while adding season highs in rebounds (12) and minutes (36) ... turned 22 the day after the regular season opener in '89-90, making him the third-youngest player in Mavericks history - only Mark Aguirre and Roy Tarpley were younger in their debuts.

College Capsule: Averaged 21.2 points and 10.5 rebounds as a senior at Louisiana Tech, en route to American South Conference Player of the Year and honorable mention All-America honors ... finished his Louisiana Tech career as that school's third all-time leading scorer (1,907 points) and fourth all-time leading rebounder (1,023 rebounds) ... named to All-Tournament Team at the Orlando All-Star Classic.

Personal Capsule: Married the former Melinda Covington on Aug. 31 ... says his favorite Christmas show is Frosty the Snowman, just edging out Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer ... says White of his preference of Frosty: "Maybe I just like Jimmy Durante better than Burl Ives." ... was looking for a hobby three years ago to occupy his leisure time after the basketball season ended. His stepfather, Henry Collins, took him bowling. White has become proficient at the sport, often rolling up scores in the 200-215 range. Has a blue bowling ball with MAVERICK stamped on it ... says he would like to meet pop singer, Vanity ... is a fan of Arnold Schwarzenegger films, especially The Terminator ... all-time favorite movie is Scarface with Al Pacino ... worst job he ever had was doing construction work. "It was terrible," White said. "It made me work on my game and my books because I didn't want to work construction." ...signed with the Mavericks after exploring an offer from the Paok (pronounced "poke") team in Salonika, Greece ... loves seafood ("except oysters") ... serious weight trainer whose body fat is around four percent ... stood 5-8 in eighth grade, 5-10 in ninth, then grew six inches one summer ... was nicknamed "Bird" in high school because he was so skinny ... weighed 205 pounds as a college freshman ... football was his first love — played tight end and defensive end for two years in high school ... says he gave up football when he grew tall and his knees "starting becoming a good target" ... was a Dallas Cowboys fan who used to enjoy watching "the other" Randy White, No. 54 on the Cowboys ("I used to watch Randy White play, now I hope some little kid is out there watching me.") ... says his childhood hero was his father ... is a fan of rap and reggae music, but says he likes most types of music except for country ... is about 20 hours shy of completing his degree ... was a health and physical education major with a minor in business ... he and Melinda reside in Plano ... given name is Randy White.

HERB WILLIAMS

NBA Experience: In11th season

Drafted: By Indiana on the first round in 1981 (14th overall).

Acquired: On Feb. 21, 1989 from Indiana in exchange for Detlef Schrempf and a second-round draft choice in 1990 (Antonio Davis); under contract through 1991-92.

1990-91 Capsule: Came off the bench behind Roy Tarpley in the season's first five games, averaging 10.2 ppg on .500 shooting with 4.8 rebounds in 23.6 minutes ... in the Nov. 9 home game vs. Orlando, the same game in which Tarpley was injured, Williams was inadvertently kicked in the right knee ... despite soreness in the knee, Williams replaced Tarpley in the starting lineup and continued to play ... three games later, a 99-86 home win over the Lakers in which Williams scored 17 points, he was again inadvertently kicked in the right knee ... Williams remained in the starting lineup for three more games before missing two games with bursitis in his right knee, a result of the two kicks ... Williams came off the bench to play 21 minutes on Dec. 4 at Sacramento, but was unable to go the next night at the Clippers ... after returning for three games from Dec. 7-12, it was decided Williams needed to rest the ailing knee ... on Dec. 18 he was placed on the injured list ... from Dec. 14 through Jan. 19, Williams missed 19 consecutive games, bringing to 22 the number of games he missed with the bursitis ... Dallas was 7-15 without Williams ... when he returned Jan. 23 for a home game vs. Cleveland, Williams was averaging 8.3 ppg on .417 shooting with 5.1 rebounds in 26.7 minutes in 15 games ... while not missing a game the rest of the season, Williams averaged 13.8 ppg on 277-of-523 (.530) shooting with 6.2 rebounds in 31.8 minutes over 45 games ... Williams scored 20-plus points nine times and led the Mavericks in scoring eight times, all in the season's final 25 games ... in that run, which began with 22 points vs. Philadelphia on March 6, Williams averaged 17.2 ppg on 178-of-342 (.520) shooting with 6.3 rebounds and 1.72 blocks in 34.7 minutes ... scored 30-plus points twice: a season-high 31 points (his most since scoring 32 points with Indiana at Seattle on Nov. 22, 1986) on March 30 at Seattle and 30 points vs. Phoenix on March 20, the night he passed the 10,000-point mark in career scoring ... beginning Feb. 19, Williams scored in double figures in 27 of the final 33 games, averaging 16.3 ppg on .559 shooting in that span ... that run elevated his scoring average from 7.7 ppg to 12.5 ppg, his highest mark since 14.5 ppg in 1986-87 ... was unanimously selected by the media as the Sony Tape Mavericks Player of the Month for March, when he averaged 17.7 ppg on .590 shooting with 7.0 rebounds per game ... finished with career-best field goal percentage of .507 (was .499 in '82-83) ... totalled 36 games of double figures scoring, including 15-straight (averaging 17.5 ppg) from March 23 through April 19 ... had 10-plus rebounds five times, including four times in the final 28 games ... grabbed a season-high 12 boards to go along with 27 points vs. Atlanta on March 15.

Pro Capsule: While with Indiana played perhaps the best game of his career on Jan. 23, 1989 vs. Denver when he scored 21 points with a career-high/Pacers NBA record/NBA '88-89 season-high 29 rebounds and four blocks ... 3/25/90 in the Mavericks' dramatic 98-96 comeback win over Detroit (Dallas was down 95-90 with 30 seconds left in the OT) Williams stole the ball from Isiah Thomas with 15.5 seconds left on a trap play and fed Derek Harper for the winning layup with 8.1 seconds left ... had four-straight double-doubles from Feb. 25 through March 3, 1990 (11.5 ppg on .485 shooting with 10.5 rebounds and 3 blocks) ... the only other Mavericks ever to have four-straight points-rebounds double-doubles are James Donaldson, Sam Perkins and Roy Tarpley ... came to Dallas as Indiana's all-time leader in seasons (eight), games (577), minutes (18,455), field goals attempted (7576), field goals made (3606), offensive rebounds (1152), defensive rebounds (3342), total rebounds (4494), personal fouls (1740), turnovers (1420), blocked shots (1094) and points (8637) ... has finished among the league's top 10 shot blockers four times ... named NBA Player of the Week for the period ending April 7, 1986 when he averaged 25.7 ppg with 13.3 rpg and 3.7 blocks over three games ... hit the second-longest field goal in NBA history, an 81-footer, vs. Sacramento on Jan. 8, 1986.

College Capsule: A three-time honorable mention All-America at Ohio State, he became only the 35th player in NCAA Division I history to finish his college career with 2,000 points and 1,000 rebounds ... left Ohio State as the school's all-time leading scorer with 2,011 points ... was an All-Big Ten selection three times, including first-team as a junior ... averaged 17.6 ppg and 9.7 rebounds for his career.

Personal Capsule: His wife Deborah, who has a Ph.D. in clinical psychology, won the 1991 Mrs. America International pageant ... the couple has a five-year-old daughter, Erica (8/27/86) ... a recreation major at OSU ... has his own real estate and asphalt paving businesses in Columbus, Ohio ... also has run a basketball camp in Columbus over the past several summers ... grew up in Columbus playing summer league basketball against for-

"Herb has always done what is necessary. He's never been asked to get 20 points a game, but if you put it to him, he's capable of it. But he usually does the dirty work and defense is still his strongest point. He means as much to us as Dennis Rodman does to the Pistons."

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN 1991-92

THE MAVERICKS rebounding from last year's disappointing season. Prior to winning just 28 games last season, Dallas had averaged 48.3 wins in the previous four seasons. The Mavericks lost a club-record 199 games to injury/illness last season.

FAT LEVER scoring his 10,000th NBA point. Entering this season, Lever is 469 points shy of the milestone.

DEREK HARPER improving his scoring average for the ninth-straight year. Last season Harper, who averaged 19.7 ppg, became the first player in NBA history to improve his scoring average in each of his first eight NBA seasons.

DEREK HARPER averaging 20-plus points for the first time in his career. If Harper does reach the 20 ppg mark this season, it will mark just the second time in NBA history for a player to average 20-plus points for the first time in his ninth season or after. Mike Newlin averaged 20.9 ppg for New Jersey in his ninth season in 1979-80.

JAMES DONALDSON attempting his first career three-pointer. The 7-2, 280-pound Donaldson has played longer than any other active NBA player — 11 seasons — without trying a three-pointer.

THE MAVERICKS winning in Boston. The Mavericks have won in every NBA city except Boston. This season they'll get their shot at the Boston Garden on Sunday, March 1.

ROLANDO BLACKMAN scoring 1,000-plus points for the 11th-straight season. Entering this season, Blackman is one of just five NBA players with active runs of 10 or more seasons of 1,000-plus points. Here's the rundown: Robert Parish (14 seasons), Blackman (10), Tom Chambers (10), Magic Johnson (10) and Kevin McHale (10).

DEREK HARPER totalling 100-plus steals for the eighth-straight season. Entering this season, Harper is one of just seven NBA players with active runs of seven-plus seasons of 100-plus steals. Here's the rundown: Maurice Cheeks (13-straight), Magic Johnson (12), Dominique Wilkins (8), Clyde Drexler (8), Harper (7), Alvin Robertson (7) and John Stockton (7).

FAT LEVER moving up on the all-time steals list. Lever enters this season in 10th place on the all-time list with 1,461 steals, just 48 steals shy of passing seventh-place Julius Erving (1,508). In between stand Dennis Johnson (1,477) and Micheal Ray Richardson (1,463). Larry Bird (1,514) is in sixth place.

ROLANDO BLACKMAN once again not fouling out of a game. Entering '91-92, Blackman has not fouled out in 790 career games. Only Wilt Chamberlain, who never fouled out in 1,045 career games, has played longer without ever picking up a DQ.

DEREK HARPER AND ROLANDO BLACKMAN continuing to form Dallas' starting backcourt. Harper and Blackman have been the Mavericks' regular starting guards since Harper took over the starting point guard duties from Brad Davis on 1/22/86. Only the Lakers' starting backcourt of Magic Johnson and Byron Scott, together since 1984, has been in place longer than Harper and Blackman.

THE MAVERICKS scoring the 100,000th point in club history. Dallas enters '91-92 with 97,351 all-time points — 2,649 points shy of the milestone.

BROADCAST INFORMATION

TELEVISION

KTVT (Ch. 11), in its seventh season with the Mavericks, will broadcast 27 games, the most extensive over-the-air television package in club history. The lineup includes two home games, Dec. 17 vs. San Antonio and Jan. 31 vs. Chicago. Twenty-five of those games are listed below, with two "wild card" games to be added to the schedule during the season.

The Home Sports Entertainment (HSE) network will cablecast at least 30 home games, while Ch. 11 will carry the two "event" home games against San Antonio and Chicago.

RADIO

For the 12th-straight season WBAP (820 AM) is the Mavericks' flagship radio station. Due to WBAP's obligation to carry Texas Rangers baseball, upon the date of the first Mavericks-Rangers conflict in April, the Mavericks will move for the rest of the regular season and playoffs to KRLD Radio (1080 AM). Each broadcast begins with a comprehensive 40-minute pregame show. A call-in show, Mavericks Overtime with host David Hatchett, will be heard on WBAP following weekday games (except those played in the Pacific time zone). The Norm Sonju Show, a call-in format, is heard on WBAP each Wednesday from 6-7:30 p.m.

THE TALENT

Allen Stone, in his 11th season as a Mavericks broadcaster and ninth on the club's telecasts, will handle the play-by-play responsibilities on the KTVT (Ch. 11) and HSE broadcasts. Stone will be joined by new partner Bill Walton on the Ch. 11 games. Walton was a member of NBA championship teams in Portland (1977) and Boston (1986) and earned the league's MVP award in 1978. Last season Walton served as color analyst for Prime Ticket on UCLA, Pepperdine and San Diego State games. He also filled in as a back-up analyst on Trail Blazers and Clippers broadcasts and did NCAA tournament games for CBS Sports, Bob Ortegel, the former head basketball coach at Drake University, has 10 years experience as a television basketball analyst. This is his third season on the Mavericks broadcast crew. Longtime Dallas sportscaster Ted Davis is in his fourth season as the club's radio announcer.

TICKET INFORMATION

In addition to the Reunion Arena box office, Mavericks tickets are available at all Rainbow Ticketmaster outlets, including all Sears and Sound Warehouse locations and the Rainbow Ticket Center (9850 N. Central @ Walnut Hill in the Corner Shopping Center).

Reunion's main box office is located on the north side of the arena (near the flagpoles) and is open Monday through Friday from 10:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tickets may be ordered with Visa, MasterCard and American Express by dialing 214/658-7068. Tickets for each home game will go on sale in October. A limited number of tickets will be held to go on sale one week in advance of each home date.

Discounted tickets for groups of 24 or more are available for all regular season home games. For complete group ticket information, call (metro) 214/988-0117.

REUNION ARENA

Entering the 1991-92 season, the Mavericks capacity at Reunion Arena will increase from 17,007 to 17,502 with the addition of 495 seats to the floor and concourse levels. Perhaps the most noticeable change will be the arena's sound system, which has been renovated and improved to add high-quality sound to the $5 million Sony Jumbotron JTS-16 scoreboard/replay system, added last season. The concourse has been given a new look as well.

The Mavericks and Reunion Arena management have been committed to upgrading the quality of the facilities since Reunion Arena opened in April 1980. Last season, in addition to the Sony Jumbotron, the Big "D" Board, which tracks rebounds, blocked shots and steals, was added. Message boards throughout the arena were also upgraded to give fans better access to statistics, out-of-town scores and other information. The 19-inch monitors located at each concession stand were replaced with 27-inch screens. In April 1987 the Reunion Parking Center opened. The five-level, 2,100-space parking garage expanded parking capacity by 1,500 spaces. Additional concession space and restrooms were added to the lower level mall near section 127 that year as well.

Reunion Arena has grown into one of the busiest and most versatile entertainment facilities nationwide. Reunion Arena is home for the Mavericks, the MSL's Dallas Sidekicks, the Dallas Texans of the Arena Football League and the Southwest Conference Basketball Classic each spring. It was also the site of the NBA All-Star Game and NCAA "Final Four" in 1986. Approximately 160 various events are scheduled for the coming year ranging from truck pulls and ice shows to a circus and numerous concerts.

Reunion Arena is equipped with the finest safety features. There's an easy-in, easy-out entrance and exit system and each section has its own entrance with the upper level only 51 steps away.

Behind the scenes features of Reunion include modern rehabilitation and training facilities specially designed with rather tall athletes in mind. Eight-foot doorways and shower heads were installed to eliminate any off the court bumps and bruises.

PLAYER PERSONNEL GUIDE

ACTIVE LIST

The maximum number of active players is 12, the minimum is 11. At no time shall a team be permitted to dress fewer than eight players for a regular season game or nine for a playoff game. During the offseason and training camp, teams may carry no more than 20 active players.

INJURED LIST

A player transferred to the injured list due to injury or illness, must stay there for no fewer than five games.

TEN-DAY CONTRACT

On or after the 55th day following the first game, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. This procedure may be used only to replace a player assigned to the injured list. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day agreements.

TRADING DEADLINE

No trades are permitted after 8 p.m. Dallas time on February 20, 1992. From that point to the end of the regular season, player additions must be made through the waiver procedure, or by signing free agents.

WAIVERS

From August 15 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time, may be claimed within 10 days. If no teams claim the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one club claims a waived player, the one with the lesser record at that time claims the player.

GUARANTEED CONTRACT DATE

On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

RENUNCIATION OF AMATEUR ELIGIBILITY

A person whose high school class has graduated shall become eligible for the college draft if he renounces his intercollegiate basketball eligibility by written notice to the NBA at least 45 days prior to the draft. Prior to 45 days before the draft, teams may not make direct or indirect contact with players who have eligibility left. Clubs may contact players without remaining eligibility, but may not discuss compensation.

Did not finish the season in Dallas: Howard Wright.

1990-91 SEASON

Won 28, Lost 54 (sixth, Midwest)...after averaging 48.3 wins in the previous four years, the Mavericks lost a club-record 199 player-games to injury/illness in 1990-91 and won just 28 games to match the 1981-82 squad for second-fewest wins in club history...Dallas, which got off to a 4-1 start before losing Roy Tarpley and Fat Lever for the season due to right knee injuries, dropped 53 of its final 77 games, including 13 of the final 16 games...other than two games John Shasky missed due to a bruised right heel, all of the Mavericks' injuries came to members of what would have been Dallas' top nine player rotation...39 times Dallas was without the services of three or more players, including five games in which four or more players were sidelined...the Mavericks committed just 14.5 turnovers per game - fourth in the NBA and sixth-lowest turnover total in NBA history...Dallas came back seven times from deficits of 12-plus points to win, including twice from 16 points down (Nov. 6 at New York and Feb. 18 at the Warriors)...the Mavericks were 15-16 in games decided by six points or less, including 9-6 in games decided by three points or less...those nine wins tied Golden State and Washington for third most in the league (only Philly and Houston had more)...the Mavericks were 3-2 in overtime games in '90-91 - making them 12-5 (.706) in overtime games the last four seasons...Dallas averaged a club-record-low 99.9 ppg in '90-91 (was 101.5 ppg in '80-81), 25th in the NBA...the Mavericks were held under 100 points 40 times - breaking the club record of 39 set in '89-90...Dallas was held under 90 points a club-record 14 times (was 12 set in '89-90)...the Mavericks gave up 104.5 ppg (12th in the NBA) in '90-91 - up 2.3 ppg from the club record-low 102.2 ppg (fourth in NBA) in '89-90...the Mavericks were 21-21 when scoring 100-plus points and 7-33 when held under 100 points...Dallas shot .500-plus 31 times (won 7), while allowing the opponent to shoot .500-plus 29 times (won 2)...the Mavericks finished 24th in NBA rebounding, losing the boards 44 rpg to 40.8 rpg...after a 19-2 start against Charlotte, Miami, Minnesota and Orlando, Dallas was 3-11 against those teams in '90-91...the most frequently used starting lineup was McCray/Williams/Donaldson/Harper/Blackman, which was used 20 times...the lineup of Tarpley/McCray/Donaldson/Harper/Blackman started the opener and Williams/White/Donaldson/Harper/Blackman started the finale.

1990-91: THE YEAR-IN-REVIEW

NOV. 2 — Minnesota 98, Dallas 85. The "new look" Mavericks open their 11th NBA season by dropping a 98-85 decision to the Timberwolves before a sellout crowd of 19,006 in Minnesota's new $93 million facility, The Target Center. Rodney McCray, Fat Lever and Alex English make their first Mavericks appearances. McCray scores 13 points in 31 minutes while starting at small forward, Lever comes off the bench to add seven points in 21 minutes, and English manages just two points (a pair of free throws) in 19 minutes. The Mavericks, opening on the road for the first time since 1982, drop their opener for the third-straight year.

NOV. 3 — Dallas 140, Denver 110. Dallas ties its fourth-highest ever point total and wins its home opener, 140-110 over the Denver Nuggets before 17,007 at Reunion. The 140 points by Dallas prove to be its most of the season and the win proves to be its largest of the season. The win puts Dallas' record at 1-1 for the 10th time in 11 years, the exception being Dallas' 0-2 start in 1989-90.

NOV. 6 — Dallas 96, New York 91. Roy Tarpley scores 29 points and grabs 10 rebounds to lead Dallas to a 96-91 come-from-behind victory over the Knicks before a crowd of 14,056 in Madison Square Garden. The Knicks lead by 16 points, 49-33, late in the second period. The Mavericks take the lead for good when Rolando Blackman breaks free under the basket and Rodney McCray hits him with a bullet pass to set up the basket. The comeback ties the second-largest road comeback in club history. Record is 2-1.

NOV. 7 — Dallas 104, Philadelphia 101. The night after defeating the Knicks in New York, the Mavericks win in Philadelphia, 104-101, before a crowd of 10,525 in the Spectrum. With Dallas leading 98-94, Rodney McCray - who entered 1990-91 just 17-of-90 (.189) all-time from three-point range - hits a desperation three-pointer (just before the 24-second clock expires) to put Dallas up 101-94 with 33 seconds remaining. The wins in New York and Philly prove quite an achievement. In 1989-90 just four teams (Portland, Boston, Milwaukee and Atlanta) won in both cities. Record is 3-1, best start since 1987-88.

NOV. 9 — Dallas 111, Orlando 99. Led by a game-high 34 points by Rolando Blackman, the Mavericks win their fourth-straight, defeating Orlando 111-99 before a crowd of 16,760 in Reunion Arena. Roy Tarpley suffers what is believed to be a slipped right kneecap with :27.5 to go in the first period and does not return. The Mavericks run their record to 4-1, tying the 1982-83 club for the best start in club history. Prior to tip-off, the club announces Fat Lever, whose right knee has been inflamed since training camp, will undergo arthroscopic surgery.

NOV. 10 — Dallas places Fat Lever - who is suffering inflammation in his right knee - on the injured list, and signs center Jim Grandholm.

Roy Tarpley suffered a season-ending knee injury in the fifth game of the season, Nov. 9 vs. Orlando. The Mavericks missed a club record 199 player-games to injury in '90-91.

Tarpley's absence allowed 1989 first-round draft choice Randy White to see substantial playing time.

On Nov. 29 vs. the Clippers, Rolando Blackman overtook Mark Aguirre as the leading scorer in club history. On March 22 vs. New York, Blackman became the 57th NBA player to score 15,000 career points.

NOV. 12 — The Mavericks place Roy Tarpley - who suffered a right knee injury on Nov. 9 - on the injured list, and sign guard Kelvin Upshaw.

NOV. 13 — Orlando 109, Dallas 103. Hours after learning Roy Tarpley will be lost for the season, the Mavericks' four-game winning streak is snapped with a 109-103 loss at Orlando before a crowd of 14,588. In an arthroscopic procedure performed by Mavericks team physician J. Pat Evans at Baylor Medical Center, ligament damage is found in Tarpley's knee. The injury, which was suffered in the Nov. 9 home win vs. the Magic, will sideline Tarpley the remainder of the season. The exact medical terminology is that Tarpley suffered a fresh tear of the anterior cruciate ligament with complete detachment in an area of previous tearing. The surgery also reveals a tear in the back portion of the lateral cartilage. Prior to Tarpley's procedure, an arthroscopy is performed by Evans on Fat Lever's right knee, which has been inflamed since training camp. Lever is discharged later in the day, and is expected to miss four to six weeks. The loss to Orlando snaps the Magic's NBA record-tying 16-game home losing streak. Record is 4-2.

NOV. 16 — Dallas 99, L.A. Lakers 86. The Mavericks go on a 15-2 run to open the fourth period, and beat the Lakers, 99-86 before a sellout crowd at Reunion Arena. Entering the game the Lakers had won nine-straight and 12-of-13 (including six-straight in Reunion) against the Mavericks. Dallas falls behind 26-12 with 2:04 to play in the first period, but the Mavericks outscore the Lakers 87-60 the rest of the way. Sam Perkins, making his first Reunion appearance since signing with the Lakers, scores 14 points on seven-of-10 shooting in the first half, but finishes the night with just 18 points on 9-of-15 shooting. James Worthy, who the day before was arrested in Houston on misdemeanor charges, scores 21 points. Dallas' record goes to 5-3, while the Lakers fall to 2-5.

NOV. 20 — Minnesota 92, Dallas 91 (OT). Tyrone Corbin tips in a shot with :00.3 to play in overtime to propel the Timberwolves to a 92-91 win over the Mavericks before a crowd of 15,975 at Reunion Arena. With the score tied at 90 with 9.1 seconds to play in OT, Brad Davis is fouled while driving to the basket. Davis makes one-of-two free throws to put Dallas up 91-90. On the next trip down the floor, Corbin misses a driving layup with 5.7 seconds left. The loss is Dallas' third-straight to Minnesota, and means the Mavericks have lost to Minnesota twice and Miami and Orlando once each in the first month of the season. Record is 5-4.

NOV. 28 — Dallas 107, L.A. Clippers 88. Rolando Blackman passes Mark Aguirre to become Dallas' all-time leading scorer as the Mavericks snap their three-game home losing streak, 107-88 over the Clippers before a crowd of 15,790. Blackman breaks Aguirre's club record of 13,930 points when he connects on a 14-footer with 10:40 to play in the second period (that shot gives Blackman 13,931 career points). The win ends a five-game Mavericks homestand, which sees them finish 2-3. The Mavericks now embark on a stretch of nine-of-13 on the road. Record is 6-6.

DEC. 12 — Dallas 112, L.A. Lakers 97 (OT). The Mavericks end their five-game losing streak and seven game Forum losing streak (counting the '88 conference finals) with a 112-97 win at the Lakers. Dallas sends the game into overtime when Rodney McCray connects on a fall-away jumper from the top of the key at the buzzer. The Mavericks score the first 13 points of the overtime and outscore the Lakers 23-8 in the extra period. The 23 points in overtime are the most Dallas has ever scored in an overtime and is one point off the NBA record of 24 set by Sacramento vs. Utah on March 17, 1990. The 15-point win also marks Dallas' largest margin of victory ever in an overtime game. Record is 7-11.

DEC. 14 — Portland 106, Dallas 104. On the night Alex English becomes just the eighth player in NBA history to score 25,000 points, the Blazers edge the Mavericks 106-104 before a sellout crowd of 12,884 in Portland. English scores the historic basket on an 11-foot jumper in the lane with 5:30 to play in the first half. The Mavericks have a chance to send the game into overtime, but Rolando Blackman, who scores 20 of his team-leading 26 points after halftime, comes up short on an eight-footer in the lane at the buzzer. Dallas has a chance to tie earlier, but Blackman's dunk attempt over Buck Williams hits off the back of the rim and Portland grabs the rebound. Portland's record improves to an NBA-best 20-2, while the Mavericks fall to 7-12.

DEC. 15 — Seattle 106, Dallas 105. Dallas follows its two-point loss the night before in Portland with another heartbreaker, a 106-105 loss at the Sonics. The Mavericks have a shot to win the game, but Rodney McCray, who finishes with 10 points, misses a driving shot from eight feet with two seconds left. Record falls to 7-13.

DEC. 18 — Phoenix 114, Dallas 95. The Suns pull away for good in the second period and go on to register a 114-95 win over Dallas before a sellout crowd in Reunion Arena. The loss comes on the day the Mavericks place forward Herb Williams (bursitis right knee) on the injured list. Record is 7-14.

DEC. 21 — Dallas 103, Milwaukee 89. On the day Dallas is hit by an arctic blast which brings snow and sleet, approximately 9,500 fans (of the paid sellout of 17,007) show up to watch the Mavericks down the team with the second-best record in the Eastern Conference, the Milwaukee Bucks, 103-89. The Mavericks receive a big boost from Randy White, who scores a then-career-high 20 points in 34 minutes. Record is 8-14.

DEC. 27 — Utah 110, Dallas 102. Richie Adubato returns to Dallas to be with his wife Carol - who gives birth to the couple's first child, son Adam - and the Mavericks fall to the Jazz 110-102 before a sellout in Utah. Bob Zuffelato takes over Dallas' helm. Despite Adubato's absence the loss still goes on his coaching record. Record is 9-16.

JAN. 6 — Boston 127, Dallas 110. The Mavericks fall to 0-11 all-time in the Boston Garden with a 127-110 loss to the Celtics - who enter the game with the best record in the Eastern Conference, 25-5 - before a sellout crowd. Playing without Roy Tarpley, Fat Lever, Herb Williams and Derek Harper (strained right groin), Rolando Blackman scores 14 of his game-high 27 points to lead Dallas to a shocking 38-22 lead with 11:25 to play in the first half. But the Celtics come storming back, outscoring Dallas 42-19 in the second period, including a 38-11 run. Brad Davis starts in Harper's place and scores nine points with nine assists in 35 minutes. Prior to tonight Harper had started 142-straight games - the fourth-best active run in the NBA. Record is 10-19.

JAN. 7 — Dallas 88, New Jersey 87 (OT). Rolando Blackman connects on a three-pointer with 1.8 seconds left in overtime to give the Mavericks an 88-87 win before 9,055 in the Brendan Byrne Arena. With the Nets leading by two points with 9.4 seconds to play, Rodney McCray blocks a shot attempt by Lester Conner. Alex English - who scores a team-leading/season-high 27 points and grabs a team-leading 12 rebounds - grabs the loose ball and passes to Brad Davis, who hits Blackman in the corner for the winning shot. Blackman shot just 3-of-16 prior to hitting that shot. For the second-straight game the Mavericks are without Derek Harper, who sits out with a strained right groin. Record is 11-19.

JAN. 9 — Dallas 109, Portland 99. With Rolando Blackman and Alex English each scoring a game-high 24 points, the Mavericks turn back the Portland Trail Blazers (who enter with an NBA-best record of 30-5 and a 118.5 ppg scoring average), 109-99 before a sellout in Reunion Arena. Derek Harper, who returns after missing back-to-back games with a strained right groin, leads Dallas down the stretch, scoring 11 of his 17 points in the fourth period. Record is 12-19.

JAN. 12 — Orlando 127, Dallas 103. The Magic's starting backcourt of Nick Anderson and Sam Vincent each pour in 24 points to lead Orlando - which enters the game with a 1-17 road record - to a 127-103 drubbing of the Mavericks before a sellout crowd in Reunion Arena. The 24-point defeat ties the fifth-biggest home loss in Mavericks history. The loss drops the Mavericks record this season vs. Orlando, Minnesota and Miami to 1-6. With 9:59 to play in the fourth period, Brad Davis is ejected from the game - his first ejection of his career. Record is 12-21.

JAN. 16 — San Antonio 100, Dallas 94. Roughly two hours after Operation Desert Storm is launched - signifying the beginning of the Persian Gulf War - the Spurs down the Mavericks 100-94 in San Antonio. Dallas - which scores a season period high 42 points in the third period - leads by as many as 19 points late in the third period and 15 points (85-70) entering the final period. The Mavericks muster a season period low nine points in the fourth period. Mavericks Coach Richie Adubato is so enraged at the officiating he follows the referees off the court at the end of the game. Adubato's conduct results in an NBA fine of $1,500 and a one-game suspension. Both the Channel 11 and WBAP Radio broadcasts are canceled for coverage of the Gulf War. Record is 12-23.

JAN. 18 — L.A. Clippers 119, Dallas 112 (OT). The Mavericks drop their fifth-straight game and fourth-straight home game with a 119-112 overtime loss to the Clippers before a crowd of 16,718. Earlier in the day Mavericks Coach Richie Adubato is fined $1,500 and suspended for tonight's game by the NBA due to his conduct following Wednesday's game at the Spurs. Assistant Coach Gar Heard takes over the club. The game is a battle of the big men as James Donaldson scores 25 points and grabs 18 rebounds and Benoit Benjamin scores a game-high 27 points and grabs 11 boards. Donaldson's 25 points, his high as a Maverick, are his most points since a career-high 29 points on 4/16/83, while a member of the Sonics. Record is 12-24.

JAN. 23 — Cleveland 99, Dallas 85. The Cavaliers enter having lost 19 of their previous 22, but outscore the Mavericks 53-39 in the second half to take a 99-85 decision before 16,210 at Reunion Arena. Earlier in the day Herb Williams - who has missed the last 19 games with bursitis in his right knee - is activated from the injured list. Williams scores eight points with three rebounds in 17 minutes. The loss drops Dallas' home mark to 8-11 - matching the number of home losses it had in all of 1989-90. Record is 13-25.

JAN. 25 — Detroit 84, Dallas 82. Bill Laimbeer hits an off-balance running banker at the buzzer to give Detroit - which enters with an 18-1 home record - an 84-82 win before a sellout crowd at the Palace of Auburn Hills. The Mavericks - who trail by eight points entering the fourth period - tie the game when Brad Davis, who scores a season-high 15 points, hits a three-pointer over 6-11 John Salley with 4.5 seconds to play. Record is 13-26.

JAN. 29 — Dallas 117, Seattle 112. Randy White leads Dallas in scoring for the first time in his career, scoring a career-high 24 points and grabbing eight rebounds to lead Dallas to a 117-112 home win over the Sonics before 15,820 at Reunion Arena. The Mavericks receive an unexpected boost from reserve guard Kelvin Upshaw, who scores 15 points (3-4, 9-9) for the game, including 13 points in five first-half minutes. In a bizarre incident the Mavericks play 10 seconds in the second period with just four players, as Brad Davis exits the court after thinking Blackman had subbed in for him. When Davis realizes what has happened, he races back onto the floor. The Mavericks are assessed a technical for the incident. Record is 15-26.

FEB. 7 — Dallas 102, Golden State 101. The Mavericks enter the All-Star break having won four-of-five after defeating the Warriors 102-101 before 16,101 in Reunion Arena. With the Warriors leading 101-100, Rolando Blackman, who finishes with 14 points on just four-of-14 shooting, knocks down a pair of free throws with 8.6 seconds remaining to give the Mavericks the lead. The Warriors have a chance to win, but Tim Hardaway misses a 30-footer at the buzzer. At 17-27 this ranks as the Mavericks third worst record ever at the All-Star break. (Dallas was 8-35 at the break in '80-81 and 13-29 at break in '81-82.)

FEB. 15 — Dallas 121, Washington 96. The Mavericks hold Bernard King - who comes in averaging 29.7 ppg - to just 14 points and blow out the Bullets 121-96 before a sellout in Reunion Arena. The Mavericks are led by Rolando Blackman, who scores a game-high 28 points on 11-of-13 shooting in 33 minutes. That means from halftime of Wednesday's game at Cleveland through tonight's game Blackman makes 21-of-26 (.808) field goals. Record is 18-29.

FEB. 16 — Dallas 96, San Antonio 94. In one of the most exciting games of the season, Rolando Blackman scores 14 of his season-high 37 points (the most points by a Maverick all season) in the fourth period to lead the Mavericks to a 96-94 win before a sellout crowd in Reunion Arena. Blackman hits a pair of free throws with 20.6 seconds to play to give the Mavericks the lead. San Antonio has a chance to tie, but the Spurs miss three shots in the final seconds, including a jumper by Sean Elliott at the buzzer. Randy White comes off the bench to grab a career-high 15 rebounds for the Mavericks. Blackman becomes the 19th player to score 1,000 points in each of his first 10 seasons. The Spurs play without Terry Cummings and Rod Strickland, both of whom are sidelined with left hand injuries. Record is 19-29.

FEB. 18 — Dallas 107, Golden State 101. The Mavericks win their third-straight game and their seventh in 24 road games with a 107-101 come-from-behind victory before a sellout crowd of 15,022 at Golden State. Derek Harper's back-to-back three-pointers with less than four minutes to play (3:49 to play and 3:15 to play) key the victory. He hits the shots in a 30-second span, then tosses in a jumper after a Rolando Blackman offensive rebound to put Dallas up 99-95 with 2:11 left. English follows that with a layup with 40.8 seconds left to put the game out of reach. The Mavericks battle back from a 16-point (29-13) first period deficit (a period in which Dallas shoots just 37 percent) by shooting almost 60 percent the rest of the game. Record is 20-29.

FEB. 27 — Dallas 108, Indiana 104. The Mavericks - who are without starting forward Rodney McCray (sprained right ankle) - rally from a 15-point deficit (31-16) with 3:22 to play in the first period to win 108-104 in Indiana. Alex English scores eight-straight Dallas points between the 4:08 mark and the 1:40 mark of the fourth period to keep Dallas close. Following two missed free throws by Derek Harper with 23.5 seconds to play and Dallas up 106-102, English grabs his lone offensive rebound of the game - leading to two more Harper free throws with 2:05 to play (both makes) which provide the final margin. Altogether English finishes with 21 points (tying Rolando Blackman for team scoring honors) - the first Maverick starting forward to score 20-plus points since Jan. 29. Record is 21-33.

MARCH 2 — Miami 109, Dallas 103. The Mavericks fall to 2-9 this season vs. Charlotte, Miami, Minnesota and Orlando with a 109-103 loss to the Heat, before a sellout crowd in Reunion. The Mavericks trail by as many as 20 points (89-69 with 11:04 to play) before battling to within 103-98 with 1:02 to play. Richie Adubato is not around to witness Dallas' fourth period run. He is ejected by official Ron Olesiak with 2:58 left in the third period. Herb Williams scores 16 points and leads Dallas with nine rebounds. From this point on Williams averages 17.8 ppg on .552 shooting the rest of the way. Record is 21-35.

MARCH 4 — Dallas 102, New Jersey 100. The Mavericks come back from a 12-point fourth period deficit to beat the Nets 102-100 before 15,770 in Reunion Arena. Rolando Blackman hits two free throws with no time showing on the clock to win the game. Blackman is fouled on a shot at the buzzer by Reggie Theus. Blackman scores 14 of his team-leading 21 points (Derek Harper also scores 21 points) in the fourth period, including all of the team's 12 points in the final 3:37. The win proves costly, though. Harper suffers a second-degree sprain of his right ankle with 2:18 to play in the fourth period. Record is 22-35.

MARCH 7 — Houston 122, Dallas 90. The Mavericks - who play without Roy Tarpley (right knee), Fat Lever (right knee), Derek Harper (sprained right ankle) and with Alex English (who returns from a strained right hamstring) limited to 15 minutes - suffer what will be their second-biggest loss of the season, a 122-90 decision to the Rockets before 14,012 at the Summit. Dallas leads 29-25 at the end of one period, but is outscored 95-61 over the final three periods. Dallas shoots just .374 for the game as its top three reserves (Randy White, Kelvin Upshaw and English) shoot a combined five-of-33 (.152). Record is 22-37.

MARCH 13 — Dallas 98, Seattle 96. Brad Davis connects on an off-balance, driving layup at the buzzer to propel the Mavericks to a 98-96 win before 15,813 in Reunion Arena. Seattle ties the game at 96 when Sedale Threatt hits a three-pointer with 4.4 seconds left. The Mavericks, who trail by as many as 13 points in the game, lead 58-45 with 7:17 left in the third period. The win is the first game of a season-long six-game, 10-day homestand. It also brings Dallas within 6 1/2 games of Seattle for the eighth and final playoff berth in the Western Conference. Record is 23-38.

MARCH 15 — Atlanta 127, Dallas 117. The Mavericks shoot a season-high .600 from the field (Dallas' highest field goal percentage ever in a loss), but lose to the Hawks 127-117 before a sellout crowd in Reunion Arena. With 21 seconds to play in the first period, Moses Malone, who finishes with a game-high 14 rebounds, becomes the fifth player in NBA history to grab 15,000 career rebounds. Record is 23-39.

MARCH 18 — Dallas 104, Sacramento 86. The Kings suffer their NBA record-tying 28th-straight road loss as the Mavericks prevail 104-86 before 15,827 in Reunion Arena. The Mavericks take command early and lead 25-16 after one period. Sacramento - which shoots just .348 (lowest against Dallas this season) for the game - misses its first 10 shots and hits just five-of-27 (.185) field goals in the first period. Kings' Coach Dick Motta is ejected after picking up his second technical foul with 2:47 to play in the second period. It's the Kings' 11th-straight loss in Reunion. Record is 24-40.

MARCH 20 — Phoenix 110, Dallas 96. Herb Williams scores 30 points, but Dallas losses to the Suns 110-96 before a sellout in Reunion Arena. Williams, who shoots 15-of-19 for the night, passes a milestone in the third period. His drive down the lane with 2:23 left pushes him over the 10,000-point plateau for his career. Record is 24-41.

MARCH 22 — Dallas 104, New York 102 (OT). John MacLeod makes his first trip back to Reunion Arena since being dismissed as Mavericks head coach in Nov. 1989, and the Mavericks trip his Knicks 104-102 in overtime before a sellout in Reunion. The Mavericks take a 104-100 lead on a Derek Harper jumper from the top of the key with 11.5 seconds to play in overtime. Trent Tucker misses a three-point attempt and Ewing and Kiki Vandeweghe each miss tip-in attempts at the buzzer. Rolando Blackman passes the 15,000 point mark in career scoring when he hits a 19-foot jumper with 6:59 to play in the first period. Record is 25-41.

MARCH 30 — Seattle 115, Dallas 102. Ricky Pierce scores nine of his 17 points in the fourth period, including a three-point shot and a three-point play, to lead the Sonics to a 115-102 win over Dallas before 11,756 in the Seattle Coliseum. The loss drops Dallas 8 1/2 games behind the Sonics in the race for the eighth and final playoff berth in the Western Conference. Earlier in the morning the Mavericks learn injured forward Roy Tarpley had been stopped by Dallas Police the night before and charged with suspicion of driving while intoxicated. Record is 25-45.

APRIL 2 — Dallas 133, Denver 126. The Mavericks snap a four-game losing streak with a 133-126 win over the last place Nuggets before 16,105 in Reunion Arena. Michael Adams, who fouls out for the first time in his career, sets an opponent record for three-point attempts by shooting four-of-13. Record is 26-45.

APRIL 5 — Utah 93, Dallas 87. The Mavericks lose 93-87 before 16,777 at Reunion Arena, and are eliminated from playoff contention in the Western Conference. Once again the Mavericks are forced to play without a full hand, as this time Rodney McCray, who strained his right quadricep earlier in the day in a walk-through, sits out. Rolando Blackman extends his club-record by starting his 700th game. Earlier in the day the Mavericks learn injured forward Roy Tarpley has been suspended indefinitely without pay by ASAP for non-compliance with his personalized aftercare program. Record is 26-47.

APRIL 9 — Sacramento 113, Dallas 104. Lionel Simmons scores a game-high 35 points - the most points ever scored against Dallas by a rookie - and the Kings down the Mavericks 113-104 before 17,014 in the Arco Arena. Record is 26-49.

APRIL 10 — Utah 97, Dallas 91. The Mavericks lead by 19 points (60-41) with 11:04 to play, but go on to lose 97-91 to the Jazz before 12,616 in Utah. The 19-point lead ties as the third-largest lead the Mavericks have ever lost. On the bright side, by scoring a season-high 34 points, Harper is assured of becoming the first player in NBA history to increase his scoring average in each of his first eight NBA seasons. Record is 26-50.

APRIL 15 — L.A. Lakers 112, Dallas 106. Magic Johnson passes Oscar Robertson to become the NBA's all-time leader in assists and the Lakers go on to beat the Mavericks, 112-106 before 17,505 in the Great Western Forum. Johnson's historic assist - his ninth of 19 on the night (the most assists vs. Dallas all season) - comes with 5:42 remaining in the first half, when Terry Teagle connects on a turnaround jumper. The game is stopped for an 11-minute ceremony. The loss ends a five-game, seven-day road trip which sees Dallas go 0-5. Herb Williams paces Dallas with 11 rebounds. Record 26-53.

APRIL 17 — Dallas 102, Minnesota 100. The Mavericks snap their eight-game losing streak - and snap a four-game losing streak against the Timberwolves - with a 102-100 win before 16,224 in Reunion Arena. Dallas ties the game with 1:00 remaining when Rodney McCray - who missed the previous seven games with a strained right quadricep - nails a 19-foot jumper as the shot clock expires. After Tony Campbell, who scores a game-high 27 points, misses a short jumper and a subsequent tip-in attempt, Derek Harper - who scores all 17 of his points in the second half - knocks down a jumper from the top of the key to put the Mavericks - who shoot .551 for the game - up 102-98 with 24.5 seconds remaining. After Tyrone Corbin misses a post-up jumper, Harper then connects on a pair of free throws to put Dallas up 102-98 with 10.3 seconds to play. Record is 27-53.

APRIL 19 — Dallas 113, Houston 107. The Mavericks conclude their home schedule with a 113-107 win over the Rockets - who enter the game with a 51-29 record - before a sellout in Reunion Arena. The Mavericks lead by as many as 10 points in the fourth period (90-80 with 9:00 to play), thanks to the efforts of a lineup of John Shasky, Jim Grandholm, Kelvin Upshaw, Steve Alford and Alex English. With the Mavericks clinging to a 108-107 lead, Derek Harper, who scores a team-leading 19 points (marking the first time he has led in scoring in six-straight games), hits a 17-footer to put Dallas up 110-107 with 31.5 seconds to play. Vernon Maxwell - who scores a game-high 28 points - sets an NBA record by making his 167th three-pointer of the season with 7:05 to play in the second period. Record is 28-53.

APRIL 21 — San Antonio 135, Dallas 101. The Mavericks end their 11th NBA season with their largest loss of the season, a 135-101 defeat before a sellout in San Antonio. The loss is Dallas' 13th-straight road setback - its longest road losing streak since dropping a club-record 19-straight from Oct. 24, 1980 through Jan. 5, 1981. Dallas - which trails 35-16 at the end of one period - is never really in it, and trails 90-49 with 2:53 to play in the third period. The Mavericks finish the season 28-54, tying for the second worst record in franchise history, also 1981-82 (Dallas was 15-67 in 1980-81).

On Dec. 14 at Portland, Alex English became the eighth player in NBA history to score 25,000 career points.

James Donaldson was the only NBA center to start all 82 games in 1990-91.

Derek Harper averaged 19.7 ppg in 1990-91, becoming the first player in NBA history to improve his scoring average in each of his first eight seasons.

HOW THE MAVERICKS WERE NAMED

In March 1980, radio station WBAP conducted a Name the Mavericks contest. Over 4,600 entries were received and turned over to a five-person committee. The committee narrowed the choices to Mavericks, Wranglers, and Express, ultimately recommending Mavericks to owner Donald Carter. All 41 persons who suggested the name Mavericks were given two tickets to the charter season opener and in a drawing of those 41, Carla Springer was awarded a pair of season tickets.

1989-90 SEASON

Won 47, Lost 35 (third, Midwest) . . . after missing the playoffs in 1988-89 for the first time since 1982-83, the Mavericks returned to postseason action in 1989-90 . . . Dallas was swept, 3-0, in the first round by the eventual Western Conference Champion Portland Trail Blazers . . . on Nov. 29 Richie Adubato replaced John MacLeod as head coach (Dallas was 5-6 under MacLeod) and guided Dallas to a 42-29 (.592) record the rest of the way . . . the Mavericks finished the regular season strong, winning four-straight, 13-of-19 and 30-of-45 since beating the Knicks 117-103 on Jan. 19 in Reunion Arena (Dallas entered that game at 17-20) . . . the Mavericks won 19 of their final 22 at home and broke even (10-10) in their final 20 road games . . . Dallas improved its home record from 24-17 in '88-89 to 30-11 in '89-90, the fourth-best home record in club history . . . the Mavericks allowed just 102.2 points per game, fourth in NBA defense (same ranking as in 1988-89), behind Detroit, Minnesota and Utah . . . was the third-straight year Dallas broke the club defense record . . . Dallas held a club-record 35 opponents under 100 points and a club-record 12 opponents under 90 points . . . the Mavericks averaged just 102.2 points per game (22nd in the NBA), their second-lowest scoring average in club history (club-record low is 101.5 ppg in 1980-81) . . . the Mavericks were held under 100 points a club-record 39 times and under 90 points a club-record 12 times . . . Dallas was 12-27 when held under 100 points, but 35-8 when scoring 100-plus points . . . Dallas won a club-record 15 games when trailing after three periods . . . the Mavericks committed just 15.0 turnovers per game for the second-straight season, tying for fifth in the NBA in that category . . . the Mavericks lost 108 games to injury/illness . . . of those 108 games, Blackman, Dantley, Davis, Donaldson, Perkins, Tarpley and Williams combined for 98 . . . the most frequently used starting lineup was Dantley/Perkins/Donaldson/Harper/Blackman, which was used 31 times . . . the lineup of Dantley/Tarpley/Donaldson/Harper/Blackman started the opener and Tarpley/Perkins/Donaldson/Harper/Blackman started the finale.

1989-90 HIGHLIGHTS

NOV. 15 — Roy Tarpley is arrested in North Dallas for driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

NOV. 16 — Dr. Dave Lewis, medical director of the ASAP Family Treatment Program, suspends Roy Tarpley indefinitely without pay following Tarpley's arrest the night before.

NOV. 25 — Seattle 117, Dallas 70. The Mavericks suffer their second-worst defeat in club history, a 117-70 loss to Seattle in Reunion Arena. The game will turn out to be John MacLeod's last as head coach of the Mavericks. Record is 5-6.

NOV. 29 — John MacLeod is dismissed as head coach.

NOV. 29 — Dallas 102, Charlotte 83. Following the release of John MacLeod, Richie Adubato takes over as the interim head coach. Record is 6-6.

DEC. 4 — Richie Adubato is named coach for the remainder of the season.

DEC. 29 — Portland 144, Dallas 140 (3 OT). The Mavericks play the first triple-OT game in club history and 28 club and arena records fall or are tied in the Mavericks' 144-140 loss to Portland in Reunion Arena. James Donaldson finishes with 19 points and sets club records/career highs with 27 rebounds and 58 minutes. At 3:10 the game ranks as the longest in Mavericks history. Record is 14-13.

JAN. 19 — Dallas 117, New York 103. Brad Davis starts in place of the injured Rolando Blackman (sprained right ankle) and scores 25 points to help propel Dallas to a 117-103 upset over the Knicks, who enter the game with a 26-12 record. Record is 18-20.

JAN. 23 — Dallas 129, Washington 106. Roy Tarpley is removed from the suspended list by Dr. Dave Lewis and sees his first game action since Nov. 14 against Seattle. He plays 12 minutes of the final period, scoring 11 points on five-of-eight shooting. Record is 20-20.

JAN. 26 — Dallas 106, Sacramento 93. Former Mavericks coach Dick Motta makes his return to Reunion Arena as coach of the Sacramento Kings, but the Mavericks spoil it with a 106-93 victory. Record is 21-20.

FEB. 3 — Portland 131, Dallas 100. Adrian Dantley suffers a non-displaced fracture of his right fibula 35 seconds into the game, as the Trail Blazers go on to rout Dallas 131-100 in the Portland Coliseum. Dantley's injury proves to be season-ending. Record is 24-22.

MARCH 25 — Dallas 98, Detroit 96 (OT). Derek Harper scores five points in the last 16.8 seconds to lead the Mavericks to a 98-96 overtime victory over the Detroit Pistons, who enter with the league's best record at 51-16. Harper hits a three-pointer with :16.8 remaining to tie the score at 96. Then, Harper and Herb Williams trap Isiah Thomas. Williams flicks the ball away with :15.5 to go. Harper picks up the loose ball and races downcourt to score the winning basket with 8.1 seconds to play. Record is 38-29.

MARCH 29 — Dallas 109, San Antonio 105. The Mavericks overcome a 16-point deficit and go on to win in San Antonio, 109-105. The comeback ties the second-largest road comback ever. Record is 40-29.

APRIL 4 — Dallas 104, San Antonio 98. The Mavericks tie the biggest comeback in club history — coming from 19 down — to defeat the San Antonio Spurs, who enter with a 48-24 record, 104-98 in Reunion Arena. Record is 42-31.

APRIL 7 — Chicago 109, Dallas 108. John Paxson hits a three-pointer as time expires to give the Bulls their sixth-straight win, a 109-108 decision over the Mavericks in Reunion Arena. Dallas plays without Roy Tarpley, who serves the first game of a two-game suspension (without pay) for missing practice on April 6. Record 42-32.

APRIL 12 — Dallas 140, Golden State 133. Sam Perkins scores a career-high 45 points, including 22 in the first period and 30 in the first half, to lead Dallas to a 140-133 win at Golden State. Record 43-34.

APRIL 15 — Houston's 113-102 loss at the L.A. Lakers allows Dallas to clinch its sixth playoff berth in the last seven seasons.

APRIL 22 — Dallas 118, Charlotte 107. The Mavericks announce before the game that Richie Adubato would be the Mavericks head coach on a permanent basis. Record is 47-35.

1988-89 SEASON

Won 38, Lost 44 (fourth, Midwest) . . . was Dallas' first losing season and first season not to make the playoffs since going 38-44 in 1982-83 . . . the Mavericks won their final three games and four of their last five, but were eliminated from the playoffs on the last night of the season when Portland won at home 126-120 in overtime vs. Sacramento . . . that Portland-Sacramento game was the final installment of the NBA's 1,025-game regular season schedule . . . Dallas dressed a full complement of 12 players in just 23 of 82 games and only three times in the final 36 games (the period after the Feb. 15 Aguirre/Dantley trade) . . . the club lost 141 player-games to injury/illness . . . that's 104 more than 1987-88's total of 37 missed player-games . . . the regular line-up of Dantley, Perkins, Donaldson, Blackman and Harper started just two games . . . attendance averaged 16,953, the fourth-straight season of 99 percent-plus capacity . . . Dallas finished fourth in NBA defense, its best defensive ranking ever, allowing a club record-low 104.7 ppg . . . Dallas also set season club records for lowest defensive shooting percentage (.468, sixth best in the NBA), most games holding the opponent under 100 points (29), and blocked shots (476) . . . the Mavericks started the season 9-3 (the best start in club history) and owned the best record in the Western Conference when they stood 17-9 on Dec. 19 (the latest point in any season for the Mavericks ever to have the best record in the conference) . . . however, by Jan. 11 Dallas had tumbled to eighth in the conference . . . overall Dallas was: 17-32 during Roy Tarpley's suspension, 26-37 in all games without Tarpley, 13-23 after the Aguirre/Dantley trade, 7-17 after Donaldson's knee injury (counting the Houston game he was injured) and 9-21 in all games without Donaldson . . . the lineup of Aguirre, Perkins, Donaldson, Harper and Blackman started 41 games (the most of any unit), including the opener . . . Dantley, Tarpley, Perkins, Harper and Blackman started the finale.

1988-89 HIGHLIGHTS

NOV. 4 — Dallas opens its ninth NBA season by losing 116-113 to the team which defeated it in the 1988 Western Conference Finals, the Los Angeles Lakers. The loss means Dallas opens 0-1 for the first time since 1984.

NOV. 16 — Roy Tarpley undergoes surgery to repair torn cartilage in his left knee. The surgery is performed by team physician J. Pat Evans at Baylor Medical Center.

DEC. 13 — Roy Tarpley returns after missing 14 games (Dallas was 9-5) with cartilage damage to his left knee and leads Dallas to a 117-111 home win over the Warriors. Despite the win, the Mavericks finish their opening stretch of the schedule, where 15 of the first 19 games were at home, with a disappointing 12-7 record.

DEC. 29 — The Mavericks score their season-high in points as Dallas defeats the Celtics for just the second time in club history, 131-115. The Mavericks' record stands at 17-9, the best record in the Western Conference. This is the latest point in any season Dallas has had the best record in the Western Conference.

JAN. 5 — Mavericks forward Roy Tarpley is suspended indefinitely without pay by NBA drug counselors for non-compliance with the aftercare program they had established for him. This is Tarpley's second "strike" under the provisions of the leagues' anti-drug program.

JAN. 12 — The Mavericks absorb their second-largest loss of all-time, 130-95 in Seattle. The loss drops Dallas to 0-6 in January — its worst start ever to begin a month — and is its seventh-straight road loss (its longest road losing streak since April 1983). Record is 17-15.

JAN. 20 — The Mavericks drop their ninth-straight road game, this time a 115-99 loss to the Lakers in the Great Western Forum. The loss assures Dallas of a losing January — the Mavericks' first losing month since Feb. 1986 (breaking a run of 17-straight .500-plus months). Record is 19-17.

JAN. 29 — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar makes his final regular season appearance in Reunion Arena as the Lakers hand Dallas its second-worst home loss ever, 118-93, as a national CBS television audience looks on. Record is 21-19.

FEB. 15 — The Mavericks trade Mark Aguirre to the Detroit Pistons in exchange for forward Adrian Dantley and the Pistons' 1991 first-round draft choice.

FEB. 21 — Dallas trades Detlef Schrempf and its second-round draft choice in either 1990 or 1991 to Indiana in exchange for Herb Williams.

FEB. 23 — Adrian Dantley ends his eight-day holdout by reporting to Dallas. Dantley, who arrives at approximately 10 p.m., holds a news conference at Dallas/Fort Worth International Airport.

MARCH 10 — Only 3:41 into the Mavericks' 96-86 loss at Houston, Mavericks center James Donaldson ruptures the patellar tendon in his right knee, and is carried off the floor on a stretcher. Donaldson is injured after rebounding a missed shot by Sam Perkins. He will miss the rest of the season. Record is 31-28.

MARCH 31 — The Mavericks receive a clutch three-pointer from a wide-open Rolando Blackman with :11 remaining to hold off Indiana, 105-102, and snap the club's 12-game losing streak. Record is 32-39.

APRIL 12 — In Roy Tarpley's first game back after being suspended for the previous 49 games for non-compliance with his individual aftercare program, the Mavericks fall behind early and are never able to catch up as the Suns beat Dallas 109-94. Record is 34-43.

APRIL 23 — The Mavericks finish the regular season with a 113-96 win in Denver, but see their playoff chances dashed when Portland wins at home several hours later vs. Sacramento, 126-120 in the 1,025th and final game of the 1988-89 NBA schedule. Final record is 38-44.

1987-88 SEASON

Won 53, Lost 29 (second, Midwest) . . . advanced to the conference finals for the first time in club history, losing to the eventual world champion Lakers in Dallas' first-ever 7-game series . . . ousted Houston and Denver in the first two rounds of the playoffs, winning four road games in the process . . . the Denver series was the first ever won by Dallas without the benefit of home court advantage . . . in his first year as head coach, John MacLeod became the eighth man in NBA history to inherit a 50-win team, and post 50-plus wins . . . he also became the eighth coach to reach the 600-win milestone (Jan. 13) . . . Aguirre and Donaldson played in All-Star Game in Chicago . . . averaged 16,966, the third-straight year of 99 percent-plus capacity . . . Roy Tarpley won the NBA Sixth Man Award by averaging 13.5 ppg and 11.8 rpg in 28.5 minutes . . . ranked seventh in NBA rebounding, the first non-starter ever among the leaders . . . improved upon the club defense record by 4.1 ppg, allowing just 104.9 ppg — sixth in the NBA (two years ago Dallas placed 21st) . . . also set club records for FG percent defense (.470), rebounding (46.8, tops in NBA) and blocks (446) . . . won a club record 11-straight games from Feb. 14 through March 4 . . . only NBA team to use just 12 players . . . the lineup of Aguirre, Perkins, Donaldson, Harper and Blackman started 56 games, including the opener and finale.

1987-88 HIGHLIGHTS

NOV. 6 — Derek Harper's 25-foot three-pointer with 0:01 left gives the Mavericks a strange, 95-93 opening night win before their 36th-straight Reunion full house. The Mavericks' .347 shooting percentage is the lowest ever in a Dallas win. Record is 1-0.

DEC. 9 — Rolando Blackman's eight points key a club record game-opening 17-0 run to highlight Dallas' 125-98 victory over Sacramento. Dallas has the best record in the conference at 10-5.

JAN. 4 — Rolando Blackman goes out in the third period with a second-degree sprain of the medial collateral ligament in his left knee as the Mavericks lose 117-107 to the Rockets - Dallas' seventh-straight defeat in the Summit. Record is 18-9.

JAN. 13 — Roy Tarpley grabs a then-club record 23 rebounds as the Mavericks survive a homecourt scare to defeat Indiana 110-108 and give Head Coach John MacLeod his 600th career victory. Record is 21-10.

FEB. 1 — Behind a John Bagley triple-double and two key steals by Dudley Bradley in the final 1:37, the Nets stun the Mavericks 108-103 in Reunion and end their 26-game road losing streak. Record is 28-13, the best start in franchise history.

FEB. 6 — On All-Star Saturday in Chicago, Detlef Schrempf places fourth in the 3-point contest and Mark Aguirre is married to Angela Bowman at Grace Episcopal Church in Oak Park, Ill. His wedding party includes Herb Williams, Magic Johnson and Isiah Thomas.

FEB. 7 — Mark Aguirre joins James Donaldson, who replaced the injured Steve Johnson, as a member of the Western Conference All-Star team in the 38th annual All-Star Game. Their efforts are to no avail, however, as the East prevails 138-133.

FEB. 9 — Dallas snaps a four game losing streak and records its largest margin of victory of the season, 124-93, against the Jazz in Reunion. Record is 29-15.

FEB. 12 — Larry Bird cans a 3-pointer with :04 left to give Boston a 105-104 victory. The Mavericks led by 11 with 7:22 to play, but Boston outscores Dallas 22-10 in the last 7:06. Record is 29-17.

FEB. 24 — Rolando Blackman scores his 10,000th career point on a 19-foot jumper at the 11:15 mark of the fourth period as Dallas extends its win streak to six, 93-89 over Cleveland. Record is 35-17.

FEB. 29 — On the day he learns he has been chosen NBA Player of the Week for averaging 17.3 points and 16.8 rebounds, Roy Tarpley contributes 15 points and 21 rebounds to lead Dallas to its club record ninth-straight win, 123-96 over the Nuggets. Record is 38-17.

MARCH 6 — Before the national television cameras of CBS, the Mavericks see their club record 11-game overall winning streak and eight-game home winning streak snapped by the Lakers, 108-97. Record is 40-18.

MARCH 9 — The Mavericks are idle, but clinch their earliest playoff berth in club history when Phoenix and Sacramento lose their games.

MARCH 22 — Roy Tarpley, starting his third-straight game in place of Mark Aguirre (thigh), scores 29 points with a club record/career-high 24 rebounds to lead Dallas to a 124-105 home victory over the Knicks. Record is 44-21.

APRIL 15 — Dallas' 110-day reign as Midwest Division leaders ends as Seattle downs Dallas 115-88 in the Seattle Coliseum. The loss, coupled with Denver's 132-125 victory against the Rockets, puts Denver in first place in the Midwest Division - knocking Dallas out of first for the first time since December 21. Record is 50-27.

APRIL 20 — Magic Johnson hands out 23 assists, breaking the Reunion Arena record and tying the Lakers club record and his regular season career high as the Lakers beat the Mavericks 114-107. Reocrd is 51-29.

APRIL 22 — Dallas finishes its home schedule at 33-8 - the second-best home record in franchise history behind last season's 35-6 - with a 127-96 win against San Antonio. Record is 52-39.

APRIL 23 — Dallas is idle, but Denver defeats the Clippers 134-109 to clinch the Midwest Division and deny the Mavericks their repeat bid.

APRIL 24 — Dallas ensures itself of third place in the Western Conference with a 119-109 road victory over the Spurs in the regular season finale. Final record is 53-29, two games behind last season's 55-27 - the first season in franchise history that Dallas has not bettered or equalled its record from the season before.

1986-87 SEASON

Won 55, Lost 27 (first, Midwest) . . . a disappointing four-game first-round elimination to Seattle followed a year of many milestones: most wins, first division title (won by 11 games, the biggest margin in the Midwest since 1980-81), winningest month ever (12-4 March), best road trip ever (4-1 through the Atlantic and Central in March), first-ever wins in Philadelphia and Milwaukee . . . club never lost more than two in a row in regular season, but dropped three-straight in playoffs to Seattle after setting 11 records in a 151-129 Game One win . . . for the first time two Mavericks (Aguirre, Blackman) played in All-Star Game . . . the 11-win improvement over '85-86 was the NBA's third-biggest jump and the Mavericks' biggest step-up since '81-82 . . . for the fifth-straight year Dallas committed the fewest turnovers in the NBA (14.7) . . . 55-27 was fourth-best record in NBA . . . club best 35-6 at home while selling out all but three games and 954 tickets . . . 20-21 away tied club record . . . attendance of 16,984 is club record . . . defense improved from 21st in NBA to 14th (110.4 ppg) and club records were set for FG% defense, steals, blocks and rebounds . . . for the third-straight year Dallas led the NBA in three-pointers made and attempted with NBA record totals of 231-of-653 . . . James Donaldson shattered the club rebound record averaging 11.9 per game, best in the West and among NBA centers . . . only team to win the season series with the Lakers (3-2) . . . the lineup of Aguirre, Perkins, Donaldson, Harper and Blackman started 70 of 82 games, including the opener and the regular season finale.

1986-87 HIGHLIGHTS

OCT. 31 — The Mavericks record their biggest opening night win, 103-77 vs. Utah as the Jazz shoots an opponent record low .311. Donaldson is the seventh opening night starting center in seven years.

NOV. 6 — The Mavericks drill Seattle 147-124 in the Coliseum. Dallas has a club-record nine players in double figures. Record is 3-1.

NOV. 26 — The Mavericks tie their own club and NBA record with just four turnovers in a 129-117 home win over Sacramento. Record is 8-5.

DEC. 27 — Dallas reaches 10 games over .500 with an easy 123-97 win over Phoenix. The Mavericks complete the month as full-time residents of first place (since 11/29). The home record of 12-1 matches '83-84's start for best ever. Record is 19-9.

JAN. 5 — The home win streak ends at nine with a 144-135 loss to the Indiana Pacers. The 144 points ties the opponent high and is the most points ever allowed by Dallas at home. Record is 21-10.

JAN. 16 — The Mavericks post their first-ever win in Milwaukee, 124-122 in OT as four players score 20-plus points for Dallas. Record is 24-13.

JAN. 26 — It's a big day for headlines as Aguirre and Blackman are named to the All-Star team and Derek Harper signs a 10-year contract.

JAN. 29 — Dallas gets its biggest win ever against Denver, 132-102 in McNichols. It's the biggest home loss in Denver's NBA history, and Dallas' first back-to-back wins in Denver since '82-83. Record is 27-15.

JAN. 30 — The Mavericks earn the first-ever sweep of Milwaukee with a wild 133-117 home win. Detlef Schrempf records the third triple-double in club hisotry. Record is 28-15.

FEB. 2 — In what's perhaps the most significant regular season win ever, the Mavericks earn the season series by beating the Lakers for the third-straight time, 103-99 in the Forum. Record is 29-16.

FEB. 8 — Blackman's two FTs with no time left force OT and the West goes on to win the highest scoring All-Star Game, 154-149 in Seattle.

FEB. 27 — The Mavericks get a 123-110 win over Philadelphia on Julius Erving's last visit to Reunion. Record is 37-19.

MARCH 6 — Despite leading by as much as 15 points in the third period, the Mavericks lose to Detroit for the seventh-straight time, 125-115. James Donaldson grabs 20 rebounds and surpasses Jay Vincent's 1984-85 single season record of 704 boards. Record is 39-21.

MARCH 13 — The Mavericks set the NBA single-season three-point field goal record at 178, but lose for the third time in four games and end a 7-game home winning streak, 113-105 to Atlanta. Record is 40-23.

MARCH 17 — The Mavericks celebrate St. Patrick's Day by wearing their green warmups and by clinching their fourth-straight playoff berth with a 114-96 home win over Chicago. Record is 42-23.

MARCH 23 — The Mavericks get their first win in seven games in the Spectrum by defeating Philadelphia, 103-100. Record is 45-23.

MARCH 24 — Aguirre scores a Meadowlands record-tying 43 points as Dallas wins its sixth-straight, 119-107 over NJ. Record is 46-23.

MARCH 28 — Dick Motta gets his 800th NBA win as the Mavericks defeat Washington 114-107 in the Cap Centre. Record is 47-24.

APRIL 3 — History is made as the Mavericks beat GS 136-116 for their 50th win and wrap up their first Midwest Division title. Record is 50-24.

APRIL 7 — Dick Motta is suspended for the April 8 game at Utah by the NBA and the Mavericks are fined $5,000 for Motta's recent public statements which suggested the Houston Rockets didn't try to win in a 117-104 loss April 1 at Phoenix.

APRIL 18 — Dallas closes out its most successful season by beating the Sacramento Kings 125-121 in Reunion. The win closes the season at 55-27, giving the Mavericks 11 more victories than last season.

1985-86 SEASON

Won 44, Lost 38 (3rd Midwest) . . . a repeat of the 1984-85 record and fourth place playoff seed . . . club failed in its bid to become just the fourth team in NBA history to improve five-straight years . . . eliminated Utah in the first round of the playoffs 3-1, then lost to the Lakers 4-2 in the conference semi-finals . . . averaged 16,904 fans per game, second in the league to Detroit (16,957) . . . Dallas sold out 31 of 41 dates and filled Reunion Arena to 99.4 percent of its capacity — an NBA record for a building of Reunion's size . . . home record was 26-15, with seven losses coming against teams which finished the year with losing records . . . on Nov. 25 Dallas traded Kurt Nimphius to the Clippers for 7-2 center James Donaldson . . . Donaldson's strength gave the Mavericks a new dimension and he finished ninth in NBA boards (9.6) — the first Maverick ever among rebound leaders . . . Dallas was 12-22 vs. teams which posted winning records and 3-12 vs. the division winners . . . regular season highlight was March 10th's 116-115 home win over Boston . . . that night, Dallas, playing without Mark Aguirre (ill) overcame 50 points from Larry Bird and a 13-point deficit in the last 5:37 for first-ever win vs. Celts . . . Dallas averaged 115.3 ppg, second to the Lakers but allowed 114.2 ppg — 21st in defense . . . the Mavericks averaged 15.7 turnovers, the fewest in the NBA for the fourth-straight year . . . for the second-straight year Dallas led the NBA in 3-pointers made and attempted with 141-of-446 . . . Dallas was the only team to place two scorers in the top 15: Aguirre 12th (22.6) and Blackman 15th (21.5) . . . Mark Aguirre was suspended for two games on Dec. 21 after refusing to play the second half of the Dec. 19 win at Atlanta . . . Blackman made his second-straight All-Star Game appearance, this time before the Reunion faithful . . . Brad Davis won his fifth-straight Favorite Maverick Award . . .

1985-86 HIGHLIGHTS

OCT. 26: The Mavericks open their sixth season with their sixth different center, as Wallace Bryant starts in the middle vs. Seattle. Dallas comes from 11 down to win 101-95.

NOV. 7: The Mavericks are decimated 131-99 in Denver. The defeat is the biggest loss of the year. Record is 2-4.

NOV. 23: Aguirre has the second triple-double in club history (25 pts., 13 rebounds, 12 assists) as Dallas handles Indiana 117-104 in Reunion. Record is 6-7.

NOV. 29: The Mavericks drill Sacramento 133-111 in Reunion, and play the last 4:17 with a lineup which averages nearly 6-11. Record is 6-11.

DEC. 10: After a storm knocked out the Sports Arena lights, Dallas squandered a 17-point third period lead to lose 120-118 at the L.A. Clippers. Record is 11-10.

DEC. 14: The Mavericks clobber Denver 127-100 in Reunion. Newly acquired center James Donaldson pulls down a career-high and club-record 22 rebounds. Record is 12-11.

DEC. 19: Dallas wins in Atlanta 120-108. Motta pulls Aguirre with 4:19 left in the second after Aguirre fails to get back on defense. The day before in Boston, Motta and Aguirre had agreed that lapses in concentration would result in Aguirre's benching. Aguirre chooses to sit out the second half which results in a two game suspension. Record is 13-12.

JAN. 11: Sam Perkins scores a career-high 32 points as Dallas beats Golden State 127-123 at home in a see-saw overtime battle. Record is 17-16.

JAN. 19: The year's biggest Maverick win: 131-96 over Houston. Record is 19-18.

JAN. 22: Dallas loses at home to the Clippers 131-118. Harper starts in place of Davis. Until then, Davis had started 120-straight games since being rested in the April '84 finale. Record is 19-20.

FEB. 9: The Mavericks and Reunion Arena play host to the 36th annual NBA All-Star Game before 16,573. The East wins 139-132 in a game that's close all the way. The Mavericks' Blackman receives a tremendous ovation during the intros and goes on to score 12 points in 22 minutes while adding eight assists.

FEB. 17: Dallas comes from behind to win 126-124 at New Jersey. Blackman sets club records for free throw makes and attempts with 22-of-23 and the Mavericks set team records and NBA season-highs with 51-of-58. Record is 29-23.

FEB. 28: The Mavericks lose 123-120 at home to Philadelphia on a 50-foot shot by Julius Erving with no time remaining on the clock. Record is 29-29.

MARCH 3: The Mavericks open up a four game road trip with a 139-138 double-OT win at Phoenix. Blackman's driving slam with eight seconds left proved to be the game winner. Aguirre scored 42 to give him back-to-back 40 point games (2nd time in career). It was also the longest game in Maverick history, taking 3:06 to play. Record is 31-29.

MARCH 10: The Mavericks, playing without Mark Aguirre, beat the Celtics for the first time, 116-115 despite a Reunion Arena record-tying 50 points by Larry Bird. Dallas, which now has beaten all 22 NBA opponents, came back from 13 points down in the final 5:37. Record is 34-30.

MARCH 27: The Mavericks clinch their third-straight playoff berth with a 110-105 win at New York. Aguirre scores three of the Mavericks' Madison Square Garden record six three-pointers. Record is 40-33.

APRIL 13: The Mavericks close out the season with a 127-104 win, boosted by a season-high 74 points in the 2nd half, at the Lakers to finish 44-38, identical to last year's record. Eight players scored in double figures to tie the club record while also committing a season-low eight turnovers.

1984-85 SEASON

Won 44, Lost 38 (3rd, Midwest) . . . Mavericks improve their record for the fourth-straight year — only the 10th time that's ever happened in the NBA . . . 20-21 road mark set franchise record and was fifth-best in NBA . . . mysteriously, club fell from 31-10 at home in '83-84 to 24-17 . . . 11 of 17 home defeats came by 10 points or more and nine of the losses were to losing teams . . . the Mavericks averaged 16,694 fans per game, 98 percent of Reunion's capacity and second in the NBA to Detroit . . . it was a "streakless" year — the longest winning streak was four-straight and the longest losing streak was three in a row . . . for the third-straight year, the Mavericks made the fewest turnovers in the NBA, this time with an NBA record low of 14.4 per game . . . Mavericks became first NBA team to have four players make at least 20 three-pointers (Davis 47, Ellis 42, Aguirre 27, Harper 21) . . . the Mavericks' 152 three-pointers led the NBA and were the third-most since the NBA adopted the three-pointer in '79-80 . . . whenever the Mavericks scored 125-plus at home and won, everybody got a coupon from Pizza Hut for free pizza . . . it happened four times in the regular season and on each occasion Dale Ellis hit the "pizza bucket" . . . Sam Perkins made the all-rookie team . . . Brad Davis won his fourth-straight Favorite Maverick Award . . . Dallas was 30-1 when outshooting the opponent . . . 5-5 vs. Atlantic and 19-11 vs. Pacific were club's best records ever against those divisions . . . Dallas was the NBA's healthiest team, losing only six player-games to injury . . . carried 11 players after waiving Howard Carter in December . . . opening game starters: Aguirre, Vincent, Perkins, Davis, Blackman . . . final game starters: Vincent, Perkins, Bryant, Davis, Blackman . . . most frequently used starting lineup: Aguirre, Vincent, Nimphius, Davis, Blackman.

1984-85 HIGHLIGHTS

OCT. 27: A national CBS audience watches Houston hand Dallas a 121-111 opening day loss as Akeem Olajuwon debuts with 24 points.

NOV. 13: Dallas stages its biggest comeback ever, rising from 19 down to win in Portland, 101-94. The Mavericks trail 36-17 with 9:11 left in the second and outscore the Blazers 34-20 in the fourth. Record is 6-5.

DEC. 15: With Aguirre out with a sore knee, Dallas falls 117-115 in Houston. The Mavericks shoot 4-of-5 3-pointers and would make at least one 3-pointer in all but four of the final 58 games. Record is 12-12.

DEC. 18: Aguirre's pulled for not hustling in Dallas' 110-96 loss at Milwaukee as Ellis (23 points) starts the second half. Record is 12-13.

JAN. 3: Dallas loses at San Antonio 116-115 as Ellis misses a free throw at 0:03 which would have completed a 4-point play. Ellis was fouled by Moore while making a 24-footer with Dallas trailing, 116-112. Record is 15-16.

JAN. 7: Dallas beats Seattle 102-84 in a game which took just 1:40 — the club's quickest game ever. Seattle was 2-of-4 from the line as Dallas made just 8 personals — one off the NBA record low. Record is 17-16.

JAN. 13: Dallas' 124-101 win over Portland is highlighted by Ellis' club record six 3-pointers. Dallas (7-of-12) and Portland (4-of-12) combine to set NBA records for 3-pointers made and attempted by two teams in a game. Ellis has 27 points in 20 minutes. Record is 20-17.

JAN. 15: Dallas' 149-104 win at GS is the biggest in club history and club records for points in a half (87, 2nd) and quarter (51, 4th) are set. The 149 points ties for the club scoring record. Record is 21-17.

JAN. 28: Aguirre learns he's not on the all-star team and takes it out on Philly with a club record 49 points in Dallas' 111-109 home win. It's decided when Cheeks misses a 22-footer at the horn. Record is 24-21.

FEB. 3: Motta's new lineup leads Dallas to a 114-106 home win over Denver. Perkins is inserted at big forward with Vincent accepting the sixth man role. Wallace Bryant who has played in just 21 of the first 47 games, starts at center in place of Nimphius. Perkins has 18 points and 16 rebounds while Vincent has 24 and 13. Record is 25-23.

FEB. 10: Blackman has 15 points in 23 minutes as the West All-Stars defeat the East 140-129 before 43,146 in the Hoosier Dome.

FEB. 25: Aguirre (28.8 ppg) is player of week as Dallas goes 4-0.

MARCH 1: Denver comes from 23 down in the last 17 minutes of regulation to win 141:140 in OT in Reunion. Dallas leads 91-68 with 5:23 left in the third and 100-85 entering the fourth. Mike Evans scores 16 of his career-high 38 (he made 5-of-7 3-pointers for the game) as Denver outscores Dallas 41-26 in the fourth. Elston Turner haunts his old team in the last 40 seconds of OT with two freebies and a jumper. Aguirre scores 46. Record is 32-27.

MARCH 10: Dick Motta becomes the fourth head coach to win 700 games, as Dallas wins at NJ 126-113. Record is 35-29.

MARCH 23: The long-awaited Michael Jordan Show turns out to be the Steve Johnson Show, as Chicago defeats Dallas 107-97 in Reunion. Johnson scores a season-high 31 points on 12-of-13 shooting. Jordan has 20 points, 9 rebounds, and 10 assists, but shoots 5-of-17. Record is 40-32.

APRIL 6: In a wild home finale, Dallas loses 139-127 in double-OT to Houston. Seven technicals are called — and all six of Earl Strom's are on Dallas. Mark Aguirre is ejected at the half and Dick Motta with 4:18 to play in regulation. Harper, Blackman, and Lionel Hollins are also whistled, and luckily the Chicken is on hand to divert the crowd's attention. Vincent misses a jumper at the buzzer in regulation. Davis misses a shot at the horn of the first OT. After a 121-all tie with 3:59 left in the 2nd OT, Houston runs off 13 unanswered points. Final record is 42-36.

Ellis set an NBA record with 8-straight three-pointers between March 30 and April 15.

1983-84 HIGHLIGHTS

SEPT. 28: NBA and Players Association sign anti-drug agreement.

OCT. 30: Mavericks lose 123-101 at SA . . . Jay Vincent tears his right calf muscle, misses the next five games, and doesn't return to form until April.

NOV. 15: David Stern named to succeed Larry O'Brien as commissioner.

NOV. 28: Mark Aguirre named NBA player of the week after 28.7 ppg and 6.7 ppg while Dallas went 3-0.

DEC. 1: Dick Motta named NBA/Haggar coach of the month for 11-4 start.

DEC. 2: Dallas wins 133-115 at LA behind Aguirre's 42 . . . Lakers lead 101-100 after three before Dallas outscores them 33-17 in fourth.

DEC. 3: Club record winning streak reaches eighth and final game with a 110-100 home win over Chicago. The streak, which began Nov. 17, will end with a 112-103 loss at KC on Dec. 6.

DEC. 7: Mavericks lose first home game, 114-112 to Washington, after an 11-0 beginning in Reunion.

DEC. 9: Referee labor dispute is settled.

DEC. 11: Aguirre follows a Dec. 10 40-point game at GS, with 40 more in a 118-116 loss at SD. Is first Maverick to score 40-plus in consecutive games.

JAN. 6: Aguirre has 38 points (16-of-25 FGs) and adds 10 assists in a 123-106 win at SD. Motta: "In my career I have had one other player play like that for me. It was Elvin Hayes one night in Washington when he scored 52. I don't know of many guys who score that many points and take so few shots and still get 10 assists." . . . the win is 100th in club history.

JAN. 15: Dallas runs its home record to 17-2 with a 126-107 Sunday afternoon win over Denver — one of two 19-point wins in '83-84 . . . next 11 home dates, Dallas will go 5-6.

JAN. 24: Dallas beats Utah 123-115 in Las Vegas . . . Motta upstages the Chicken while the mascot is performing his referee "Whip It" routine . . . during a timeout, Motta walks out on the floor and kicks the Chicken's referee doll.

JAN. 25: Mavericks go to all-star break 25-19 after Pat Cummings' beats GS with a baseline jumper at the buzzer . . . final at Reunion was 112-110 in OT.

JAN. 29: Aguirre is first Maverick to play in the All-Star Game, scoring 13 points in 13 minutes in Denver.

FEB. 1: Bernard King scores a Reunion record 50 points (20-of-28 FGs), his second-straight 50-point outing, as NY prevails 105-98.

FEB. 15: Dallas beats Philly for first time ever, 119-116 in double-OT in Reunion . . . Aguirre leads with 33.

FEB. 25: Mavericks win at Utah 97-95 as Blackman tips in an Aguirre 3-point miss at the horn.

MARCH 7: The 0-7 Cleveland jinx ends with a 115-103 Reunion win.

MARCH 10: Blackman scores a career-high 43 in 120-103 home win over GS.

MARCH 13: For the fourth time in 28 days, Dallas goes into double-OT . . . for the third time the Mavericks lose, this time 137-131 at SA.

MARCH 24: Aguirre sets club records with 24 first quarter points, 32 first half points, and 46 in the game in a 119-101 home win over Denver . . . Blackman adds 38, so he and Aguirre combine for a club record 84.

APRIL 1: Mavericks lose fourth-straight, 102-98 at Washington, but earn their first playoff berth when GS loses to LA.

APRIL 6: Dallas ends a five-game losing streak with a 131-118 win over SA . . . for the second time in club history, four players, led by Aguirre's 33, score 20-plus.

APRIL 12: Mavericks lose 119-118 at Phoenix as Pat Cummings misses a lay-in at the buzzer . . . a win would have locked up the playoff homecourt advantage.

APRIL 13: Mavericks beat Lakers 104-103 to take the season series 3-2 and clinch the homecourt advantage in the playoffs.

Davis is one of six players to place among the top 10 in three different statistical categories . . . he was eighth in FG percentage (.572, an all-time NBA record for guards), 10th in assists (7.2), and sixth in FT percentage (.845) . . . placed fifth in the league in offense (112.7 ppg) and committed fewer turnovers (16.4 per game) than any team in the league . . . Aguirre (24.4) and Vincent (18.7) combined for 43.1 ppg — 55.1 ppg combo . . . Dallas was 1-30 if trailing entering the fourth quarter, and was tied or ahead at one point in the fourth quarter during 23 of 44 losses . . . Motta became fifth NBA coach to log 600 career wins on January 18 at Golden State . . . opening game starters: Garnett, Aguirre, Nimphius, Davis, Blackman . . . final game and most frequently used starting lineup: Vincent, Aguirre, Cummings, Davis, Blackman.

1982-83 HIGHLIGHTS

NOV. 17: Mavericks sneak up on the defending world champion Lakers to win 118-117 after trailing by 16 points midway through the third period. Mark Aguirre hits three-point shots with 17 seconds left and one second left.

DEC. 29: Mavericks lose to the Philadelphia 76ers in overtime by a 126-116 score in Reunion. Brad Davis ties the game by dropping in a 30-foot three-pointer at the buzzer in regulation. Mavericks miss their first eight shots in the overtime and the Sixers score the first 10 points of the extra period.

JAN. 12: Mavericks break a streak of 12 losses in 14 games, edging San Diego 112-110 behind Aguirre's five points in the final 23 seconds. His three-pointer ties it, and his jumper from the corner with one tick left wins it.

JAN. 14: Mavericks break virtually every club offensive record in 149-139 win over Denver. Records fall with 149 points, 85 first-half points, 65 field goals, 45 assists, and 64 percent shooting. The two teams combine for Mavericks game records 288 points and 62 percent shooting. Dallas leads 85-75 at halftime. Ten days ago the Mavericks totaled 84 points in a loss at Washington. Aguirre scores the first "triple-double" in franchise history with 30 points, 11 rebounds, and 16 assists. Blackman leads in scoring with 31 points but suffers a sprained ankle which will sideline him for three games.

JAN. 18: Dick Motta becomes the fifth coach to log 600 wins as Dallas knocks off Golden State 112-102 in Oakland.

JAN. 22: Mavericks pound Utah 126-88. The 38-point win is biggest ever.

JAN. 26: Dallas finishes off a club-record five-game winning streak by beating the Kings in Kansas City 125-115. Aguirre leads with 35 points.

FEB. 2: Deja vu in Reunion. The Lakers return only to be victimized by Jay Vincent's buzzer-beating jump shot over Kareem. Vincent makes the shot after rebounding a Brad Davis miss, and Dallas wins 122-120. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar leads the Lakers with 34 points on 14-of-16 shooting. Game is Abdul-Jabbar's first since his $1 million Bel-Air home burned down.

FEB. 6: Mark Aguirre scores a team-record 44 points to lead the Mavericks to their first-ever win at Portland. Final is 112-105.

FEB. 8: Mavericks win for the first time in Phoenix, 112-100. This game marks the only occasion all season when the Mavericks win after trailing going into the fourth quarter. The Suns led 76-73 after three periods.

FEB. 9: Mavericks hit the all-star break with a 122-113 win over the Detroit Pistons. This is the 12th win in the last 15 games and catapults the Mavericks into second place in the Midwest Division.

FEB. 23: Mavericks are shown how far they are from the league's elite teams as they are pasted by the 76ers 133-101 at the Spectrum. The loss is the worst of the season and third-worst all-time.

MARCH 2: Mavericks withstand a one-man assault by Gus Williams to edge the SuperSonics 108-105. Observers feel Williams' 38 points may be the best individual performance against Dallas this season.

MARCH 4: Bucks rally behind Sidney Moncrief to pull out a 108-102 win over Reunion before the season's sixth and final sellout. Marks the first capacity crowd for an opponent other than Boston, Philly, or Los Angeles.

MARCH 26: Kansas City Kings break Dallas' back 114-111 before 14,574 in Reunion. This game starts the Mavericks' seven-game tailspin that took the club out of the playoff hunt. The game was decided on a critical call by referee Ed Middleton. With eight seconds left and Dallas trailing 112-111, K.C.'s Joe C. Meriweather tied up the driving Brad Davis. A jump ball was whistled, the 6-10 Meriweather controlled it, and the Kings completed a come-from-behind win 114-111. Dallas had led 99-89 with 8:19 to play.

APRIL 9: Mavericks snap a seven-game losing streak by surprising the Midwest Division champion Spurs in San Antonio 122-111.

APRIL 16: Mavericks close it out before 14,453 Reunion fans who give the club the now-traditional pregame standing ovation. Unfortunately, losing these emotional home finales is also becoming tradition. For the third straight year the Mavericks aren't even in the final home game and lose this one 132-120. San Antonio shoots an NBA record .707 from the floor.

END QUOTE: "I want to thank our fans for accepting us for what we are, a third-year expansion team that scrapped and hustled and overachieved our way to a pretty-nice season."
— Head Coach Dick Motta

1981-82 HIGHLIGHTS

OCT. 30: The Mavericks open their second season at Utah, but the debut of the new-look Mavericks (they premiered the green road uniforms after wearing blue the first year) is spoiled. Adrian Dantley (39 points) does his usual routine on Dallas and Utah bounced back from a 15-1 first period deficit to bomb Dallas 105-89. Mark Aguirre leads Dallas with 19 points in his first regular season game.

NOV. 14: Mark Aguirre scores 42 points, then a club record, but the script remains the same. Dallas falls for the seventh-straight time, 118-112 to Golden State at home and the season record slips to 1-8.

NOV. 28: The Mavericks break their 12-game losing streak (will be the longest of the year) with a 111-107 homecourt win over New Jersey. The victory comes after losing 12 of the first 13 games of the season. Jersey City native Jim Spanarkel becomes the first veteran to lead Dallas in scoring with 20 points. Record is 2-13.

DEC. 8: Mavericks enjoy their first blow-out at home, spanking Utah 128-103 (at the time the largest margin of victory ever). The club shoots 62 percent from the floor (at the time a club record) and Aguirre leads seven double figures scorers with 24 points. Record goes to 4-15.

DEC. 9: Aguirre breaks the fifth metatarsal bone in his right foot in the fourth quarter of the Mavericks' 113-109 overtime loss at Kansas City. The injury will sideline Aguirre for two months (31 games). Dallas squanders a three-point lead in the last 20 seconds. Rolando Blackman leads Dallas with 23 points. Record is 4-16.

DEC. 15: Mavericks grab their first of 12 road wins, 107-102 at Washington. Jay Vincent, starting in place of Aguirre, leads the way with 31 points and 13 rebounds. This is the first of 15 games with 30 or more points for Vincent. Record is 5-18.

DEC. 29: Mavericks close out '82 by drubbing KC 104-92 in Reunion. Vincent scores a career-high 41 points on 15-of-22 shooting. Dick Motta gets tossed for the second time this season. Assistant Coach Bob Weiss' record goes to 2-0 as the club improves to 7-22.

JAN. 20: Mavericks come back from 15 points down in the third period to upset eventual Midwest Division champion Milwaukee 109-104 in Reunion. Vincent's 21 leads six Mavericks in double figures. Record is 10-28.

JAN. 26: Dallas wins fourth-straight game (at the time a club record) by beating the Hawks 90-88 in Atlanta. The Vincent and Bristow show is becoming popular. Jay has 30 points, Allan has 15 points, 10 boards, and eight assists. Record is 13-28, and 12-15 since the 1-13 start.

FEB. 15: NBA office announces Jay Vincent is the first Maverick ever to receive an NBA/Pepsi Challenge player-of-the-week award. The first rookie to earn the honor this season, Vincent averaged 32.3 ppg, 7.3 rebounds, and shot 58 percent as the Mavericks gunned down Seattle, and won at New Jersey.

FEB. 20: Mark Aguirre returns after missing 31 games with a broken bone in his right foot. He scores seven points in 15 minutes off the bench as Cleveland beats the Mavericks 116-109 in Richfield. Aguirre will come off the bench the rest of the season. Record is 17-35.

FEB. 21: Mavericks blister the Bulls 113-97 in Chicago as General Manager Rod Thorn takes over for fired Head Coach Jerry Sloan. Brad Davis scores a career-high 32 points on 14-of-17 shooting. At one point Davis makes 11 straight field goals. Aguirre returns home for the first time with 14 points and seven assists in 21 minutes. Record is 18-35.

MARCH 17: Brad Davis' 80-foot basket to end the first-half is the only highlight as Chicago gets 102-92 revenge in Reunion.

MARCH 23: Mavericks pull off perhaps the biggest win in franchise history when Aguirre's three-pointer with seven seconds left gives Dallas a 118-116 win over the eventual world champion Lakers in the Forum. The victory ends the Lakers nine-game domination over Dallas.

APRIL 17: Mavericks finish 28-54, 13 games better than the charter season, after losing 130-124 in Denver. McNichols Arena is stuffed with 17,004 playoff-crazed fans. Vincent leads Dallas with 26 points.

END QUOTE: "Our team is a credit to the league in the way they play. They are a credit to our sport. I don't mean to sound corny, but they are."

– Dick Motta following the 100-94 win on January 21 at Kansas City

1980-81 DALLAS MAVERICKS

1980-81 SEASON

Won 15, Lost 67 (sixth, Midwest) . . . set NBA expansion home attendance record by averaging 7,789 fans . . . used 21 players . . . Spanarkel (14.4 points) and LaGarde (8.1 rebounds) were statistical leaders and only players to see action in all 82 games . . . LaGarde started all 82 . . . Abdul Jeelani scored first points in club history . . . Spanarkel placed fourth in NBA free throw accuracy (.889) . . . 47 of 82 games (57 percent) were decided by 10 points or less . . . opening game starters: Whitehead, Jeelani, LaGarde, Huston, Boynes . . . final game starters: LaGarde, Spanarkel, Lloyd, Mack, Davis . . . most frequently used starting lineup: LaGarde, Spanarkel, Lloyd, Mack, Huston.

1980-81 HIGHLIGHTS

OCT. 11: Mavericks win their historic charter season opener by stunning eventual Midwest Division champion San Antonio 103-92. Winford Boynes leads Dallas with 21 points. Tom LaGarde adds 19 points and 14 rebounds. An opening-night crowd of 10,323 on Texas-OU football game day watches George Gervin lead all scorers with 33 points.

OCT. 15: Mavericks get a rough indoctrination to life on the NBA road, losing 133-98 to Denver in first away game.

OCT. 22: Mavericks win their first of four charter-season road victories, 107-102 before 14,125 disbelieving fans in the Seattle Kingdome. Richard Washington's 24 points off the bench (including 12 in the third quarter) provide the punch.

NOV. 8: Dick Motta joins Red Auterbach, Red Holzman and Gene Shue as the fourth coach to log 1,000 career NBA games. Ironically, Motta gets ejected by referee Tommy Nunez and misses most of the fourth quarter. Mavericks lose to Detroit in the Silverdome 101-73.

DEC. 2: Mavericks sign guard Brad Davis off the Anchorage Northern Knights roster (CBA). Soured after stops in several NBA and CBA outposts, Davis had to be coaxed into signing with the Mavericks by Assistant Coach Bob Weiss, a former 12-year NBA pro who did some time in the minors. Davis had planned on retiring from basketball in the spring to pursue his education. He goes on to play in 56 games, starting the final 26. Davis leads the Mavericks in assists and field goal percentage. Terry Duerod is released to make room for Davis.

DEC. 10: Mavericks trade unsigned 1980 first-round draft choice Kiki Vandeweghe and Dallas' 1986 first-round draft choice in exchange for the Nuggets' first-round picks in 1981 and 1985. Kiki suits up for Denver against Dallas that night and scores six points in 19 minutes as the Nuggets beat the Mavericks 116-107 in Denver.

JAN. 16: Mavericks win back-to-back games for the first time, knocking off the Knicks 118-110 before 10,473 in Reunion. Fourth-quarter specialist Abdul Jeelani personally outscores the New Yorkers 21-20 in the final period.

FEB. 4: On the most forgettable night of the charter season, the Houston Rockets clobber the Mavericks 116-68 in the Summit. Dallas shoots 32 percent on the way to its worst loss.

FEB. 22: Mavericks snap a 15-game losing streak (their longest of the season) by drubbing New Jersey 132-109 at Rutgers. The 23-point win is the biggest of the season.

MARCH 12: Golden State's Purvis Short scores a Reunion Arena record 45 points before fouling out with better than seven minutes left in the Mavericks' 120-118 win.

MARCH 17: Kareem, Magic, and the defending NBA champion Lakers attract an NBA home expansion record 17,828 fans to Reunion Arena. The bad guys win 114-109.

END QUOTE: "This is the best group of pros I've ever worked with. I don't think in 20 years I'll be able to look back and say I've ever had a better bunch. None of you knew you belonged before this season started, and now that you know you do, you have a reason to be proud of yourselves."

– Dick Motta to the Mavericks after the 105-95 come-from-behind win over Utah on March 21, 1981

OLYMPICS DID YOU KNOW?

Rolando Blackman and Rodney McCray were members of the 1980 U.S. team which boycotted the Moscow Olympics . . . Richie Adubato considers Chuck Daly the perfect choice to coach the 1992 U.S. Olympic team. "I think the most important prerequisite for a coach in the NBA these days is understanding people. It's a very complex job. You have people that you have to blend together and before you can get to the Xs and Os, you have to have chemistry and camaraderie. Chuck Daly is a master at putting people together, understanding their moods and emotions and getting the most out of the team."

Norm Sonju, Donald Carter, NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien and Mavericks VP/Counsel Doug Adkins sign the franchise charter agreement on May 1, 1980.

KEY DATES IN FOUNDING OF THE MAVERICKS

April 1978: Dallas Mayor Robert Folsom and Buffalo Braves President/GM Norm Sonju meet regarding the possibility of moving the Braves to Dallas.

July 11, 1978: The Buffalo Braves move to San Diego and become the Clippers, ruling out the possibility of Dallas landing an established NBA franchise. Sonju directs the Braves' move to San Diego.

October 1978: Sonju travels to Dallas to investigate the possibility of NBA expansion.

February 18, 1979: Carter hires Sonju as general manager. Sonju begins the full-time push to bring an NBA expansion team to Dallas.

June 18, 1979: Carter, Sonju and attorney Doug Adkins travel to New York City to meet with the NBA expansion committee. The $8 million cash offer is not accepted by the NBA.

July 18, 1979: Carter, Sonju and Adkins meet and decide that Sonju should continue the quest for an expansion team utilizing a 24-unit ownership model.

September 27, 1979: Sonju meets with the NBA expansion committee in Chicago. The terms are basically agreed upon: If Sonju gets the financial backing, Dallas gets the franchise.

January 8, 1980: Sonju meets with the expansion committee in New York City again. He is told Dallas will receive the 11th draft choice, not the first as was originally planned.

February 2, 1980: Sonju travels to Washington, D.C. for the All-Star Game meetings with all 24 units sold. He is told each team will be permitted to protect eight players in the dispersal draft, not seven as originally planned. The financial terms also are changed substantially.

April 15, 1980: Carter, Sonju and Adkins meet at Coco's at LBJ & Midway. They write the deal on a napkin and send the proposal to Portland Trail Blazers Owner Larry Weinberg, chairman of the expansion committee.

April 28, 1980: Reunion Arena opens its doors. Mayor Folsom, Lamar Hunt and Sonju speak at the dedication.

April 28, 1980: The check is sent and the league notifies Carter, Sonju and Adkins that Dallas has a team.

May 1, 1980: A news conference is held at Union Station to sign the franchise agreement and announce the team name, colors and logo.

May 28, 1980: The dispersal draft is conducted during the league meetings in Los Angeles.

June 10, 1980: Kiki Vandeweghe is the first player selected by Dallas in the college draft. On Dec. 10, 1980 the unsigned Vandeweghe was traded to Denver in a deal which eventually brought Rolando Blackman to Dallas.

July 17, 1980: A news conference is held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel to introduce Head Coach Dick Motta and Assistant Coach Bob Weiss.

September 8, 1980: Seven rookies and seven veterans take part in the first organized workout. The camp is held at Royal Haven Baptist Church.

September 20, 1980: The Mavericks win their first-ever preseason game, defeating Denver 122-98 at Oklahoma University's Lloyd Noble Center. Jerome Whitehead leads the Mavericks with 13 points.

September 26, 1980: The Mavericks make their Dallas debut in the second game of an NBA preseason doubleheader, losing to Philadelphia 113-108 before 15,634 fans. The twin bill marks the first basketball ever played in Reunion Arena. Houston stops Kansas City 128-106 in the opener.

The first Maverick ever to hand out 10-plus assists was not Brad Davis. It was not even a guard. It was 6-10 center Scott Lloyd. He dished out a career-high 10 assists vs. the Lakers in the Forum on Nov. 16, 1980 and never reached double figures in that category again . . . Norm Sonju, while attending Grinnell (Iowa) College, played trumpet in a band with Grammy- and Oscar-winning keyboardist Herbie Hancock . . . as a boy Sonju aspired to be a pro athlete (Cubs star Hank Sauer and broadcaster Bert Wilson were two of his heroes).

Dallas won its first ever regular season game, 103-92 vs. the Spurs in Reunion Arena on Oct. 11, 1980.

Last season the Williamses overtook the Johnsons for the title of the NBA's most popular surname. At midseason there were nine Williams boys (including the Mavericks' Herb) and just seven Johnsons (down from 16 in 1981-82). The 1991 NBA draft produced a standoff: Larry Johnson and Brian Williams were added to NBA rosters. Despite drafting four players named Johnson over the years, the Mavericks are one of just four NBA teams (also Miami, Orlando and — until Larry gets there — Charlotte) who have never had a player named Johnson.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Lakers have never had a player score 40 points or grab 20 rebounds vs. the Mavericks . . . George Gervin is the only player to ever score 40-plus points against Dallas with two teams. The "Iceman" did it with San Antonio and Chicago . . . the colleges which have produced the most Mavericks are Arizona State, Notre Dame, North Carolina and UCLA, each with three . . . three ex-Mavericks, Geoff Huston (Texas Tech), Clarence Kea (Lamar) and Dennis Nutt (TCU) played their college ball in Texas . . . James Donaldson's size 18 shoes are the biggest in the Mavericks locker room . . . the all-time Mavericks "big shoe" record is held by Clarence Kea (1980-82), who has size 18½ EEE shoes.

DID YOU KNOW?

Mike Iuzzolino, the Mavericks' 5-11 second-round pick out of St. Francis (Pa.), is the fourth sub-six footer drafted by Dallas, but entering '91-92, Mark Wade, a 5-11 free agent guard who played one game (three minutes) for the Mavericks in 1989-90, is the only sub-six footer to ever play in a game for Dallas . . . the tallest all-time Mavericks are Ralph Drollinger and James Donaldson at 7-2 . . . Utah and Dallas have met 68 times in the regular season and playoffs, but have never gone into overtime.

DID YOU KNOW?

Brad Davis estimates that doctors have used 50 stitches to close the facial cuts he has received in his 14 NBA seasons . . . NBA rules specify that at least three-tenths of a second must be showing on the clock for a team to get off a shot attempt (other than an "alley-oop") on an in-bounds play . . . the visiting team has its choice of baskets upon entering the playing court prior to warm-ups . . . on April 16, 1987 Michael Jordan scored an NBA record 23 consecutive points vs. Atlanta.

ATTENDANCE NOTES

Reunion Arena's seating configuration has been adjusted to allow for the addition of 495 new seats. Capacity for the '91-92 season will be 17,502.

The Mavericks averaged 16,868 fans per home game in 1990-91, topping the 98 percent mark of Reunion Arena's capacity for the seventh-straight season. The Mavericks placed seventh in NBA attendance in '90-91. Each of the six teams ahead of Dallas play in larger arenas. On Feb. 16, 1989 vs. Miami, the Mavericks drew their 5 millionth all-time fan, reaching that milestone faster than any club in NBA history. The 1986-87 team drew a club record 693,052 fans, an average of 16,984 per game. The Mavericks cut off season ticket sales at 14,000 and make single-game tickets available one week in advance of each home date. Discounted group tickets are available for each regular season home game.

SELLOUTS

The Mavericks have sold out Reunion Arena 242 times in the regular season, including 24 of 41 home dates in '90-91. Dallas has sold out 164 of 205 dates the last five seasons and 197 of 246 home games the last six seasons. The club record for consecutive regular season home sellouts is 38 from Nov. 28, 1986 through Nov. 14, 1987. The Mavericks have also sold out each of their 23 all-time home playoff games.

Reunion Arena's capacity was 17,772 in 1980, 17,134 in '81-82 and '82-83, and 17,007 from '83-84 through '90-91.

MAVERICKS FOUR-POINT PLAYS

(Three-Pt FG plus FT)

In the 12 years the NBA has been shooting three-point field goals, there have been 76 four-point plays, according to Sixers publicist Harvey Pollack. Brad Davis has made three, tying him with Mark Aguirre and Steve Kerr for second place behind all-time leader Michael Adams, who has made seven. Entering 1991-92, there have been eight four-point plays by Mavericks. Here's the rundown:

Derek Harper, @ Cleveland, 2/13/91
Brad Davis, vs. Miami, 11/8/88
Brad Davis, vs. Houston, 3/14/87
Rolando Blackman, @ Denver, 1/31/85
Mark Aguirre, vs. Milwaukee, 2/24/84
Mark Aguirre, @ Atlanta, 12/27/83
Brad Davis, vs. L.A. Lakers, 2/2/83
Mark Aguirre, @ Denver, 11/25/81

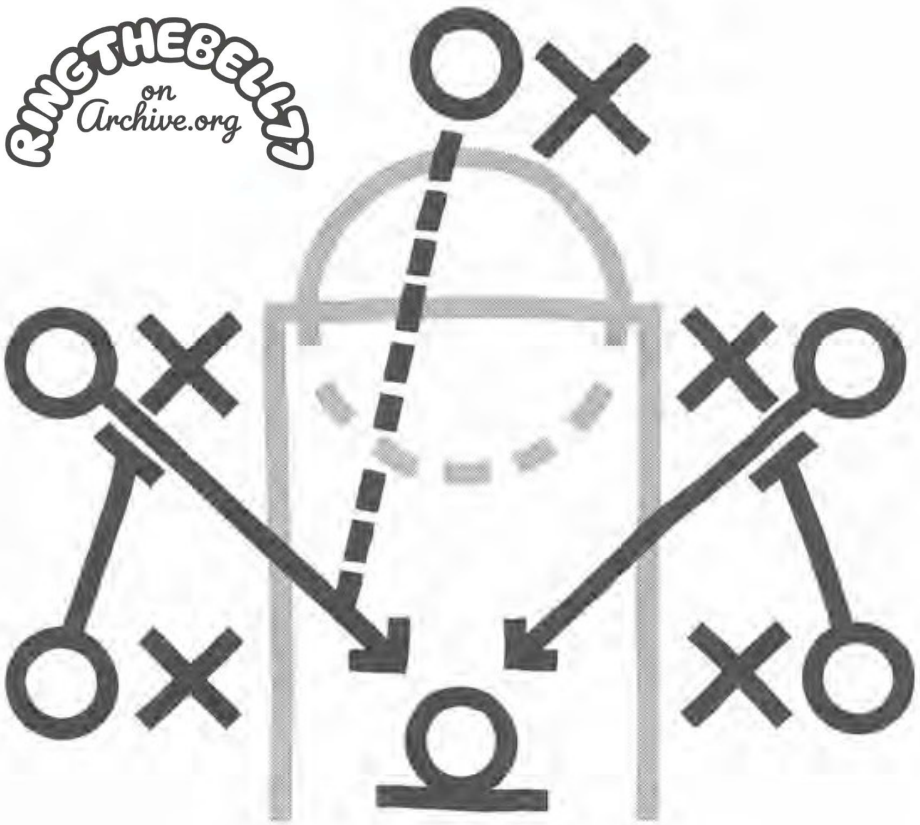
Maybe it's time your telecommunications system had one.

RINGTHEBELL.TV on Archive.org



Imagine what it would look like if a basketball team decided to "wing it" out there on the court without a game plan.

Well, that's exactly what many companies do when it comes to planning and designing telecommunications systems. The results are costly.

That's where we come into play. You see, we can show you the most cost effective way to handle your voice, data, networking and office automation needs.

Isn't it time you had a game plan for your telecommunications system?

DID YOU KNOW?

The Mavericks have made six playoff appearances, all in the last eight seasons . . . all-time Dallas is 21-27 in postseason play . . . Derek Harper and Rolando Blackman are the only Mavericks to have played in all 48 playoff games, with Blackman starting every one . . . Blackman is also the only Maverick ever to score 40 or more points in a playoff game . . . he scored 43 and 41 points in Games One and Two respectively, of the 1985 first round series vs. Portland . . . four of the Mavericks' first 12 postseason games were settled in OT, but Dallas has now gone seven series and 36 games without going into overtime . . . twice the Mavericks have come back from 2-1 deficits to win series: 1984 vs. Seattle in the first round and 1988 vs. Denver in the conference semi-finals . . . that Denver series, won by the Mavericks in six games, is the only series the Mavericks have won without benefit of homecourt advantage . . . Dallas' longest playoff run came in 1988, when the club played 17 games, falling to the Lakers in Game Seven of the conference finals.

GAME-BY-GAME IN MAVERICKS PLAYOFF HISTORY

1984 FIRST ROUND

GAME ONE (APRIL 17, 1984) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 88, SEATTLE 86. Rolando Blackman misses a 10-footer, but grabs his own rebound and follows it in from seven feet in traffic with 11 seconds left to propel the Mavericks to an 88-86 win over the Sonics in Dallas' first ever playoff game. Dallas leads 87-86 after Blackman's shot. Seattle has a chance to win, but Blackman and Bill Garnett bother Jack Sikma enough to force the 6-11 center to miss a driving layup. Blackman adds a free throw with one second remaining to give Dallas its final margin. After leading 83-78 with 6:48 to go, the Mavericks are shut out 8-0 until a Pat Cummings layup brings Dallas within 86-85 with 58 seconds remaining. Gus Williams, who scores an NBA playofff record 23 points in the first period and finishes with 31 points, misses with 35 seconds remaining, and Dallas works the ball to Blackman. Dallas misses the first seven shots of the game and the Sonics jump out to leads of 15-2, 21-6, and their largest lead of the game, 27-11 with 4:15 to play in the first period. Seattle enters the game with 2,280 minutes of playoff experience compared to the Mavericks' 146.

GAME TWO (APRIL 19, 1984) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — SEATTLE 95, DALLAS 92. Gus Williams hits a 25-foot three-pointer at the buzzer before a shocked crowd at Reunion Arena, as the Sonics even the series 1-1 with a 95-92 win. Dallas ties the game at 92 when Pat Cummings hits a jumper with 46 seconds left. Dallas trails by as many as 17 points twice (last time at 52-35 with 3:24 left in the second). The Mavericks become the second team in NBA playoff history to make all its free throws by shooting 24-of-24. Mark Aguirre leads Dallas with 27 points and 17 rebounds. Tom Chambers leads all scorers with 30 points.

GAME THREE (APRIL 24, 1984) @ SEATTLE COLISEUM (10,229) — SEATTLE 104, DALLAS 94. The Sonics outscore the Mavericks 52-37 in the second half and take a 2-1 advantage in the series with a 104-94 win. Dallas shoots just nine-of-40 (.225) in the second half. Dallas leads 57-52 at the half behind .500 shooting and 20 points by Mark Aguirre. Aguirre, however, is held to five points on one-of-nine shooting in the second half.

GAME FOUR (APRIL 24, 1984) @ SEATTLE KINGDOME (11,893) — DALLAS 107, SEATTLE 96. The Mavericks take the lead early and even up the series with a 107-96 win in Seattle. Dallas leads from the 7:10 point of the first period. The Mavericks lead by as many as 14 points (79-65) at the end of three periods — the first time in the series Dallas is not trailing after three periods. Mark Aguirre has 12 of his 29 points in the third period and Jay Vincent has 11 of his 21 points in the fourth period. Vincent also chips in 11 rebounds.

GAME FIVE (APRIL 26, 1984) @ MOODY COLISEUM (9,007) — DALLAS 105, SEATTLE 104 (OT). In one of the most memorable games in franchise history, the Mavericks clinch their first ever playoff series with a 105-104 overtime win over the Sonics. For the fourth-straight game the series moves to a new building as World Championship Tennis is booked into Reunion Arena. The capacity crowd at SMU's Moody Coliseum is exactly 8,000 fans less than a Reunion full house. Seattle has its biggest lead at 93-86 with 2:08 left and leads 95-89 with 48 seconds showing. Jack Sikma fouls out with 1:29 left. A pair of Pat Cummings free throws cuts the lead to 95-91 with 47 seconds left. With 22 seconds left, Rolando Blackman steals a Steve Hawes pass and takes it in for a dunk, drawing Dallas within 95-93. With 21 seconds left, Hawes (replacing Sikma) is unable to get off the inbounds pass after a Seattle timeout and Dallas gets the ball back. Blackman makes a jumper at the top of the key with 15 seconds left to tie the score at 95. Danny Vranes misses a tip-in at the buzzer and the game goes to overtime. Blackman scores 13 of his game-high 29 points in the fourth period. Dallas never trails in the overtime and leads 103-97 with 1:37 left. Seattle then outscores Dallas 7-2 with Tom Chambers' tip at 0:01 cutting the Mavericks' lead to 105-104. After a Dallas timeout, Jay Vincent is to inbound the ball at half-court with Chambers defending. Vincent, figuring Chambers couldn't get a shot off in one second, lines the ball off Chambers' chest. Referee Mike Mathis signals the game over and the Mavericks leave the court in celebration despite 0:01 still showing on the clock. For the next 14 minutes Mathis, Jake O'Donnell and alternate Tommy Nunez discuss the remaining second. O'Donnell's ruling is that Mathis' whistle was inadvertent and the Sonics are given the ball out of bounds with one second. The Mavericks return to the floor and when Mark Aguirre and Kurt Nimphius keep Chambers from getting a lob pass, the game ends.

1984 WESTERN CONFERENCE SEMI-FINALS

GAME ONE (APRIL 28, 1984) @ THE FORUM (13,512) — LOS ANGELES 134, DALLAS 91. Less than 48 hours after the thrilling win over Seattle at Moody Coliseum, the Mavericks come out flat and are flattened by the Lakers, 134-91. The Lakers jump out to leads of 10-2 and 30-10. After that, the Mavericks never get closer than 14 points. At the time, the Mavericks only worse defeat was a 48-point loss at Houston in February 1981. Mike McGee's 25 points leads seven Lakers in double-figures. Unfortunately, the game is seen nationally on CBS.

GAME TWO (MAY 1, 1984) @ THE FORUM (15,298) — LOS ANGELES 117, DALLAS 101. After the humiliation of Game One, the Mavericks show more resolve but still fall to the Lakers, this time 117-101. The loss gives the Lakers a 2-0 advantage in the best-of-seven matchup. Dallas falls behind 7-0, but unlike Game One, responds to the Lakers' run with an 11-5 spurt of its own. Nonetheless the Mavericks trail the entire way, falling behind 55-50 at halftime and 90-72 after three periods. Magic Johnson has 27 points and 11 assists, while Kareem Abdul-Jabbar adds 22 points and 10 rebounds. Rolando Blackman leads Dallas with 27 points.

GAME THREE (MAY 4, 1984) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 125, LOS ANGELES 115. The Mavericks shoot .567 and down the Lakers 125-115. Dallas assumes the lead for keeps at 27-25 with 2:17 left in the first period. The Mavericks lead by as many as 19 points on three occasions. Blackman leads the hot shooting with 31 points on 12-of-20 shooting. Dale Ellis and Brad Davis, both mired in playoff shooting slumps, each shoot eight-of-10. One major key comes in the rebounds column, where Pat Cummings outboards Kareem Abdul-Jabbar 14-7. Ellis' 16 points prove to be the most by a Dallas reserve in the '84 playoffs.

GAME FOUR (MAY 6, 1984) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — LOS ANGELES 122, DALLAS 115 (OT). In the game that is remembered for Derek Harper dribbling out the clock, the Lakers take a 3-1 series advantage with a 122-115 overtime win. With the Mavericks' screaming fans getting their first national exposure on CBS, Dallas begins the fourth period by outscoring the Lakers 15-6 to pull within 96-94 with 7:32 left. Derek Harper ties the game at 98-all with a driving layup at 5:42. The Lakers pull ahead 105-100 with 3:50 left before a Harper jumper, a Dale Ellis layup, and two Harper free throws give Dallas a 106-105 lead with 2:15 to go. A pair of Michael Cooper free throws give the Lakers a 107-106 lead with 1:58 left. At the 0:54 mark, Mark Aguirre leaves the game for good with a badly bruised hip, suffered when he dives after his own missed shot. With 31 seconds remaining, Pat Cummings ties the score at 108 apiece by making an acrobatic finger roll while successfully trying to draw a foul from Magic Johnson. When Cummings steps to the line he has made all 14 of his playoff free throw attempts, but he misfires and the score remains tied. With 12 seconds left in regulation, Kareem misses a sky hook and Blackman grabs the rebound. He passes the ball to Ellis who sends it over to Harper with six seconds left. Harper, believing the Mavericks are up 109-108, dribbles out the clock. Harper shows his toughness by sinking a long jumper to give the Mavericks a 110-108 lead to begin overtime. Dallas leads 112-108 with 3:43 left in overtime, but when Vincent fouls out with the score 112-all at 3:04, the Lakers regain control. Bob McAdoo scores six points and the Lakers go on to a 10-3 run.

GAME FIVE (MAY 8, 1984) @ THE FORUM (15,644) — LOS ANGELES 115, DALLAS 99. Mark Aguirre, bothered by the hip injury suffered in Game Four, does not start and the Lakers win easily 115-99 to close out the series. Dale Ellis starts in place of the injured Aguirre. Aguirre enters the game with 1:23 left in the first period and the Lakers leading 30-17. Aguirre finishes with nine points in 14 minutes — the first time he is held under double-figures points all season. Mike McGee leads the way for the Lakers with 27 points.

1985 FIRST ROUND

GAME ONE (APRIL 18, 1985) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 139, PORTLAND 131 (2 OT). Rolando Blackman breaks Dallas' single-game playoff scoring record with 43 points as Dallas takes a 1-0 lead in the series, 139-131 in double-overtime. The Blazers seemingly have the game won (they hold a two-point lead with 17 seconds remaining and possession of the ball), but an errant pass by Mychal Thompson allows Blackman to hit a 13-foot jumper with six seconds remaining in the first overtime. The Mavericks take control in the second overtime, as Blackman scores seven points. Portland takes its largest lead of the game, 53-38, with 2:35 to play in the first half, but the Mavericks retake the lead (88-85) entering the fourth period after an explosive 40-point third period which is highlighted by 12 points by Mark Aguirre. Following a 27-18 fourth period run, Portland takes a two-point lead with 10 seconds remaining in regulation. Blackman, however, hits a four-foot jumper in the lane with four seconds remaining to knot the score at 112 and send the game into overtime.

GAME TWO (APRIL 20, 1985) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — PORTLAND 124, DALLAS 121 (OT). The Blazers make up a 10-point deficit in the final 2:06 of regulation to force overtime en route to a 124-121 victory which ties the series, 1-1. Clyde Drexler, who watches Rolando Blackman go for his second-straight outing of 40-plus points in the playoffs (Blackman finishes with 41 points), gets revenge by drawing Sam Perkins away from the basket and then hitting a wide-open Mychal Thompson for a layin with one second remaining in regulation which knots the score at 110 and forces overtime. Portland takes control in the extra period, as the Blazers gain a split in Reunion Arena. Portland outboards Dallas 62-38.

GAME THREE (APRIL 23, 1985) @ PORTLAND MEMORIAL COLISEUM (12,666) — PORTLAND 122, DALLAS 109. Kiki Vandeweghe's 10 points down the stretch leads a 22-9 Portland run which breaks open a tight game, and gives the Blazers a 122-109 win and a 2-1 advantage in the series. The Mavericks hold their largest lead, 70-61, with 9:09 to play in the third period, but the Blazers storm back, going on a 30-17 run to take a 91-87 lead entering the fourth period. Once again Portland's victory is keyed by board work — the Blazers outrebound the Mavericks 51-39. Sam Bowie (11 rebounds) and Clyde Drexler (10 rebounds) lead the Blazers. Rolando Blackman and Mark Aguirre each score 30 points in the losing effort. Vandeweghe scores 24 points to lead the Blazers.

GAME FOUR (APRIL 25, 1985) @ PORTLAND MEMORIAL COLISEUM (12,666) — PORTLAND 115, DALLAS 113. Seldom-used Blazers reserve Audie Norris finishes off the Mavericks with a 10-foot baseline jumper with one second remaining, giving the Blazers a series-clinching 115-113 win. Norris, who had just six points in the previous three games combined, also hits a key shot with 22 seconds remaining to put the Blazers up 113-111. Norris ends the game with nine points in 17 minutes off the bench. Dale Ellis makes his first start in the playoffs, replacing Jay Vincent, who is mired in a shooting slump. Mark Aguirre leads Dallas with 39 points, 24 of which come in the first half. Rolando Blackman, who has carried the Mavericks for most of the series, shoots only two of 13 from the floor, but still manages 17 points.

1986 FIRST ROUND

GAME ONE (APRIL 18, 1986) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 101, UTAH 93. The Mavericks off-set three-of-13 shooting in the fourth period by holding the Jazz scoreless in the final 4:40 and win Game One, 101-93. The win marks the first time for Dallas to hold a playoff opponent under 100 points since beating Seattle 107-96 in Game Four of the 1984 playoffs. Although Mark Aguirre and Sam Perkins combine for just 10-of-29 shooting, Utah's starting forwards, Karl Malone and Thurl Bailey, aren't much better, combining for 14-of-34. The Jazz play (as they will for the remainder of the series) without forward Adrian Dantley (back), who finishes the regular season as the NBA's second-leading scorer at 29.8 points per game and Darrell Griffith (left foot stress fracture).

GAME TWO (APRIL 20, 1987) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 113, UTAH, 106. Following the same script as Game One, the Mavericks go cold from the field in the fourth period (shooting just five-of-16), but hold Utah to equally dismal six-of-17 shooting as Dallas takes a 2-0 lead in the series, 113-106. This marks the first time the Mavericks have ever won the first two games of a playoff series. The Mavericks grab the lead quickly in this one, jumping out to a 10-point lead with 6:44 to play in the first period. Mark Aguirre, who was stricken by back spasms in the final 18 seconds of Game One, plays and contributes 27 points.

GAME THREE (APRIL 23, 1986) @ THE SALT PALACE (11,635) — UTAH 100, DALLAS 98. The Jazz avoid a first-round sweep when rookie Karl Malone hits a turnaround jumpshot with 50 seconds to play to put Utah up for good, 100-98. The Mavericks have a chance to tie, but Rolando Blackman's shot rolls off the rim with one second remaining and Rickey Green grabs the rebound as time expires. The loss marks the Mavericks' sixth-straight road playoff defeat. James Donaldson grabs 20 rebounds, becoming the first Maverick to reach that mark in the postseason.

GAME FOUR (APRIL 25, 1986) @ THE SALT PALACE (12,683) — DALLAS 117, UTAH 113. Brad Davis sets an NBA playoff record by shooting five-of-five from three-point range to lead Dallas to a series-clinching 117-113 victory. The Mavericks take a four-point lead into the fourth period and stretch it to as many as 13 points thanks mostly to Davis, who scores 15 of his career-playoff-high 26 points in the final period. Sam Perkins, who had shot just 38 percent in the first three games of the series, explodes from his doldrums by scoring 19 first half points as the Mavericks forge a 55-54 half-time lead. Perkins finishes with 29 points and 12 rebounds.

1986 WESTERN CONFERENCE SEMI-FINALS

GAME ONE (APRIL 27, 1986) @ THE FORUM (17,505) — L.A. LAKERS 130, DALLAS 116. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scores 28 points to lead the Lakers to an easy 130-116 victory in the first game of the Western Conference Semi-finals. The Lakers lead 66-48 at the half and by as many as 25 points midway, through the third period. With Kareem scoring 10 first period points, the Lakers score the game's first six points and jump out to a 16-6 lead with 6:58 to play in the first period. The Mavericks, who are outshot 61 percent to 44 percent for the contest, enter having dropped four-of-five regular season meetings between the two clubs. Jay Vincent paces Dallas with 18 points off the bench, but shoots just six-of-14 in the process.

GAME TWO (APRIL 30, 1986) @ THE FORUM (17,505) — L.A. LAKERS 117, DALLAS 113. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scores 26 points as the Lakers fight off the Mavericks 117-113 to take a 2-0 lead in the series. With the score tied at 108, Kareem takes over, connecting on three skyhooks in the final 3:17. Dallas builds momentum early, leading by as many as 12 points after Rolando Blackman connects on a 17-foot jumper with 1:29 remaining in the first half. Mark Aguirre scores 28 points, grabs 12 rebounds and hands out seven assists, but fouls out with 5:33 to play in the fourth period and the score knotted at 100.

GAME THREE (MAY 2, 1986) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 110, L.A. LAKERS 108. Derek Harper connects on a three-pointer with three seconds left in the game to propel the Mavericks to a 110-108 win and cut the Lakers' lead in the series to 2-1. After a Rolando Blackman layup cuts the Lakers' lead to 108-107 with 24 seconds remaining, Blackman immediately fouls Michael Cooper. Cooper misses both free throws with 19 seconds remaining. Mark Aguirre's shot to put Dallas up is short, but when James Worthy attempts to rebound the miss, he looses his balance and hurls the ball over his shoulder to keep from falling out of bounds with it. The ball goes straight to Harper, who connects on a three-pointer with three seconds remaining. Harper, who finishes with 24 points, ties the game with a three-pointer with 1:46 to play, but Byron Scott promptly answers with a three of his own. Harper's heroics are almost two years to the date after he inadvertently dribbled out the clock in Game Four of the 1984 playoff series against the Lakers. Mark Aguirre finishes with 27 points, nine rebounds and eight assists.

GAME FOUR (MAY 4, 1986) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 120, L.A. LAKERS 118. Mark Aguirre hits a turnaround jump shot from the left baseline in the final seconds to give the Mavericks a 120-118 win over the Lakers and even the series at 2-2. Aguirre, who scores a game-high 39 points on 19-of-30 shooting, comes out blazing. He scores 21 points in the first period (mostly on long jumpers) as Dallas puts together a 21-5 run in the final 4:20 of the period to take a 45-33 advantage into the second period. Those 45 first period points tie an NBA playoff record for most points in the first period. The Mavericks take an 11-point lead into the fourth period after Bill

Wennington beats the third period buzzer and connects on his first career three-pointer. Aguirre also dishes out 10 assists.

GAME FIVE (MAY 6, 1986) @ THE FORUM (17,505) — L.A. LAKERS 116, DALLAS 113. The Mavericks shoot just 20-of-32 from the free throw line as the Lakers take a 3-2 series advantage with a 116-113 win. Dallas shoots 20-of-33 from the free throw line for the game. The Lakers seemingly have the game salted away in the fourth period, leading 115-110 with five seconds to play, but Brad Davis connects on a three-pointer to bring the Mavericks within a bucket. Following a Mark Aguirre foul with one second to play, James Worthy connects on one-of-two free throws to put the Lakers up 116-113. Aguirre's desperation heave, however, misses the mark and the Lakers take a 3-2 series advantage. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar leads all scorers with 34 points, while Mark Aguirre paces Dallas with 27.

GAME SIX (MAY 8, 1986) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — L.A. LAKERS 120, DALLAS 107. The Lakers close out the series 4-2 with a 120-107 win in Reunion Arena. The Lakers lead by as many as 20 points early in the third period, but Mark Aguirre scores 12 of his game-high 28 points to lead the Mavericks to within 81-79 with 1:39 to play in the third period. However, with Kareem Abdul-Jabbar tossing in 27 points, the Lakers gradually build the lead back up in the fourth period, and win going away. Aguirre hurts his ankle with 3:09 left in the third, and is able to play only a few minutes in the fourth period before limping off.

1987 FIRST ROUND

GAME ONE (APRIL 23, 1987) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 151, SEATTLE 129. Dallas sets 11 club records - including most points scored in a game (151) — and wins Game One going away, 151-129 over the SuperSonics. The Mavericks, who shoot .598 for the game, lead by as many as 32 points (120-88) in the fourth period, before Seattle's offense finally gets on track, scoring 41 points in the final stanza to shave the margin. Rookie Roy Tarpley gets Dallas off to a good start, scoring 12 points on five-of-six shooting with five rebounds in the first half. Tarpley finishes with 25 points and 11 rebounds in 32 minutes off the bench. Ten Mavericks players finish in double figures, tying the NBA playoff record for most players in double figures in one game. Prior to the game the Mavericks raise their 1986-87 Midwest Division Championship banner.

GAME TWO (APRIL 25, 1987) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — SEATTLE 112, DALLAS 110. Former Maverick Dale Ellis hits two free throws with two seconds left and the Sonics even the series 1-1 with a 112-110 win before a shocked crowd at Reunion Arena. The score is tied at 110 when, with four seconds remaining in regulation, Derek Harper is called for traveling as he attempts to trigger an inbounds pass from the backcourt. Seattle takes control of the ball on their end of the court, and Ellis is fouled by Sam Perkins. Ellis finishes with 32 points, six rebounds and six assists. The Mavericks look as if they are going to take control of the game when they hold an eight point lead with 2:53 remaining in the first half, but Dale Ellis and Xavier McDaniel bring the Sonics to within 64-63 at the intermission.

GAME THREE (APRIL 28, 1987) @ THE HEC EDMUNDSON PAVILION (8,150) — SEATTLE 117, DALLAS 107. Dale Ellis scores 43 points and grabs 14 rebounds to push the Mavericks to the brink of elimination as the Sonics prevail 117-107. Due to a scheduling conflict — an agricultural show at the Seattle Coliseum and the Mariners are occupying the Kingdome — Game Three (as well as Game Four) moves to the Hec Edmundson Pavilion on the campus of the University of Washington. The Sonics build a lead early — leading 26-15 after one period — as the Mavericks go ice cold, going the final 8:55 of the period without a field goal touching the bottom of the net (Brad Davis has a shot goaltended with 40 seconds left). That lead expands to 55-37 at halftime and 89-73 entering the final period. Derek Harper, who leads Mavericks scorers with 30 points, leads a comeback attempt in the fourth period. Harper scores 12 points to cut the Seattle advantage to six points. But free throws by Xavier McDaniel and Nate McMillan ice the game for the Sonics. James Donaldson, who is suffering from a stress reaction in his right leg (aggravated in Game One), is held scoreless with one rebound in 15 minutes.

GAME FOUR (APRIL 30, 1987) @ THE HEC EDMUNDSON PAVILION (8,150) — SEATTLE 124, DALLAS 98. The Sonics outscore the Mavericks 36-21 to blow open the game and end the Mavericks season, 124-98. The victory means Seattle becomes the first seventh seed to knock off the number two seed since the NBA expanded to a 16-team playoff format in 1983-84. The Sonics jump on Dallas early, scoring 11 of the game's first 13 points and leading 33-21 after one period. James Donaldson misses the game, the first game he has missed in 537 games, due to a stress reaction in his right leg. Tom Chambers leads Seattle with 31 points. Rolando Blackman scores 25 points for the Mavericks while Roy Tarpley grabs 17 rebounds. For the series, Dale Ellis averages 29.5 ppg and eight rebounds.

1988 FIRST ROUND

GAME ONE (APRIL 28, 1988) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 120, HOUSTON 110. The Mavericks take a 1-0 lead in their first-round series against the Rockets with a 120-110 victory. The Mavericks break open a close game in the second period. Ahead 43-42 with 5:52 left in the first half, Dallas (led by six Roy Tarpley points) goes on an 18-4 run to lead 61-46 at halftime. Houston draws within 90-85 with 8:03 to go, but the Mavericks go on a 15-7 run which features baskets by seven different Mavericks (and a free throw by Derek Harper). The Mavericks score 43 points in the fourth period to establish a club playoff record. The win marks the first time the Mavericks have won a playoff game when Mark Aguirre (who finishes with 16 points on six-of-15 shooting) or Rolando Blackman (who scores 15 points on six-of-18 shooting) fails to score 20 points.

GAME TWO (APRIL 30, 1988) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — HOUSTON 119, DALLAS 108. Before a national CBS television audience, the Rockets even the series at a game apiece with a 119-108 victory. Sleepy Floyd (42 points) and Hakeem Olajuwon (41) become the second teammates in NBA playoff history to score 40-plus points in the same game. Elgin Baylor (45 points) and Jerry West (41) accomplished the feat for the Lakers on March 19, 1962 at Detroit. Olajuwon also adds 26 rebounds, the most boards ever vs. Dallas in any game. The Rockets lead 107-105 with 1:34 to play, but the Mavericks do not score again until Brad Davis hits a three-pointer with nine seconds remaining. The Rockets end the game on a 16-5 run as Olajuwon scores eight of those points. The loss comes despite Dallas' bench outscoring the Rockets' reserves 41-9.

GAME THREE (MAY 3, 1988) @ THE SUMMIT (16,611) — DALLAS 93, HOUSTON 92. Roy Tarpley scores six of his 17 points in the final 3:46, including the game-winner, a seven-footer on the left side with 1:08 to play, in leading the Mavericks to a 93-92 win over the Rockets in Game Three. The Rockets have a chance to win with :12 to play when Rodney McCray grabs a rebound from Rolando Blackman, but following a Rockets timeout, Hakeem Olajuwon misses a 15-footer and Sam Perkins slaps the ball back towards midcourt as the game ends. The win snaps a five-game road playoff losing streak and is the third road playoff win in club history. Tarpley's 17 points leads the way for Dallas — the fewest points ever by a Mavericks leading scorer in a playoff win.

GAME FOUR (MAY 5, 1988) @ THE SUMMIT (16,611) — DALLAS 107, HOUSTON 97. Mark Aguirre busts out of his series-long shooting slump by setting a Mavericks record (regular season and playoffs) for points in a period with 27 points in third period of Dallas' 107-97 series-clinching win over the Rockets. Aguirre had averaged 15 ppg on .409 shooting in the first three games of the series, and has just six points on two-of-eight shooting in the first half. Aguirre shoots 10-of-11 (including three-of-four three-pointers) in the third period and finishes with 38 points. The Rockets jump on top early, leading 23-10 with 1:07 to play in the first half. For the series, Hakeem Olajuwon, who has 40 points in Game Four, finishes with 150 points for the series, breaking the NBA record for points in a four-game series, previously held by Bob Pettit of St. Louis (144, set in 1963 vs. Detroit). The win marks the third time in their five-year playoff history that the Mavericks advance to the conference semi-finals.

1988 WESTERN CONFERENCE SEMI-FINALS

GAME ONE (MAY 10, 1988) @ McNICHOLS ARENA (17,022) — DENVER 126, DALLAS 115. The Midwest Division Champion Nuggets take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven Western Conference semi-finals by defeating the Mavericks 126-115. Denver shoots 58 percent for the game and goes 26-of-28 from the free throw line as Fat Lever scores a game-high 30 points (12-of-17 shooting) and grabs 11 rebounds. In the final four minutes of the first half and the first four minutes of the second half, the Mavericks are outscored 28-6 and trail 73-53 with 8:13 to go in the third period. The Mavericks are within eight points late, but Lever hits a three-pointer, just beating the 24-second buzzer, to put Denver up 120-109 with :54 remaining.

GAME TWO (MAY 12, 1988) @ McNICHOLS ARENA (17,022) — DALLAS 122, DENVER 108. Rolando Blackman scores 31 points and Roy Tarpley chips in 27 points and 13 rebounds as the Mavericks down the Nuggets 112-108. The win is Dallas' first road win ever in the conference semi-finals (Dallas was 0-7 all-time before this). Rolando Blackman hits a jumper with 6:03 to go in the third period, knotting the score at 65 and starting a 13-2 Mavericks run which gives them the lead for good. The victory comes despite Mark Aguirre matching his career playoff low with nine points. Fat Lever and Alex English lead Denver with 22 points apiece. The win is Dallas' third on the road this postseason after a 2-12 road record in the club's first four playoff appearances. The win is also Dallas' 57th win (when combining playoffs and regular season), surpassing the 1986-87 record of 56 combined wins.

GAME THREE (MAY 14, 1988) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DENVER 107, DALLAS 105. Denver takes a 2-1 lead in the series as Bill Hanzlik hits a layup with :03 remaining to give the Nuggets their first lead of the game and a 107-105 victory. The Nuggets tie the game at 105 with :35 to go when Hanzlik hits a 10-foot jumper. Following a Dallas timeout, Sam Perkins, who scores a Mavericks-high 17 points, misses a floater in the lane, and the Nuggets grab the rebound with :20 to play. In the final 3:04, the Mavericks are outscored 8-2, getting only a Rolando Blackman jumper at 1:17. The Mavericks lose despite outshooting the Nuggets (.500 to .469) and outrebounding them (50-47). Fat Lever records the first triple-double by an opponent in Mavericks playoff history, scoring 11 points with 11 rebounds and 12 assists. Alex English leads all scorers with 23 points.

GAME FOUR (MAY 15, 1988) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 124, DENVER 103. Mark Aguirre scores 34 points as the Mavericks tie the series 2-2 with a 124-103 win. Denver plays without Fat Lever (strained right knee) and Jay Vincent (pulled right calf muscle). Dallas builds its lead to as much as 26 points (95-69) with :24 left in the third period. Dallas outshoots Denver .546-.402. Roy Tarpley (24 points and 13 rebounds) records his sixth double-double in eight playoff games coming off the bench.

GAME FIVE (MAY 17, 1988) @ McNICHOLS ARENA (17,022) — DALLAS 110, DENVER 106. On the day Roy Tarpley learns he has won the NBA Sixth Man Award, Mark Aguirre, who scored a Mavericks-high 25 points, cans a three-pointer with :19 remaining to give the Mavericks a 110-106 road win and a 3-1 series advantage. The Nuggets, who play without Fat Lever (strained right knee) and Jay Vincent (pulled right calf) for the second-straight game, miss seven-straight fourth period free throws. Dallas' lead is cut to 104-102 with 1:22 to play when Danny Schayes connects on two free throws. Brad Davis then penetrates the lane, drawing Alex English away from Aguirre, who's left open for a three-pointer.

GAME SIX (MAY 19, 1988) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 108, DENVER 95. The Mavericks advance to the Western Conference Finals for the first time in their history with a 108-95 win over the Nuggets. The win gives Dallas a 4-2 series win over Denver. Rolando Blackman, who scores 23 points, gives the Mavericks their biggest boost. He scores seven points during a 10-2 run late in the game. Blackman's efforts help offset a brilliant performance by Denver's Alex English, who scores 34 points on 16-of-29 shooting. The Nuggets draw within one point, 94-93, when T.R. Dunn hit a 17-footer from the wing with 3:30 to play, but that's when Blackman takes over. His driving three-point play with 1:00 remaining puts Dallas up 101-95. Sam Perkins adds 23 points and Roy Tarpley has 18 points and 19 rebounds off the bench.

1988 WESTERN CONFERENCE FINALS

GAME ONE (MAY 23, 1988) @ THE FORUM (17,505) — L.A. LAKERS 113, DALLAS 98. The Lakers, who lead 52-49 at the half, make 12 of their first 16 shots to begin the third period and build their lead to as much as 76-63 in the third, on the way to defeating Dallas 113-98 in the Mavericks' first-ever appearance in the conference finals. It marks the 10th-straight series in which the Lakers win the opener. Dallas goes on a 15-1 run in the second period to open a 47-42 lead with 4:21 to play in the first half. But Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who scores 13 first half points on six-of-seven shooting from the field, ignites a 7-2 run which gives the Lakers a 52-49 lead at the intermission. Sam Perkins, who scores all eight of his points in the second half, keeps the Mavericks, who shoot just .625 from the foul line, within 61-57 with 8:02 to play in the third. Dallas outrebounds the Lakers (39-31) for the first time in their six meetings this season and Roy Tarpley leads the way with a career playoff high/club playoff record-tying 20 rebounds. Tarpley, Mark Aguirre and Rolando Blackman lead Dallas with 18 points each.

GAME TWO (MAY 25, 1988) @ THE FORUM (17,505) — L.A. LAKERS 123, DALLAS 101. Byron Scott scores 30 points and the Lakers shoot .615 from the field to defeat the Mavericks 123-101 and take a 2-0 lead in the series. Michael Cooper hits a three-pointer with 10:20 to go in the first half to give the Lakers a lead they never relinquish. Scott, who averaged 29.4 ppg against Dallas in the regular season, scores nine points in the pivotal fourth period, as the Lakers outscore Dallas 30-22 in the stanza to take a 89-70 lead. Dallas, which for the second-straight game outrebounds the Lakers (36-28), never mounts a serious run in the fourth period as they drop back-to-back games for the first time in the 1988 playoffs.

GAME THREE (MAY 27, 1988) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 106, L.A. LAKERS 94. Led by Roy Tarpley, who records the first 20-point/20-rebound game in Mavericks playoff history by scoring 21 points and grabbing 20 rebounds (11 on the offensive end), the Mavericks draw within 2-1 of the Lakers in the series with a 106-94 win. Dallas trails 76-75 after three, but Sam Perkins scores nine points and Tarpley grabs eight rebounds in the fourth period as the Mavericks outscore the Lakers 31-18. The Mavericks shoot just .452, but compensate by dominating on the boards, 52-33. Mark Aguirre leads all scorers with 23 points, while adding 10 rebounds. For the Mavericks, who have never fallen behind a series 3-0, it's their first ever win in the conference finals and gives Coach John MacLeod 45 career playoff wins, moving him past Jack Ramsay into a tie with Alex Hannum for 10th place on the all-time list.

GAME FOUR (MAY 29, 1988) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 118, L.A. LAKERS 104. Derek Harper scores 35 points to lead the Mavericks to a 118-104 win over the Lakers and a 2-2 tie in the series. Ahead 89-81 after three periods, the Mavericks outrebound the Lakers 22-5 in the fourth period and hold the Lakers to just nine-of-20 shooting in the stanza. In a key exchange, Mychal Thompson misses a 12-footer, and James Donaldson grabs the rebound, which leads to a 19-foot jumper by Roy Tarpley to put Dallas up 101-94. Dallas then holds the Lakers scoreless for nearly three-and-a-half minutes. Harper scores 18 first half points on eight-of-12 shooting to stake the Mavericks to a 57-56 lead at the half. The Mavericks shoot a blazing .549 from the field.

GAME FIVE (MAY 31, 1988) @ THE FORUM (17,505) — L.A. LAKERS 119, DALLAS 102. The Lakers run off to a 17-point lead at halftime and cruise to a 119-102 victory, and a 3-2 lead in the series. The Mavericks jump out to a 10-4 lead in the first 2:30, but the Lakers then rip off a 20-4 run to take a 24-14 advantage. James Worthy, who paces the Lakers with 28 points, hits seven-of-10 shots en route to 18 first half points. Magic Johnson adds to the Lakers first half fire with 11 points, including seven points coming in the final 3:45 of the half (two 19-foot jumpers and a three-pointer). The Lakers shoot .667 for the first half (26-of-39) and 60 percent for the game (51-of-85). Mark Aguirre leads all scorers with 31 points. Detlef Schrempf sprains his right ankle at the end of the third period and is forced to miss the remainder of the series.

GAME SIX (JUNE 2, 1988) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — DALLAS 105, L.A. LAKERS 103. The Mavericks come back from the brink of elimination with a 105-103 win over the Lakers to even the series at 3-3. James Donaldson blocks a James Worthy drive across the lane with three seconds left to protect a 104-102 Mavericks lead. Donaldson grabs the rebound and is fouled by Byron Scott with two seconds left. He makes one-of-two free throws to give Dallas the final margin. Mark Aguirre, who scores just four points with five rebounds in the first half, finishes with a Mavericks-high 23 points and 13 rebounds. Aguirre hits a huge shot with 1:28 left, grabbing a miss by Roy Tarpley and converting the follow-up to give Dallas a 104-100 lead. Worthy makes it a 104-102 game with 1:08 left when he gets inside for a layup. But on a drive with 33 seconds left that would have tied the score, Worthy has the ball stripped by Tarpley. Worthy and Byron Scott lead the Lakers with 27 points each.

GAME SEVEN (JUNE 4, 1988) @ THE FORUM (17,505) — L.A. LAKERS 117, DALLAS 102. The Mavericks play their first seventh game ever, but the Lakers pull away in the closing minutes for a 117-102 victory. The Mavericks stay close until late in the third period when the Lakers go on an 11-3 run and go up 87-77. Dallas is within 100-94 with 5:34 to play, but a James Worthy dunk with five minutes to play and a tip-in by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar 40 seconds later make it 104-94 and trigger a 15-2 Lakers' run which wraps it up. James Worthy scores a game-high 28 points. Mark Aguirre scores 24 points to pace the Mavericks. Aguirre misses nearly three minutes in the fourth period after bending back two fingers on his non-shooting hand and aggravating an injury to his knuckles. James Donaldson scores 15 points and grabs 14 rebounds. Donaldson finishes the series with a .744 (32-of-43) field goal percentage — an NBA record for a seven-game series. Upon arriving at Dallas/Fort Worth International Airport following the Game Seven loss, 4,500 fans crowd the terminal to welcome the Mavericks home. The Lakers go on to beat the Pistons in the championship series — becoming the NBA's first repeat champions since the 1968-69 Boston Celtics.

GAME ONE (APRIL 26, 1990) @ PORTLAND MEMORIAL COLISEUM (12,884) — PORTLAND 109, DALLAS 102. The Blazers open their best-of-five series against the Mavericks with a 109-102 win. The Mavericks are within 91-89 with 4:28 to play after Derek Harper, who leads Dallas with 24 points, connects on a three-pointer. Thirty seconds later Jerome Kersey hits an 18-footer, beginning a run of nine unanswered points (five by Kevin Duckworth) which allows Portland to build its lead to 100-89 with 1:14 to play. The Mavericks are able to stay close despite Portland outrebounding them 47-33, including 20-8 on the defensive glass. The Mavericks, who are already without Brad Davis (pulled right hamstring) and Adrian Dantley (fractured right leg), are hampered even further when Rolando Blackman and Roy Tarpley each pick up three first half fouls. Tarpley leads Dallas on the boards with 14 rebounds while adding 22 points and a club playoff record-tying five blocked shots. Portland is led by Terry Porter's 28 points and Buck Williams' 16 rebounds. The game marks the first time the Mavericks have ever opened a first-round series on the road and is the first time Dallas ever lost Game One in the first round.

GAME TWO (APRIL 28, 1990) @ PORTLAND MEMORIAL COLISEUM (12,884) — PORTLAND 114, DALLAS 107. For the first time in their playoff history, the Mavericks fall behind 2-0 in the first round, losing to the Blazers 114-107. The Mavericks jump out to a 15-point lead, 38-23, late in the first period, but reserve guards Drazen Petrovic and Danny Young get the Blazers back into the game by combining for 20-straight Portland points and 22 of the Blazers' first 24 second period points. Petrovic scores nine of Portland's first 11 points in the second period and finishes with 14 points on the night. In the fourth period, Blazers center Kevin Duckworth, whose 18 points leads seven Blazers in double-figures, scores 12 points on six-of-seven shooting as Portland takes a 90-83 advantage. Derek Harper and Rolando Blackman combine for 37 points in the first half, but manage only four in the fourth period. Harper scores two of his team-high 23 points in the second half. The Mavericks allow the Blazers just five offensive rebounds in the second half, after allowing 16 in the first half, but Portland still scores 35 second-chance points in the game. Roy Tarpley leads Dallas with 17 rebounds while also adding 22 points in a club playoff record 48 minutes. The Blazers are led on the boards by Buck Williams' 13 rebounds.

GAME THREE (MAY 1, 1990) @ REUNION ARENA (17,007) — PORTLAND 106, DALLAS 92. The Mavericks are swept for the first time in their playoff history as the Blazers win 106-92. Roy Tarpley plays 42 minutes, but misses 10-of-12 shots and six-of-eight free throws and turns the ball over five times. Tarpley, bothered by an upset stomach, finishes with six points and 15 rebounds. Buck Williams misses the final three periods after catching an inadvertent elbow from James Donaldson. Williams suffers cuts above and below his right eye and is taken to Baylor Medical Center with blurred vision. The Blazers are further crippled when Kevin Duckworth has to leave after suffering a broken right hand with two minutes left in the third period. Still, the Mavericks can not overcome Jerome Kersey (29 points), Clyde Drexler (20 points, 10 assists) and Terry Porter (20 points, nine assists). Dallas is led by Rolando Blackman's 23 points.

DID YOU KNOW?

Derek Harper's 7-year-old son Darius has done some modeling work and had a non-speaking part in the movie, Problem Child, starring John Ritter . . . former Maverick Allan Bristow, currently the Charlotte Hornets' head coach, is the only player with ABA and Mavericks experience . . . the Mavericks employ Alberto Dal Cin, a native Italian who has lived in Dallas since 1975, as a European basketball consultant. Dal Cin, who speaks five languages, travels oversees for two-to-three week scouting missions about five times a year.

SERIES NOTES: In '90-91 the Hawks swept the Mavericks (0-2) to snap a run in which Dallas had won three-of-four meetings (including sweeping Atlanta in '89-90 for the first time since '84-85)...the Hawks' 124.5 ppg against Dallas last season was the highest by an opponent (Boston was second at 119.5 ppg)...the Mavericks' 112 ppg against Atlanta last season was their second-best offensive output against any opponent (Dallas averaged 125.5 ppg against the Nuggets)...

Dominique Wilkins averaged 28 points on .513 shooting with 10.5 rebounds vs. the Mavericks last season...all-time vs. Dallas, Wilkins has averaged 25.7 ppg (eighth on the all-time list vs. the Mavericks)...Wilkins scored 40 points vs. Dallas on 3/29/87, ending a Mavericks club-record streak of 131 games without an opponent scoring 40-plus...

The Hawks are 6-5 all-time in Reunion Arena—one of just six teams with winning marks in Reunion: also Boston (8-3), Cleveland (6-5), Detroit (7-4), Philadelphia (7-4) and the Lakers (19-7)...

Derek Harper was taken with an '83 first-round pick which originally was Atlanta property. Dallas acquired that pick from Cleveland...Hawks center Jon Koncak is a former SMU standout...

Hawks coach Bob Weiss was a Dallas assistant coach under Dick Motta for the club's first six seasons...after two seasons as head coach of the San Antonio Spurs, Weiss returned to Dallas to serve as color analyst on Mavericks television games in 1988-89.

Dominique Wilkins (40 on 3/29/87) and Rolando Blackman (33 on 2/19/83) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks are 0-11 all-time in Boston, the only city where Dallas is without a "W"... last season the Mavericks lost in Boston 127-110... the Mavericks play in Boston Garden this season on Sunday, March 1... Boston is the only Eastern Conference team the Mavericks have never swept...

The Mavericks — who dropped both games to Boston last season — had won three-of-five meetings vs. the Celtics in Reunion Arena before falling 112-104 on Dec. 7, 1990... the Celtics averaged 119.5 ppg vs. the Mavericks last season, the second most by an opponent (Atlanta averaged 124.5 ppg)...prior to winning the three-of-five vs. Boston, the Mavericks had dropped their first 11 games vs. the Celtics...Dallas' first ever win vs. Boston was a 116-115 victory in Reunion on 3/10/86... playing without Mark Aguirre (flu), Dallas overcame 50 points from Larry Bird and a 13-point deficit in the last 5:37...

Rolando Blackman averaged 31 ppg on .622 shooting (23-of-37) in two games against the Celtics last season...

Derek Harper handed out a Mavericks club-record 18 assists in Dallas' 131-115 win vs. Boston on 12/29/88...

Boston is 8-3 all-time in Reunion Arena, making the Celtics one of just six teams — also Atlanta (6-5), Cleveland (6-5), Detroit (7-4), Philadelphia (7-4) and the Lakers (19-7) — with a winning record in Dallas...

Lifetime vs. Dallas, Larry Bird has 528 points in 19 games (27.8, the third highest average on the all-time opponent list) and 200 boards (10.5, 11th-best against Dallas)... before averaging 11.5 ppg vs. Dallas last season, Bird was averaging 29.7 ppg vs. the Mavericks — the highest scoring average by any opponent...

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks won the season series from Denver last season (3-1) — the only season series Dallas won in '90-91 vs. a Western Conference opponent...last season marked the first time the Mavericks have won the season series vs. the Nuggets since 4-2 in '86-87...

The Mavericks' 125.5 ppg against Denver last season was their most vs. any opponent and Dallas scored a season-high 140 pts vs. Denver on 11/3/90...the Mavericks won that game 140-110 — their biggest win of the season...the Mavericks have won 15 of the last 17 games between the two teams in Reunion Arena, but have dropped 9-of-11 in McNichols Arena...

On 6/21/90 the Mavericks traded the ninth selection in the 1990 NBA Draft and Detroit's 1991 first-round pick in exchange for Fat Lever...in six seasons in Denver, Lever averaged 17.0 ppg on .454 shooting with 7.6 rebounds, 7.5 assists and 2.5 steals while making two All-Star appearances (1988 and 1990)...

Dallas defeated the Nuggets 4-2 in the '88 conference semis, winning Games 2 and 5 in Denver...that's the only series Dallas has ever won without homecourt advantage...

In its first 43 meetings, Dallas never held Denver under 100 points, but, including the playoffs, Dallas has held Denver under 100-points six times in their last 26 meetings...three of James Donaldson's 12 20-plus rebound games and two of Roy Tarpley's 11 career 20-rebound efforts have come against Denver...

This series has featured some wild games, like the one played in Reunion on 3/1/85; the Nuggets came from 23 down in the last 17 minutes of regulation to win 141-140 in OT...on 12/5/87, Dallas scored a club record 20 consecutive points in the 109-96 win over the Nuggets...

Kiki Vandeweghe (41 points on 2/8/84) and Mark Aguirre (46 points twice) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Pistons swept Dallas (2-0) in '90-91 and have now won six-of-seven vs. the Mavericks...the lone win against the Pistons in that stretch is a 98-96 OT win in Reunion Arena on 3/25/90...

Richie Adubato calls that win the greatest comeback he has ever been associated with...in it Dallas, which trailed by as many as six points in OT, was behind 95-90 with :30.1 to go when Brad Davis connected on a three-pointer...after a Bill Laimbeer free throw to increase the Detroit lead to 96-93, Harper, who scored five points in the final :16.8, hit a three-pointer...Harper and Herb Williams then forced Isiah Thomas into a turnover with :15.5 to go, and Harper picked up the loose ball and scored the winning basket with 8.1 seconds to play...

The Pistons have held Dallas under 100 points in six-straight games (521 pts, 86.8 ppg)...on 3/27/89 the Pistons beat Dallas 90-77...those 77 points by Dallas are the third-fewest points in Mavericks history...

On 2/15/89 Dallas sent Mark Aguirre to Detroit in exchange for Adrian Dantley and Detroit's first-round draft choice in 1991 (a pick eventually used by Washington to take LaBradford Smith)...

All-time the Pistons are 7-4 in Dallas, one of just six teams with a winning mark in Reunion Arena; also, Atlanta (6-5), Boston (8-3), Cleveland (6-5), Philadelphia (7-4) and the Lakers (19-7)...

Dallas has now lost eight-straight in Detroit — the club's second-longest active road losing streak (dropped 11-straight in Boston)...the Mavericks' last road win vs. the Pistons was a 122-121 decision on 12/10/82...Bill Laimbeer's career average of 12.1 rebounds vs. Dallas is sixth on the all-time list...

Isiah Thomas handed out a Pistons record and Dallas opponent record 25 assists on 2/13/85...Thomas' career average of 11.3 assists vs. Dallas is second to Magic Johnson's 12.2 on the all-time list...the 23,912 for the 3/6/87 meeting in the Silverdome is the largest crowd ever to see the Mavericks play...

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks and Warriors split the season series last season (2-2)...In the Mavericks' 107-101 win at Golden State on 2/18/91, Dallas trailed by as much as 29-13 with 10 seconds to play in the first period before rallying...

In 1988-89 Dallas lost the series (3-1) to the Warriors for the first time since 1981-82...prior to 1988-89, Dallas had won 25-of-31 vs. the Warriors, including nine-straight from 12/6/87 through 3/14/88...

Mitch Richmond's 26.7 career scoring average vs. Dallas is fifth on the all-time list...Richmond averaged 27.8 ppg on .569 shooting (41-of-72) shooting vs. Dallas last season...Tim Hardaway's 8.6 career assists average vs. Dallas is ninth on the all-time list...Chris Mullin averaged 22.3 ppg on .627 shooting (37-of-59) last season vs. Dallas...

Golden State's 127-92 win in Dallas on 2/24/89 is the second-worst home defeat in Mavericks history, and ties a 133-98 loss at Denver on 10/15/80 and a 130-95 loss at Seattle on 1/12/89 as the third-biggest loss in Dallas history...that Warriors victory snapped a 16-game Golden State losing streak in Dallas...

On 1/15/85 at Oakland, the Mavericks defeated the Warriors 149-104 — the club's widest margin of victory ever...the 149 points tied the team scoring record while records fell for most points in a half (87, 2nd) and in a period (51, 4th)...

Purvis Short (45 points on 3/12/81) and Sam Perkins (career-high 45 on 4/12/90) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks lost the season series to the Rockets 3-1 in '90-91...the lone Dallas win was a 113-107 decision on April 19 — Dallas' final home game of the season...in that game Vernon Maxwell set an NBA record by making his 167th three-pointer of the season...

The Rockets have held Dallas under 100 points in nine of their last 15 meetings...in those 15 games Dallas has been outscored 1,594 (106.3 ppg) to 1,508 (100.5 ppg)...

In the '88 playoffs, Dallas eliminated the Rockets 3-1 in the first round of the playoffs...in Dallas' 105-100 win on 12/26/87, four Mavericks had 10-plus rebounds (Perkins and Donaldson 12 each and Tarpley and Aguirre 10 apiece) for the first time in club history...

In Houston on 12/12/85, Sam Perkins had 31 points, 20 rebounds, and seven assists — that remains the only 30/20 game in Dallas history...

The worst defeat in Mavericks history, a 48-point thrashing on 2/4/81, came by a 116-68 count in The Summit...

Lifetime in 37 regular season games against Dallas, Hakeem Olajuwon has 929 points (25.1, 10th on all-time list) and 475 rebounds (12.8, third on all-time list)...Olajuwon averaged 37.5 ppg (an NBA 4-game series record) and 16.8 rebounds vs. Dallas in the '88 playoffs...

Moses Malone (44 points on 2/27/82) and Mark Aguirre (39 on 11/20/83) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks and Lakers split the season series in '90-91 (2-2), marking the first time since '86-87 the Lakers did not win the season series...the Mavericks won the first two meetings between the clubs last season (99-86 in Reunion on 11/16/90 and 112-97 in overtime on 12/12/90 in L.A.)...prior to those two wins the Mavericks had lost nine-straight regular season games to the Lakers...

In Dallas' OT win in L.A. on 12/12/90, the Mavericks scored the first 13 points of the overtime and outscored the Lakers 23-8 in the extra period...the 23 points are a club record for OT scoring and are one point off the NBA record of 24 set by Sacramento at Utah on 3/17/90.

No Laker has ever scored 40-plus points or grabbed 20-plus boards in a game vs. Dallas...

The Lakers are 19-7 all-time in Reunion Arena, making them the only Western Conference team with a winning record in Dallas...

The Mavericks have sold out 23-straight regular season home games vs. the Lakers...there have also been eight more sellouts in Dallas-Lakers playoff games in Reunion...the last non-full house in Reunion for a Mavericks-Lakers game was on Nov. 24, 1981 when 14,225 attended the 125-110 Lakers win (Magic Johnson missed that game with a knee injury)...

In the 1988 playoffs the Lakers eliminated Dallas 4-3 in the Mavericks' first 7-game series and first trip to the conference finals...the Lakers eliminated Dallas in the conference semis in '84 and '86...on 4/20/88 Magic Johnson handed out a regular season career high-tying/club record-tying 23 assists in L.A.'s 114-107 win...

Dallas went 7-5 vs. L.A. in the regular season from 3/23/82 to 10/28/84...three of those seven wins came on late heroics by Mark Aguirre (3/23/82 and 11/17/82) and Jay Vincent (2/2/83)...

Lifetime vs. Dallas in 46 regular season games Magic Johnson has 903 points (19.6), and 559 assists (12.2, tops on the all-time list)...Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (35 on 2/15/81), Byron Scott (35 on 3/12/88) and Aguirre (42 on 12/2/83) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks dropped both games vs. the Heat in '90-91 — the first time Dallas has been swept by one of the four new teams...prior to that Dallas had won each of the first eight meetings between the clubs...

In Miami's 105-93 win over Dallas on 11/14/90, Rony Seikaly scored 30 points and grabbed 21 rebounds...that's just the eighth 30-points/20-rebound game ever vs. the Mavericks...Seikaly joined Moses Malone and Hakeem Olajuwon as the only players ever to accomplish that feat vs. the Mavericks...

Twice Dallas has beaten Miami with last second heroics...on 2/28/89 in Miami, Rolando Blackman scored Dallas' final six points of regulation and its final seven of overtime to lead Dallas to a 111-110 victory over the Heat...with Dallas trailing 110-108 in that game, Blackman hit a 14-footer and a free throw with :03 to play to give Dallas the win...on 4/2/89 in Reunion, Adrian Dantley banked in a turnaround jumper from 18 feet over the Heat's Billy Thompson at the buzzer to give the Mavericks a 98-96 win...

On 3/23/90 in Miami, Derek Harper hit a club-record seven three-pointers in a 106-103 Mavericks win...Dallas swept the season series from the Heat 6-0 in 1988-89 — the first time the Mavericks have ever swept a season series from a Midwest Division opponent...in 1989-90 the Heat moved from the Midwest Division, to its permanent home in the Atlantic...

On 4/18/89 in Miami, Rory Sparrow registered the first triple-double in Heat history as he scored 24 points with 10 rebounds and 10 assists vs. Dallas...

Rony Seikaly (30 on 11/14/90) and Derek Harper (34 on 3/23/90) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks and Bucks split the season series for the second-straight season in '90-91...Dallas' win — a 103-89 victory on 12/21/90 — came on the day Dallas was hit by an arctic blast which brought snow and sleet...approximately 9,500 (of the paid sellout of 17,007) attended the game...

Dallas ended a three-game losing streak to Milwaukee with an 86-72 win in Reunion on 4/1/90...the Bucks' 72 points in that game rank as the second-fewest points the Mavericks have ever yielded (Dallas held Sacramento to 71 points on 11/12 88)...Roy Tarpley grabbed a career-high 25 rebounds in that win over Milwaukee...

Milwaukee won 10 of the first 12 all-time meetings between these clubs, including the first six in Milwaukee, but Dallas ended that run with a 124-122 win in Milwaukee on 1/16/87...

Dale Ellis, who spent his first three seasons with the Mavericks, has a career scoring average of 23.0 ppg on .531 shooting in 20 career games vs. Dallas...

All-time vs. the Mavericks, Moses Malone has 25.4 ppg (ninth best vs. Dallas) with 13.0 rebounds (second to Charles Oakley's 14.6 all-time vs. Dallas)...

On 3/4/83, the Bucks attracted the first non-Philly/Boston/Lakers sellout to Reunion...Brad Davis' brother Mickey played for the Bucks from '72-77...

Terry Cummings (39 on 1/16/87) and Mark Aguirre (35 on 3/4/83) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks dropped the season series to the Timberwolves 4-1 last season...Dallas' 102-100 home win over Minnesota on 4/17/91 ended a five-game losing streak to the Timberwolves...that game also marked the first time for Dallas to score 100-plus points against the T-wolves...prior to that the Mavericks had been held under 100 points in nine-straight (90.3 ppg), the most consecutive games Dallas has ever been held under 100 points by the same opponent...

On 11/2/90, the Mavericks lost 98-85 to Minnesota in the first regular season game ever played in the Target Center...twice Minnesota has won in Dallas on buzzer beaters...on 11/20/90 the T-wolves won 92-91 in OT when Tyrone Corbin tipped in a shot with :00.3 to play...on 3/30/90 Minnesota won 84-82 when Sam Mitchell hit a follow-up lay in at the buzzer before a shocked Reunion Arena crowd...that was one of just three Dallas losses in its last 22 home games of the '89-90 season (also losing to the Lakers and Chicago)...

Tony Campbell averaged 27.2 ppg on .509 shooting last season vs. the Mavericks...

Mavericks assistant coach Bob Zuffelato served as an assistant coach under Bill Musselman with the Timberwolves in '89-90...

Herb Williams blocked a club record-tying seven shots in Dallas' 90-87 win in Minnesota on 12/13/90...while Miami, Charlotte and Orlando were all involved in a divisional rotation plan, the Timberwolves entered the NBA as permanent members of the Midwest Division...

Tony Campbell (32 on 1/2/91) and Rolando Blackman (32 on 11/12/90) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks swept the season series from the Nets for the second-straight season in '90-91...Dallas has now won five-straight vs. NJ since losing 122-120 in OT at the Meadowlands on 12/21/88...entering '91-92, that's Dallas' longest active winning streak vs. any opponent...

Dallas won at NJ 88-87 in overtime on 1/7/91...that marks the third time in the last four seasons Dallas has gone into OT at the Meadowlands (the exception: an 84-78 win on 12/20/89)...In that 84-78 win, Dallas' 84 points are the fewest ever scored by Dallas in a win, and the Nets' 78 points are the third-fewest ever allowed by Dallas and are the fewest the Mavericks have ever allowed on the road...

On 3/6/89 in Reunion, James Donaldson recorded one of just eight 20-points, 20-rebounds games in Mavericks history when he scored 20 points and grabbed a career high-tying 22 rebounds...

On 2/1/88, the Nets ended their 26-game road losing streak, 108-103 in Reunion...that night John Bagley recorded a triple-double (19/10/10) and Dudley Bradley made two steals in the final 1:37...that ended Dallas' six-game win streak vs. NJ...

Nets' guard Mookie Blaylock is from nearby Garland, Texas...

On 3/24/87 Mark Aguirre tied the Meadowlands record with 43 points...the Mavericks are 8-3 all-time on the road vs. NJ...Indiana (9-2), the Clippers (16-10) and Miami (4-1) are the only other teams against which Dallas is plus-.500 on the road...

Aguirre (43 on 3/24/87) and Otis Birdsong (37 on 11/28/81) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks swept the season series from the Knicks (2-0) in '90-91 for the first time since '86-87...on 11/6/90 in New York, the Mavericks came from 16 points down (49-33 with 2:05 to play in the second period) to win 96-91...Roy Tarpley paced Dallas in that win with 29 points and 10 rebounds...

Playing without Tarpley (suspended) and Rolando Blackman (sprained right ankle) the Mavericks defeated the Knicks 117-103 in Reunion on 1/19/90...In that game Brad Davis started in place of Blackman and scored a season-high 25 points...the Knicks entered that game with a record of 26-12 while Dallas entered 17-20...from that point on, the Knicks went 19-25 and the Mavericks 30-15...

In 1987-88 Roy Tarpley put up his best numbers vs. NY: a then-career high 29 points and a then-club record/career high 24 rebounds on 3/22/88...in two games vs. NY that season, Tarpley averaged 21.5 ppg and 19.0 rebounds...

On 1/13/87 in Madison Square Garden, Rolando Blackman scored a season-high 41 points — entering '91-92, that's his last game of 40-plus points...Charles Oakley's career 14.6 rebounds per game vs. the Mavericks is No. 1 on Dallas' all-time opponents list., in 41 lifetime games against Dallas, Kiki Vandeweghe — who was chosen on the first round by Dallas in the 1980 draft — has 893 points (21 ppg — 18th-highest average vs. Dallas)...Pat Ewing's 26.0 career ppg vs. Dallas is seventh on the all-time list...Ewing has also averaged 9.7 rebounds per game in his 11 career meetings vs. the Mavericks...last season Ewing averaged 27.5 ppg on .537 shooting with 8.5 rebounds against Dallas...

On 2/1/84, Bernard King set the Reunion scoring record with 50 points on 20-of-28 shooting...it was King's second-straight 50-point game and tied Adrian Dantley's 1980 Dallas opponent scoring record...Larry Bird matched that effort with a 50-point night in Reunion 3/10/86...on 1/16/81 in Reunion, Abdul Jeelani personally outscored the Knicks 21-20 in the fourth period of a 118-110 Dallas win...

King (50 on 2/1/84) and Blackman (41 on 1/13/87) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks lost the season series to the Magic in '90-91, 4-1...Dallas' lone win was a 111-99 decision on 11/7/90 in Dallas...in that game Roy Tarpley suffered a season-ending injury to his right knee with :27.5 to go in the first period...prior to the game, it was learned that Fat Lever had to have surgery on his right knee, which had been inflamed since training camp...the win over the Magic ran Dallas' record to 4-1, but from that point on the Mavericks would go 24-53...

Entering '91-92, the Mavericks have lost four-straight to Orlando — their fourth-longest active losing streak (Dallas has dropped six-straight to Chicago, five-straight to Phoenix and five-straight to Utah)...the Magic are one of just four teams the Mavericks have never gone to overtime against — also Charlotte, Utah and Washington...

Rolando Blackman averaged 26.2 ppg on .545 shooting last season vs. Orlando — his highest scoring average vs. any Western Conference opponent...the Magic, who played in the Central Division in 1989-90, moved to the Midwest in '90-91 before moving to their permanent home in the Atlantic Division for the '91-92 season...

Terry Catledge (30 on 11/13/90) and Rolando Blackman (36 on 11/13/90) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: In '90-91, the Mavericks and Sixers split the season series for the fourth-straight year...the Mavericks have now won three-straight and four-of-five in Philadelphia (prior to this, Dallas had lost each of its first five games in the Spectrum)...the Mavericks won in the Spectrum last season 97-92 on 3/6/91 (to run their season record to 3-1)...Philly has won three-straight in Reunion Arena, tying the Mavericks' longest active home losing streak to any opponent entering '91-92 (also Chicago and Utah)...

On 12/15/89 in Philly, the Mavericks trailed 88-85 with 2:38 to play, but scored the final 10 points of the game (five each by Rolando Blackman and Derek Harper) to win 95-88...on 1/5/90 in Reunion the Sixers won 104-79...in that game the Sixers scored 21-straight points (from 4:09 to play in the first period to 9:32 left in the second), the most consecutive points ever allowed by the Mavericks...

The Mavericks have won 6-of-10 the last five seasons vs. the 76ers after a 2-10 start in the all-time series...in Dallas' 121-103 home loss to the Sixers on 1/9/89, Derek Harper scored a then-career high 38 points, including 26 in the first half, while going 6-of-12 from three-point distance...

The Sixers are 7-4 all-time in Reunion Arena, making them just one of six teams — also Atlanta (6-5), Boston (8-3), Cleveland (6-5), Detroit (7-4) and the Lakers (19-7) — with winning records in Dallas.

Philly's 95-90 win on 12/19/87 in the Spectrum ended the Mavericks' 38-game winning streak when holding the opponents under 100 points...

Charles Barkley, who on 3/30/86 matched Edgar Jones' opponent rebound record with 25, has the fifth-highest career rebound average vs. Dallas of any player — 12.4 rpg...Barkley has also averaged 17.4 ppg in his 14 career meetings vs. the Mavericks...

Andrew Toney (36 on 12/29/82) and Mark Aguirre (club record/career high 49 on 1/28/85) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks and Kings split the season series last season (2-2), with each team winning both games on its homecourt...the Kings have now dropped 12-straight in Dallas, since winning in Reunion 127-120 in OT on 3/12/86...the Kings last win in Dallas in a regulation game is a 114-111 decision on 3/26/83...the Mavericks are 24-6 all-time vs. the Kings in Reunion, and 24-3 in Dallas since 1981-82...

In Sacramento's 113-104 win over Dallas on 4/9/91, Lionel Simmons scored a game-high 35 points — the most points ever scored by a rookie against the Mavericks...

On 6/26/90 the Mavericks acquired Sacramento forward Rodney McCray, the Kings' 1990 second-round draft choice (used to take Phil Henderson at the 49th pick) and Washington's second-round pick in the 1991 draft (Mike Iuzzolino) in exchange for Bill Wennington and the 14th and 18th picks in the 1990 draft (those picks turned out to be Travis Mays and Duane Causwell)...in 1989-90, McCray was voted by the Sacramento fans as the Kings MVP...

Sacramento Head Coach Dick Motta coached Dallas for its first seven NBA seasons...Motta compiled a record of 267-307 (.465) in Dallas before retiring on May 29, 1987...Motta's final team in Dallas was the 1986-87 club which went 55-27 and won the Midwest Division before being knocked out in the first-round of the playoffs (3-1) by the Seattle SuperSonics...

On 11/12/89 in Reunion, Dallas held the Kings to Mavericks opponent record lows 71 points, .311 shooting, 30 first-half points and 27 field goals as Dallas recorded its third-largest win ever, 111-71...

All-time the Mavericks are 35-25 vs. the Kings...Dallas enters '90-91 with more wins against Sacramento and the Clippers (35-17) than any other opponent...James Donaldson attended Luther Burbank H.S. in Sacramento...Dallas tied the NBA record it already shared (since broken) by making just four turnovers vs. the Kings on 11/26/86...

Simmons (35 on 4/9/91) and Rolando Blackman (career-high 46 on 3/12/86) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Spurs won the season series from the Mavericks last season (4-1) for first time since 1982-83 — breaking a club-record seven-straight seasons in which Dallas won the season series...Dallas' lone victory against the Spurs in '90-91 was a 96-94 decision in Reunion on 2/16/91 in which Rolando Blackman scored 14 of his season-high 37 points in the fourth period...prior to last season, the Mavericks had won 13-of-17 and 29-of-41 from San Antonio...

On 1/16/91 the Spurs downed Dallas 100-94 in San Antonio...that game started roughly two hours after the start of Operation Desert Storm...both Ch. 11 and WBAP Radio broadcasts of the game were canceled for coverage of the war...

The Mavericks dropped the first two meetings between the two clubs in '89-90 before winning the last three...two of those wins were of the come-from-behind variety, on 3/29/90 Dallas came from 16 points down to win at San Antonio, 109-105, and on 4/4/90 the Mavericks tied their biggest comeback ever by coming from 19 points down (46-27, 6:05 to play in the first half) to win 104-98 in Reunion...

San Antonio's 99-93 win in Dallas on 12/8/89 broke an 11-game Spurs losing streak in Dallas (the Spurs hadn't won in Reunion since a 120-116 decision on 12/5/85)...the Spurs' 97-90 win in San Antonio on 3/11/89 broke a nine-game Dallas win streak in the series...

Dallas' 126-82 win vs. San Antonio on 1/27/89 in Reunion tied as the Mavericks' second-largest margin of victory in their history...

The Mavericks won their charter season opener, 103-92 vs. SA on 10/11/80 behind Winford Boynes' 21 points...

SERIES NOTES: In '90-91, for the third-straight season, the Mavericks and Sonics split the season series (2-2), with each team winning both games played on its homecourt...

On 11/17/89 in Dallas, the Sonics handed the Mavericks their second-worst defeat in club history, 117-70...the 70 points rank as the second-fewest in club history...that loss dropped Dallas' record to 5-6 and was John MacLeod's final game as Mavericks coach...

The Sonics' 130-95 win in Seattle on 1/12/89 ties as Dallas' third-largest loss of all-time (also 133-98 at Denver on 10/15/80)...

In April 1987 the Sonics stunned the Mavericks in the first round of the playoffs, winning the series 3-1...Dallas set 11 club postseason records in the Game 1 151-129 win and led by as much as 38 points in the game...that was the seventh-straight win over Seattle dating to April '86...the Mavericks swept the Sonics in the regular season by an average of 128.8 to 110.2 and had won four-straight in Seattle before going to Hec Edmundson Pavilion at UW for the playoffs...it was the first time a No. 7 seed ever knocked off the No. 2 team...

Dallas was 1-4 vs. Seattle in '83-84, then bounced the Sonics from the first round of the playoffs 3-2 in a wild series...the Mavericks' first-ever road win was a 107-102 victory in the Kingdome on 10/22/80 — Dallas then lost eight-straight before winning Game 4 of the '84 playoffs there...the Mavericks are 6-4 in the Seattle Coliseum...they also lost Game 3 of the '84 playoff series there, 104-94...

Randy White averaged 12.8 ppg on .500 shooting vs. Seattle last season, including a career-high 24 points on 11-of-17 shooting in Dallas' 117-112 win on Jan. 29...

Ricky Pierce is a native of nearby Garland, Texas...Eddie Johnson played with Derek Harper at Illinois...Johnson — who, while a member of the Suns, scored 37 points off the bench to lead the Suns to a 111-103 win on Phoenix on 11/9/88 — has accounted for three of the 14 all-time 30-plus point games off the bench against the Mavericks...Pierce also has one of those 14 games (33 pts at Milwaukee 2/22/90)...

Gus Williams (38 twice) and Mark Aguirre (39 on 2/29/84) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Jazz swept the Mavericks (5-0) last season — the first time the Jazz have ever swept Dallas and the first time the Mavericks have been swept by a Midwest Division foe since '80-81 (when Houston and Kansas City both swept Dallas 6-0)...

Utah has won three-straight in Dallas, tying Chicago and Philadelphia for the longest active winning streaks by an opponent in Reunion Arena...

In 63 all-time meetings, Dallas and Utah have never played an overtime game...

In 1989-90, the Jazz won three-of-four meetings with the Mavericks...the lone Dallas victory was a 97-96 win in Reunion Arena on 4/17/90 (the Mavericks led by as many as 21 points in that game)...that Mavericks win helped allow San Antonio to pass Utah and win the Midwest Division title...

In 1988-89, Dallas won the season series from Utah, 4-2, and was the only team in the NBA to register two wins in the Salt Palace, where the Jazz finished 34-7...entering '91-92 Dallas has dropped five-straight in Utah since those two wins...Utah's 95-80 win in Dallas on 4/4/89 snapped a 10-game Mavericks win streak at home vs. the Jazz...

John Stockton's 10.5 career assist average vs. Dallas is third on the all-time list...Karl Malone has averaged 23.7 ppg in 32 all-time games vs. Dallas...last season Malone averaged 31.4 ppg on .553 shooting with 12.6 rebounds vs. Dallas...

Adrian Dantley (shares opponent record with 50 points on 10/31/80) and Mark Aguirre (41 on 1/11/84) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks swept the Bullets (2-0) for the first time ever last season...that means Boston is the only remaining Eastern Conference team the Mavericks have yet to sweep...Dallas and Washington had split the season series each of the previous six seasons...

In Dallas' 129-105 win over the Bullets on 1/23/90 in Reunion, the Mavericks scored 45 first period points and shot .826 from the field for the period...the Bullets are one of just four teams the Mavericks have never gone into OT against — also Charlotte, Orlando and Utah...

As a member of Denver last season, Michael Adams averaged 31.7 ppg on .431 shooting in three games against Dallas...

On 2/25/89 at Reunion, Dallas registered its seventh-largest win in club history, a 127-93 victory over the Bullets...in that game, Adrian Dantley — playing his second game with Dallas — came off the bench to score 32 points (on 11-of-14 shooting) in 29 minutes...as a Knick, Bernard King set the Reunion Arena record (later tied by Larry Bird) with 50 points on 2/1/84...

Jeff Ruland (35 on 12/7/83) and Mark Aguirre (45 on 2/22/85) hold the series scoring records.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

1. Sixteen teams qualify for the playoffs: Eight teams from each conference, consisting of the two division champions and the six other teams in each conference with the best winning percentage during the regular season.

2. The first round of the playoffs shall be a best-of-five series with all succeeding rounds, including the NBA World Championship Series, being best-of-seven. All teams will participate in the first round; byes that formerly went to division winners have been eliminated.

Following are the playoff pairings:

Note: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the better record, Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

NBA PLAYOFF TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURE

Two-Way Tie

In order to break a tie for playoff positions, if one exists at the close of the regular season, the following criteria will be utilized in the order set forth:

1. Results of games against each other.
2. Better winning percentage within own conference.
3. Better winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in the same division).
4. Better winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference.
5. Point differential in games against each other.
6. Better point differential between offense and defense.

More Than Two Teams Tied

1. Best cumulative winning percentage in total games involving all teams tied.
2. Best winning percentage within own conference.
3. Best winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in same division).
4. Best winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference.
5. Best point differential between offense and defense.

If a multiple team tie is reduced to a two-team tie at any point using the above criteria, the two-team tie will be resolved in accordance with the existing two-team tie procedure.

OFFICIAL NBA COURT DIAGRAM

College Capsule: In 1989 was named to the Big Eight All-Decade team for the 1980s, joining Danny Manning, Wayman Tisdale, Steve Stipanovich and Jeff Grayer...averaged 15.2 ppg and shot .517 for his KSU career...first team all-America as a senior (15 ppg)...in NCAAs, hit game-winner in KSU's 50-48 second-round elimination of top-rated Oregon State...that shot made the cover of Sports Illustrated and Blackman says he has copies "all over the house"...three-time Big Eight defensive player of the year.

Personal Capsule: Ro's wife, Tamara, gave birth to their fourth child and first boy, Vernell, on May 6..."I'm hoping he'll be a 6-10 point guard," said the proud father. "I'm already telling him, 'You want to bring the ball, not have to run around like your dad, waiting for someone to pass it to you.' "...in each of the last two years Blackman has arranged for Nazareth High School in Brooklyn (where Blackman's mentor and high school coach Ted Gustus now coaches) and Dallas Lincoln High School to travel to each other's cities for games over Christmas break...is a vice-president of the NBA Players Association and is the Mavericks captain...Blackman, who has post-career broadcasting aspirations, did some reporting and on-air work at Dallas public television station KERA in the summer of '90...worked as an intern at WFAA-TV (Ch. 8/ABC) during the summer of '88...would eventually like to become a news anchor, a goal which developed when his grandmother made him listen to Walter Cronkite and David Brinkley, hoping Blackman would learn the importance of speaking well...favorite news personalities are Peter Jennings, Bryant Gumbel and Ahmad Rashad...took up scuba diving in the summer of '89...says actor Denzel Washington would be a good choice for the lead in a movie about Blackman's life...calls his wife Tamara "the MVP of our household," adding, "We want to give our kids what we never had — stability"...when the Mavericks have a homestand, Blackman has been known to take a regular turn in his kids' carpool, but says he's generally pretty lazy around the house...Brooklyn's Ditmas Park, where Blackman learned to play, was re-named Rolando Blackman Park in the summer of '87...favorite movie is The Ten Commandments...The Cosby Show is favorite TV show...heavily involved in community work, especially fundraising for MDA...a native of Panama, Blackman was sworn in as a U.S. citizen on 5/19/86...member of the 1980 U.S. Olympic team...skilled tennis player...chose Kansas State because the campus greenery reminded him of his native Panama and provided a contrast to Brooklyn, where he was raised...moved to Brooklyn at age seven, where his sports interest switched from soccer to hoops...was a late bloomer, however, and was cut in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades...boyhood heroes were Walt Frazier and Bill Bradley...Ro, his wife Tamara and their children, Valarie (7/26/83), Brittany (1/16/85), Briana (4/26/89) and Vernell Antonio (5/6/91) are full-time Dallas residents...given name is Rolando Antonio Blackman.

Skonieczny, and played 22 rounds of golf in 14 days. "We flew all night," Davis recalls. "We landed at nine o'clock in the morning and we had a tee-time at 11. We got our luggage, got our rental car and drove straight to the golf course."...plans to stay involved in basketball in some capacity when playing days are over...majored in radio/TV/film at Maryland...avid card player...once had a tryout with the Pittsburgh Pirates as a second baseman...Texas Rangers season ticket holder, who, in the April edition of Dallas Mavericks Press, said the four division winners in baseball in 1991 would be the Rangers, Red Sox, Giants and Pirates (he predicted the Rangers would best the Bucs in six games)...interests include Civil War history, Joseph Wambaugh police novels, Bogart movies and country & western music...says if he could be any movie character, he would be Rick Blaine (Humphrey Bogart) from Casablanca...Derek Harper says Davis is the hardest working player in the NBA...older brother Mickey played five years for the Milwaukee Bucks and younger brother Scott played at Wake Forest...wife Michele is a former rock music contract writer who once managed Tina Turner...he and Michele reside in Arlington with son Michael (5/11/84) and daughter Erin (3/1/82)...given name is Bradley Ernest Davis.

College Capsule: Was second team all-Pac 10 as a senior (11.3 ppg, 10.8 rpg)...averaged 12.6 ppg and 11.3 rpg as a junior after totalling 31 games his first two years...Cal was only other school to offer a scholarship.

Personal Capsule: Opened the 1990 training camp by running a 5:44 mile...in the summer of '90 Donaldson purchased a pro baseball team in Sydney, Australia. In his first act as owner, Donaldson changed the name of the team from the Metros to the Wave and switched the team colors to Mavericks blue and green. "With me it's always something," said Donaldson, who's actually not much of a baseball fan. "It's more an investment than anything, but I'll keep an eye on them." Donaldson, who owns 70 percent of the team, promises to "be basically an absentee owner."...Eligibles, a local magazine for singles, is another of Donaldson's investments...he opened The Donaldson Clinic, a sports medicine/physical therapy facility in suburban Seattle two years ago...last summer took physics and algebra in summer school at the University of Washington — is working on a master's degree in physical therapy...worked at his clinic about four hours a day over the summer...Donaldson, who is committed to eating healthy foods, does a lot of his own cooking and baking...Tae Kwon Do is a regular part of Donaldson's year-round conditioning program...holds a sociology degree from Washington State...is learning to play the saxophone...says Sidney Poitier would be his choice for the lead role in "The James Donaldson Story"...owns two golden retriever mixes, Jazzy and Rico, and is very active with animal rights groups...was born in England while his father was stationed there in the Air Force...high school coach, Chuck Calhoun was attracted by Donaldson's height (6-9 1/2 at age 16), but had to persuade the reluctant and unathletic Donaldson to try out...at first, Calhoun recalls, Donaldson "could not reach over and take a dime off the floor without falling over"...once held a shoplifter outside a Seattle grocery store until the police arrived...very generous with his time, JD often speaks to kids groups...lives in Seattle in the offseason...single...left-handed...wears a size 18 shoe, the biggest on the team...given name is James Lee Donaldson III.

it...despite his defensive aggressiveness, has fouled out of just seven games in eight years...was dubiously thrust into the national spotlight on 5/6/84 in Game Four of the conference semis vs. the Lakers...Harper mistakenly thought Dallas was ahead 109-108 when it was actually 108-all...he dribbled out the last 0:06 of the game and the Lakers went on to win in OT, 122-115...Harper showed great maturity the way he handled himself with reporters after the game and it was almost exactly two years later when he beat the Lakers in Game Three of the 1986 conference semis with the late three-pointers.

College Capsule: Averaged 15.4 ppg in his final season and 10.9 ppg for his career...declared for the draft after his junior year...led the Illini to a 60-30 three-year record...second-team all-America as a junior...made a school record 19-straight field goals in 1982-83...led the Big Ten in steals and assists as a sophomore and in steals as a junior.

Personal Capsule: Harper says that among the Mavericks "I think I'm still the guy that they'll (the opposing fans) pick on. I'm always jumping around and talking and pumping guys up until a lot of times I hear the fans jumping me and telling me to sit down. But if you can get the extra edge by being excited about what's going on, you have to do that."...a fan of Jazz saxophonist Kirk Whalum, Harper says he'd like to learn to play the sax...big fan of the soaps, particularly One Life To Live...regarded a Mavericks "clothes horse"...says Richie Adubato is a good dresser, but could improve by "just changing his socks to white socks. White dress socks."...says he's patterned his game after Walt Frazier, his childhood hero...favorite food is pasta...an Eddie Murphy fan, Trading Places is Harper's favorite movie...says, though, if he could be any movie character it would be Dirty Harry because of "the way he gets things done"...he, Sheila, son Darius (12/3/84) and daughters Danielle (10/14/86) and Dana (8/24/90) divide their offseason between Dallas and West Palm Beach, Fla...says when his playing days are over he'd like to work with kids in a rec center...given name is Derek Ricardo Harper.

...Lever's 734 rebounds in 1989-90 are the sixth-most by a guard in NBA history...only Oscar Robertson, Tom Gola and Magic Johnson have ever grabbed more rebounds in a single season from the guard position...Lever's 729 boards in '86-87 rank seventh on the list...ranked among the NBA's Top 10 in assists from 1986-87 through 1988-89 (averaging 7.8 assists in that span)...has been among the league steals leaders in seven of his nine seasons (missing the Top 10 in 1983-84 and last season)...named all-defensive second team in 1986-87...prior to last season, had more steals than turnovers in four-straight seasons and six times in eight years.

College Capsule: Named Arizona State's MVP and best defensive player as a senior in 1981-82 after leading the Sun Devils in scoring (16.3 ppg), assists (3.9) and steals (2.81)...on 2/20/82 vs. Arizona scored a school record 38 points with 13 rebounds, six assists and seven steals—a performance described by longtime ASU coach Ned Wulk as "the greatest in the history of ASU basketball."...all five Sun Devils starters in 1979-80 went on to play in the NBA: Lever, Byron Scott, Kurt Nimphius, Sam Williams and Alton Lister.

Personal Capsule: Nicknamed "Fat" by his younger brother who found the abbreviated version of Lafayette easier to pronounce...owns a Denver restaurant with former Broncos cornerback Mike Harden...is also a partner in a Denver mobile telephone company...the gym at Tucson Pueblo H.S., where Lever starred, has been renamed in Lever's honor...joins Rolando Blackman as a vice president in the NBA Players Association...likes suspense movies and comedies, "not the scary stuff"...Rodney Dangerfield and Richard Pryor are Lever's favorite comedians...met his wife Charlene while at Arizona State...the couple has three children: Elyse (7/29/84), Garrett (8/24/88) and Marcus (4/13/90)...they—along with pet rottweiler, Topaz—make Phoenix their offseason home...given name is Lafayette Lever.

"Rodney can get everyone laughing with just one word."...McCray says his favorite Christmas show is How the Grinch Stole Christmas...older brother Scooter, who played 77 games with Seattle and Cleveland from 1984-87, is an assistant coach at Louisville...in addition to the McCrays, Mt. Vernon (N.Y.) H.S., which is located about 15 miles from Madison Square Garden, also produced former NBA players Gus and Ray Williams, Earl Tatum and Lowes Moore...as a senior led Mt. Vernon to a 27-2 record and the New York State Public School title...five-year-old daughter Apryl died on 6/11/87 of brain cancer...married the former Judy Stuart on July 21, 1990 in Houston...in the offseason the McCrays reside in Sugarland, Texas, a suburb of Houston...given name is Rodney Earl McCray.

MAKING THE DRIVE TO THE 21st CENTURY

AT FINA, we're using new ideas and technologies to create a new era in automotive performance. Those ideas have led us to an IMPROVED kind of gasoline called GENESIS. Genesis increases your gas mileage in a few tankfuls and reduces harmful EMISSIONS to the environment. It even eliminates harmful deposits on intake valves and fuel injectors, giving older cars the POWER they once had while keeping the exotic fuel systems of newer cars CLEAN and efficient. So let's make the drive to the next century together. Genesis GASOLINES from FINA. The formula for the future.
